We had a time . . .

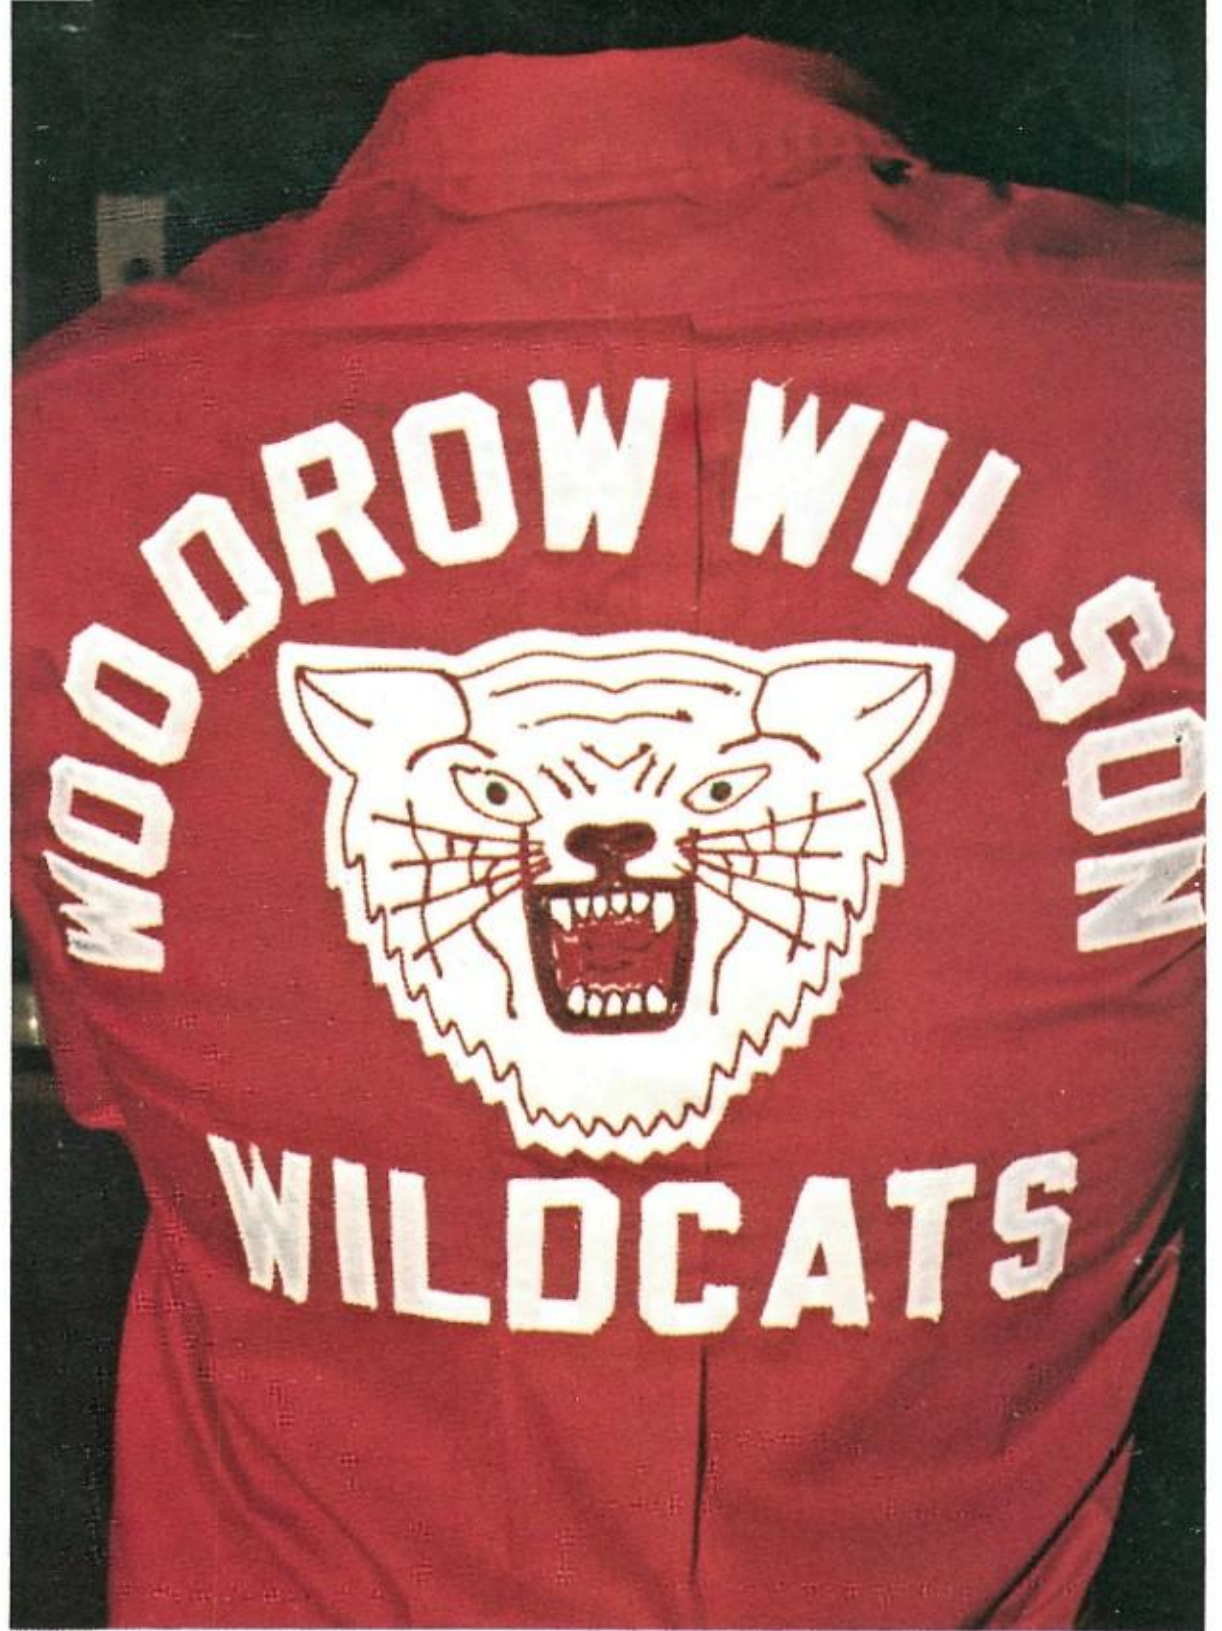

Chuck,
 "What a time
 it has been." (and weren't they great) I've had a lot of great times and I'll never forget them. I must add you are a part of them. Behave this summer and if you can't behave have fun. I'm looking forward to seeing you later.
 Love ya,

searching . . .*

Chuck,
I have enjoyed having you in class. It really was a pleasure
Somehow, with all the trials and tribulations, we finished the year.
knowing such a fine
young man. Best wishes,
Mr. Hallerwick

. . . a time of changing . . .

chuck,

I am so glad that we had this Chemistry class together this year or we might not have ever met each other. I want to wish you lots of luck next year and your Senior year. I hope that our friendship will continue. May God always bless you in all that you do.

Administrators Share Concerns of District

The Dallas Board of Education and the superintendent's staff of Dallas Independent School District are making plans to participate in the Nations bicentennial celebration in 1976. These include the presentation of an authentic museum of educational history and a display of education artifacts.

October 16 of this year was a historic date for the DISD, when the first transmission of the Telecomputer Grid linked the DISD to other school districts. The network allows participating school districts to share information, and provide two-way communication between classrooms in two school districts.

The new High School Executive Assistants Program, consisting of 27 outstanding students, affords them the rare opportunity of working closely with top executives in various areas of Dallas business.

A volunteer program was instrumental in getting the "Reading is Fundamental" program started in Dallas and bringing noted speakers to the district to conduct workshops. School board members are working together on shared concerns, such as career education, staff development, and Individually Guided Education.

MR. WAYNE C. PIERCE
Principal of Woodrow Wilson High School

Pierce Stresses Community Involvement

"The New Reading Program is the most significant achievement so far this year and involves 160 students," stated Wayne C. Pierce. "I am happy about the new CVAE work program, expanding the career field."

A new goal this year is the management team consisting of the board of education, teachers, parents, and students all trying to provide a better relation with the community. The school is proud to see students excel and gain recognition for both themselves and the school. "My objective is to improve the academic standing of students," said Mr. Pierce.

Mr. Pierce completes this year, his fourth year as principal of Woodrow Wilson High School. As a former coach, he enjoys various sports. He attended Texas A & M University and received his Master of Education at East Texas State University. Mr. Pierce and his wife Jean have a son and two daughters.

Regalado, Fresh From "Santone," Likes W.W.

"Our goal is to make this year the best possible." Thus the new assistant principal Domingo Regalado expressed his hopes for Woodrow Wilson. He emphasized the importance of parent involvement at Woodrow and stressed the benefits of a greater business community participation.

Mr. Regalado's major duties are improving the attendance of students, and promoting the ESSA Bilingual Education Program. "I would like to see the attendance build up to 93% and an enrollment of 1,400 students," he said.

Mr. Regalado received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from Trinity University. He also did graduate study at St. Mary University, Southwest Texas State University, and University of Texas. He came to Dallas from Tafolla Jr. High School in San Antonio. Mr.

Regalado likes his first year in Dallas. He and his wife Maria have two children, Benjamin, 8, attending Dan D. Rogers elementary, and Daniel 4.

MR. DOMINGO REGALADO
Assistant Principal of W. W. High

The new Assistant Principal, Mr. Domingo Regalado, received a warm welcome from the Woodrow Wilson faculty.

Every morning, Mr. Pierce greets the faculty members and gives them special instructions for the day.

Three Years as Intern Completed by Haden

Adding to the effectiveness of the assistant principal, Mr. Joel Haden, an administrative intern, completed this year his final step in the Administrative Leadership Training Program conducted by the Dallas Independent School District. This program was instituted as a training ground for future administrative personnel. Mr. Haden has been at Woodrow three years.

A graduate of the University of Mississippi, Mr. Haden received his M.A. in Secondary Education at North Texas State University. He has a wife, Judy, and a son Joel.

Mr. Regalado, contrary to the impressions of many, has his happy moments.

One of the busiest persons on the entire faculty is Mr. Joel Haden, administrative intern, shown here assisting Shirley Fugitt in solving her problem.

Counselors Consider the Individual

"The major concern of the Woodrow Wilson counselors is the students. The door is always open to any student, no matter who he is," say Woodrow Wilson's three counselors.

These ladies Jacqueline Conlee, Mozelle Newton and Margaret Walker help with all kinds of problems, whether it be school or personal. According to Mrs. Walker, "We are here to assist our students in career choices that will serve to enrich their lives."

Students are encouraged to finish high school. The counselors try to guide those students into college who are truly college material and others into careers suited to their talents.

Miss Mary Ann Thomas as pupil personnel counselor aids all students in any problem that they may have. Also, any contrast that may exist between Miss Thomas and the other counselors is that Miss Thomas leans more to discipline, and the counselors toward academics. But they do work together, she says. For instance, Miss Thomas gave invaluable assistance to the education counselors this year in placing students in class situations that suited their interests and capabilities.

Mrs. Margaret Walker is giving helpful advice to an eager listener.

Mrs. Jacqueline Conlee stops Teodoro Bazan during passing period with a concerned look for his future plans.

A day of continuous changes in programs has tired Mrs. Helen Bland.

"That's really how it was, Miss Thomas," insists senior Keith Towell in defense of his excuse.

Office Staffs Capable

In the attendance office, there are a lot of things going on. The staff, Mary Ellis, Doris Erickson, and Gloria Foley, aided students by giving them admit cards and release permits. They also issued tardy cards, verified excuses and kept statistical records of all that happened during the year.

The principal's office is the headquarters for everyone. The ladies giving assistance there, are Robynetta Oefinger, Elaine Greer, and Dorothy Davis. Mrs. Greer handles the money matters. Mrs. Davis handles the mail and all duplicating work along with phone calls. Mrs. Oefinger is the proverbial "Girl Friday," not only for Principal Pierce, but for every person in school, including students. In the adjoining office, Mrs. Betty Jones gives commands

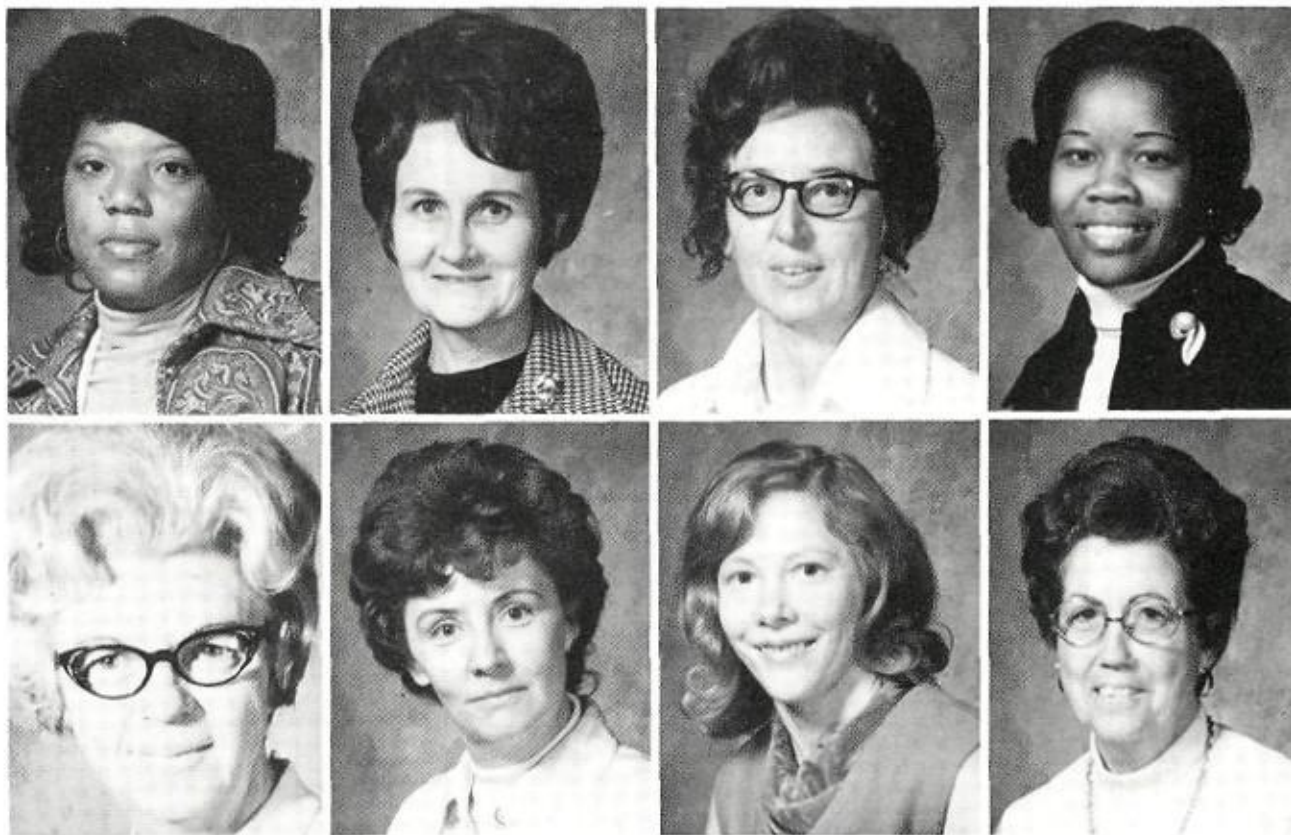

Mrs. Robynetta Oefinger, building secretary, can answer almost any question one might ask about Woodrow Wilson High.

CLINIC AIDES: Rhonda King, Sheree Nichols, Ann Scott, Vickie McMahan, Cheryl Pick, Mrs. Tudy Matsick (Nurse), Deana Hicks, Camille Gilbert, and Shirley Cochran.

Mrs. Gloria Foley can tell an inquirer the classification of practically any student in school.

to the formidable data processing machines and takes from them the class rolls, program cards, report cards and other lists so necessary in a large school.

Woodrow's nurse, Mrs. "Tudy" Matsick served this year for the first time as full-fledged nurse, since last year she was considered a substitute for Mrs. Willie Mae Caldwell, who was ill. Mrs. Matsick came to Woodrow from New Jersey. She has several student helpers for keeping health records and comforting the sick students who come to the clinic.

Woodrow's Librarian Fourth in 46 Years

Woodrow Wilson High School has had no more than four librarians in its 46-year history. Mrs. Mary Brown, following Miss Mary Ann Dodd, this year to serve what she hopes will be a traditionally long tenure. Mrs. Brown graduated from Mesquite High School and attended Texas Women's University. She received her Bachelor of Library Science degree and is working on her Master's. She has taught at several elementary schools in Dallas and at Crozier Tech and Bryan Adams High Schools before coming to Woodrow.

The library assistants, Mrs. Irma McMichael and Mrs. Doris Pierce have the job of technical processing — which is the job of stamping and numbering the books and, after that, typing the catalog cards. They are also responsible for decorating the bulletin boards. The student assistants help by checking books in and out and running call slips.

Mrs. Irma McMichael questions the existence of a requested book.

The new librarian, Mrs. Mary Brown is deeply engrossed in organizing her catalog cards.

Hobbies Keep Teachers Busy

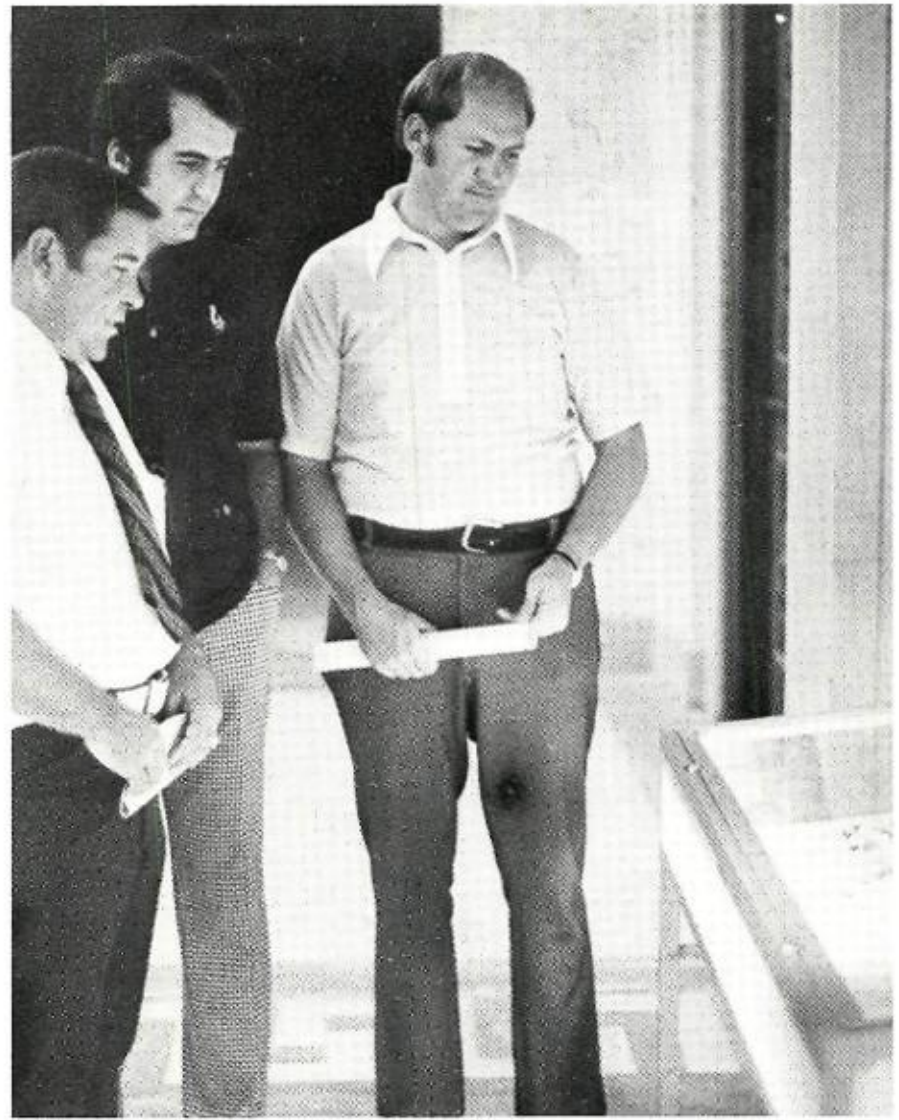

Woodrow Wilson teachers were involved in many extra-curricular activities, inside and outside of school. They participated in field trips to get an insight on new methods of teaching and acted as sponsors of various clubs.

Many teachers have special hobbies, varying from Mr. Dale Smith's interest in weightlifting to Mr. J. William Brown's antique math book collection. Involvement in civic and church duties, with their professional and hobby activities, made for a busy faculty.

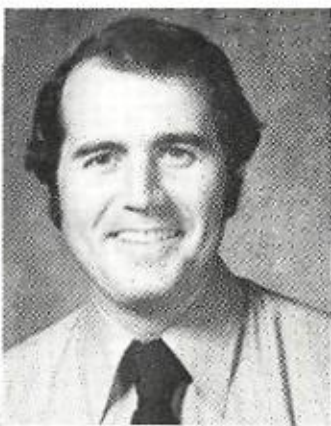

Who would know that these characters, dressed for an assembly program, are assistant Principal Domingo Regalado and Principal Wayne Pierce of Woodrow Wilson High School?

Could it be that Coach Ken Kimbrell, Coach Gary Collett, and Coach Alton Hill took this fieldtrip to the National Science Museum to learn some venomous tactics for football?

Language Arts Get New Stress at W.W.

Woodrow Wilson was chosen among 12 of the Dallas high schools by the Dallas Independent School District for the Reading Lab Program. Emphasizing reading skills and reading comprehension, the reading lab successfully helped students with their academic work. Teacher aides, college student tutors, and volunteers assisted Miss Judy Eppright, Mr. Robert Williams, Mrs. Barbara Hill, and Miss Ann McSpadden with the students in the laboratory. All materials, such as newspapers, magazines, paperbacks and all reading machines were available for the students' convenience.

Another new program at Woodrow was a class in "Mass Media" taught by Mrs. Martha Timm.

This course helps to prepare the student to become a discriminating consumer of mass media in the genre of the newspaper. A notebook was kept which included collection of clippings, assignments, written work, and editorial comments. Classes discussed the freedom of the press, and the responsibility of using good taste, that is, practicing ethical journalism.

A new experimental program, the Bilingual Research Project was funded by the Emergency School Aid Act to help non-English speakers whose native language is Spanish and to assist those students who have trouble with their foreign language (Spanish) course. Mrs. Mary Muñoz is the instructor aided by Mrs. Margaret Martinez.

The new class in mass media has plenty of the newspaper-type of media available. Busy with a morning assignment are Mike Partain, John Bartta, Alix Thayer, and Janet Green.

The new reading laboratory furnishes opportunities for practical accomplishments, such as reading the comics (Kenneth Mansfield) and preparing a grocery list (Ernestine Kirk).

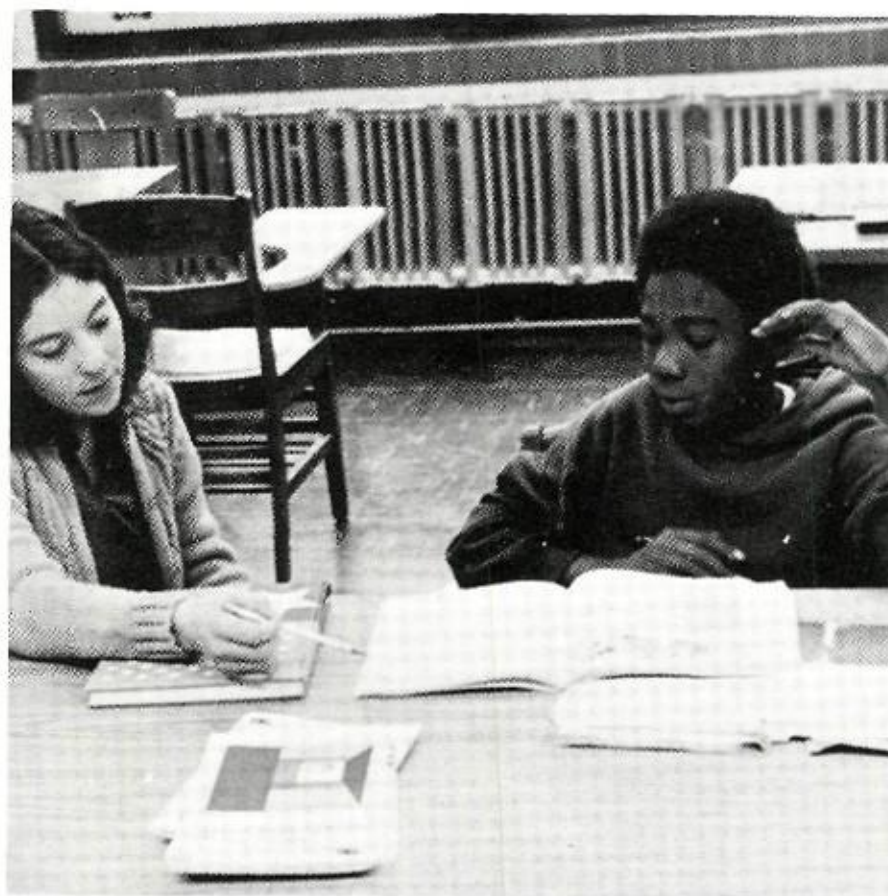

A scene from Oscar Wilde's "Importance of Being Earnest," furnishes the material for this skit in Mrs. Hills' English class. The actors are Ellery Lovelady, Jeff Fox, Patti Taylor, and Rita Flores.

Macbeth (Chuck Sturges) can not believe his eyes at the beauty of these witches in the "apparition scene." The sorceresses are Jennifer Younger, Margaret Beck, and Joy Prestwood.

In Mrs. Victors' sophomore English class, they study together. In this group, studying mythology, are Vickie Deweese, Sondra Griffin, Niki Stefanos, and Reba Gunter.

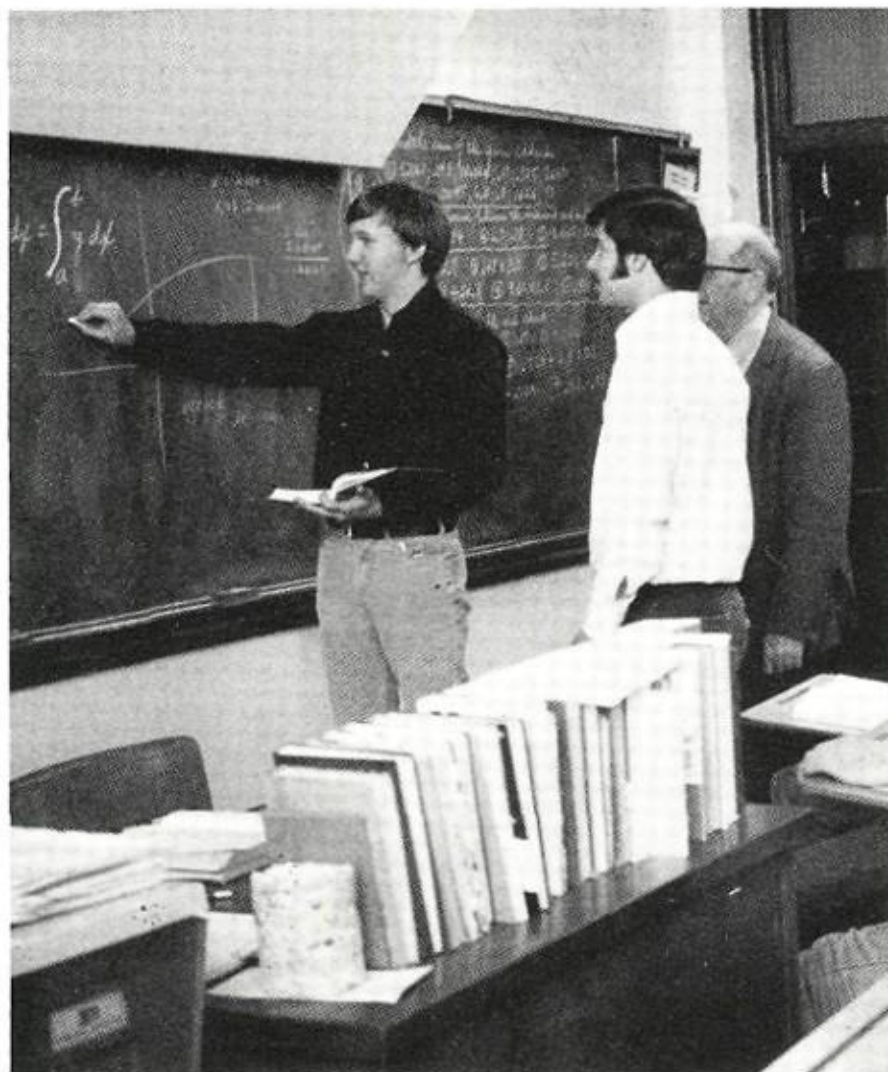

The Bilingual Research Project personnel stretches the rules a bit sometimes to help a non-Spanish speaker. Here Mrs. Margaret Martinez shows Curtis Williams the proper pronunciation of a word.

Metric Units Gauge Objects in Geometry

The metric system was installed in the geometry classes. Almost everything was measured according to this system. These classes learned how to measure their height in meters, weight in kilograms, gasoline in liters, and anything else they were curious enough to measure.

The Woodrow Wilson mathematics department, once staffed mostly by women, now has only one woman instructor, Mrs. Wilhelmina Blevins, and four men.

New career areas are constantly being opened up in which higher mathematics is necessary. The fundamental ideas which are being taught in high school give students a clearer grasp of mathematical logic; they are essential for college and are involved in almost any vocation, according to Mr. J. William Brown, department head.

Albert Haertlein explains some details of calculus to Steve Marinick under the supervision of Mr. J. William Brown.

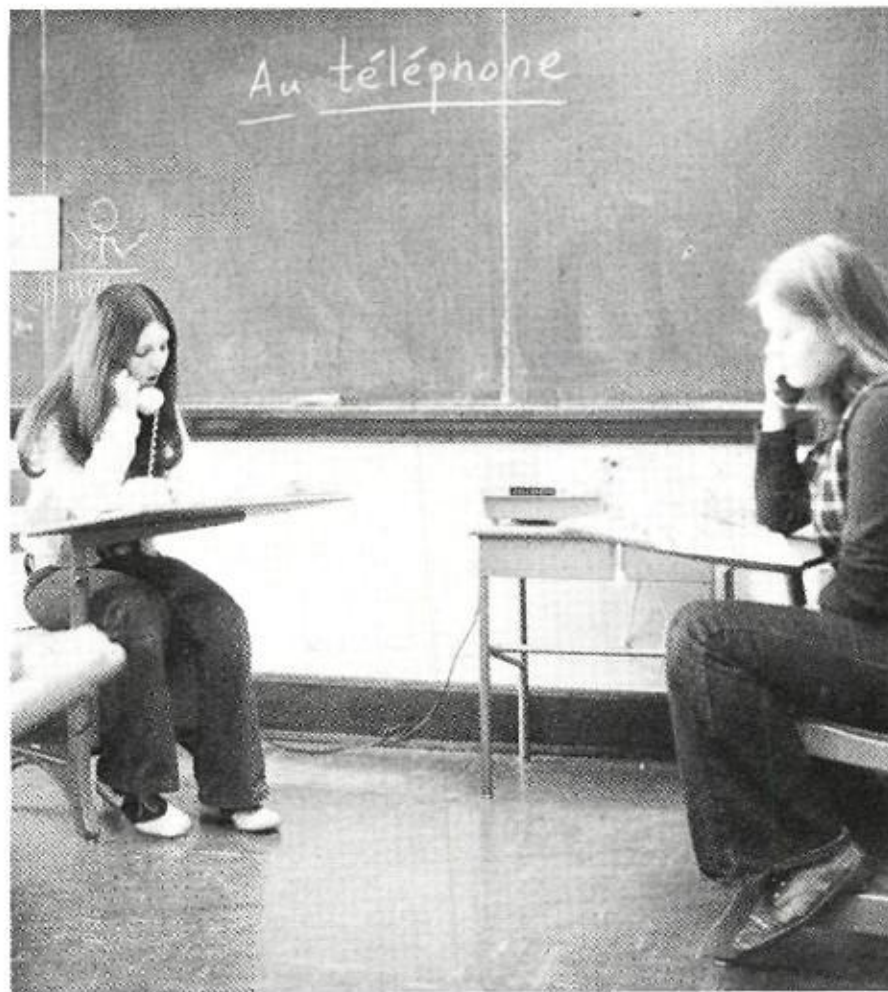

One of the many areas of advanced algebra are log graphs, where Joanne Xavier and Phaba Wall cooperate in solving a problem.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Blevins, using a wooden rectangle as a model, explains a geometry problem to Hazel Petros.

Mrs. Dunlap's class is doing a skit about Argentina while in a friendly group.

Cherry Brown and Lindie Taylor are giving a French skit involving the use of the telephone.

Adding atmosphere to the Latin Class, Joel Akin and D'Nese Parker put up a poster of Rome.

Repetition Wearies, Games Relax Foreign Language Students

Although repetition is sometimes tiring, foreign language students learned that communication in the target language necessitated much imitation of native speakers on tapes and also of the teacher. Games of different sorts were introduced to aid students in this repetition. For instance, Bingo was played to teach numbers, competitive team games in the languages sparked interest in communication. Cultural interludes, told entertainingly by the instructor or researched from the library, relieved the boredom of repetition. Participation in the Pan American Student Forum was encouraged in Spanish Classes. Performances of creative and non-original skits were included in both French and Spanish Classes. Latin classes were interested in reading and translating to English the exploits of the ancient Romans, learning to decline parts of speech, meanwhile.

Science Classes Rate Lab Over Homework

Teachers have turned to a new emphasis in the science department. Mrs. Daphrene Martin stressed the molecular side of biology by teaching the chemical make-up of molecules necessary for life. Students worked according to their abilities.

Mrs. Nova Evans geared her chemistry classes for laboratory work this year more than toward homework.

"The concepts taught in laboratory sessions are more effective because the teacher can better catch the errors of the student," said Mrs. Evans. The chemistry classes received a set of laboratory books, Investigating Matter, Energy, and Change.

The comet Kohutec in December and January caused most interest in physics classes. The students made careful observation of the comet, and the classes analyzed the effects and causes of comets. Following this, astronomy, and space travel and research became the chief interests during the second semester in physics.

Studying comets and other moving bodies, Steven Mann and Vernon Jackson demonstrate the principle of conservation of energy.

Safety glasses worn by John Frost, are necessary when dealing with acids, as in this bulb-leveling experiment in chemistry. Robert Nicol is risking a look without this protection.

Greg Harkins shows his physics classmates Hussein Ghafari, Irene Lopez, Robert Miller, Peter Spiros, and Jim Hankins how a heavenly body keeps in its orbit.

Classic expressions of revulsion show on faces of Ruth Cole and Lisa Hegler as they perform the classic biology experiment of dissecting the frog.

Richard Laurea is enjoying this titration experiment, but Garbo Wong fears it will explode.

Speakers, Field Trips

Buoy Social Studies

After having studied the United States constitution for some twelve weeks, Mr. Doyle Smith's Civics class made a close comparison of the American document with that of the Soviet Union. Students reported that such a study really gave them an appreciation of their country's laws. The Problems of Democracy class afforded a more personal approach to the problems of American government. City problems were studied first and research projects were done. Individuals wrote about what they believed were the major concerns and problems of our city. Some topics were: water pollution, juvenile delinquency, morality, city planning, energy crisis and the police department. The classes visited the jail to see how it is run. They also went to the courthouse to see actual cases being tried. One of the cases observed was an armed robbery case. Speakers before the class included lawyers, Suicide Prevention Group, Environmental Protection Agency, and speakers from the Police department, Consumer Control, and Juvenile Delinquent speakers.

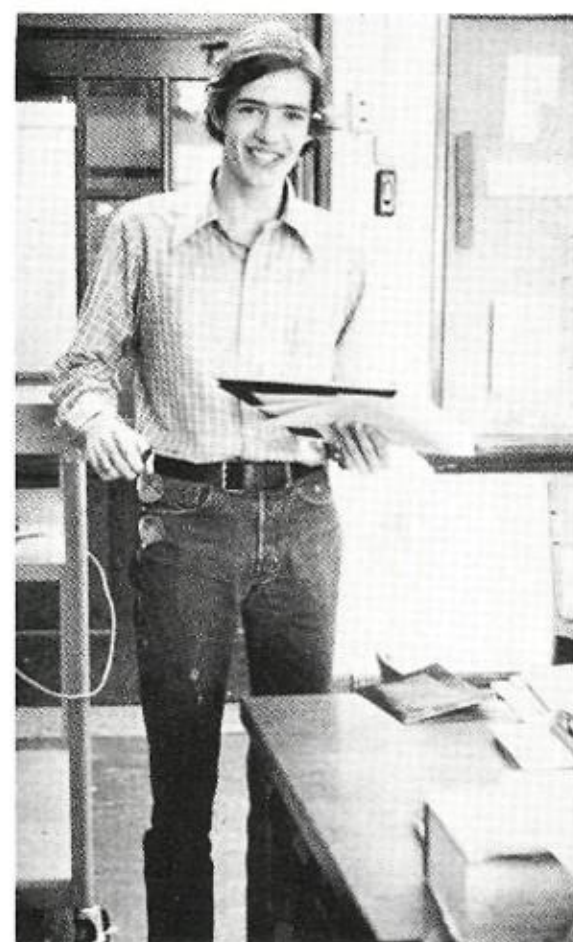

The American history classes studied the history of the country since the Revolutionary War. In the class of Coach Newhouse students assumed the duties of different governmental officials in order to get a better insight into the functions of such offices. In World history classes, students were acquainted with history of other parts in the world, and they developed an appreciation for other cultural, through various classroom activities, such as History Bingo. Texas history is not a required subject although many were enrolled this year.

After an exciting trip abroad, Superintendent Dr. Nolan Estes shows some of his slides he took in Russia to Mr. Bill Turner's Civics class.

Annette Parks, left, has asked the class a question about World War I, in this group report in Mrs. Bryant's American history class. Other members are Paul Snachez, John Brice, and Sharon Tevebaugh.

Allan Cook may be more conscious of the photographer's presence than of his report subject: Capital Punishment!

Drafting Students in Tough Competition

Mr. Bob Cargile taught three different kinds of drafting courses. First, there was general drafting, which contains the basic principles and teaches the care and use of equipment. Next, came technical drafting which is an advanced course in which the instruction includes electronic, aircraft, air conditioning, and machine-parts drafting. Finally, there was architectural drafting in which students learned to plan and draw residential construction and small businesses.

During the year the students entered two contests. The Texas State Drawing Contest for general and technical students, which is sponsored by Texas A. and M. University. The architectural class competed in the Young Designers Competition, sponsored by Dallas Home and Apartment Building Association. John Bradley and Bobby Frenzel were the most recent winners. Each tied for first place last year. Duplicate prizes were awarded.

No excuses for making non-parallel lines will be accepted from Chris Beach, working on a general drafting problem.

Technical drafting has its problems for Mark Turner, Robert Ikner, and Tommy May, which they bring to instructor Mr. Bob Cargile.

Electric Typewriters Give Class New Look

A veteran teacher of English visiting a typing classroom was astounded at the change in general appearance of the classroom. Old-fashioned manual typewriters were replaced by sleek, new electric models of all makes. Students were typing at speeds not possible to achieve at the same level a few years ago, and the absence of hand movements was remarkable.

Typing teachers expressed satisfaction at the availability of the electric machines, and they are already requisitioning for more next year.

Income tax preparation was stressed in bookkeeping classes during the second semester. Several bookkeeping students were placed in jobs involving accounting.

The shorthand students worked very hard at building up their dictation speed by listening to tapes which continued to increase their speed. They are studying to be the secretaries of the future.

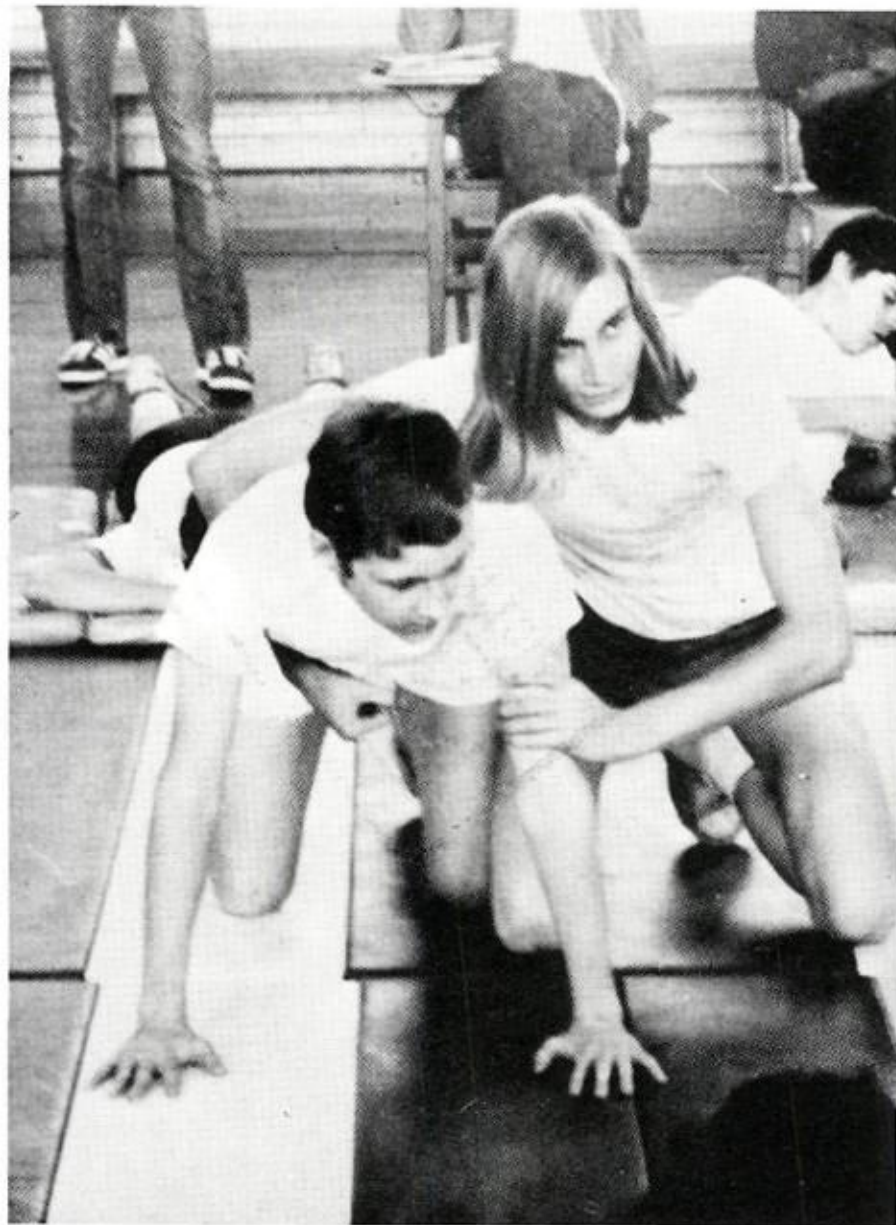

Beverly Brin and Nancy Hardwick learn how electric typewriters must be plugged in to work from Mrs. Verlene White.

One of the practical skills that Thester Campbell learns in bookkeeping is how to change the paper roll on an adding machine.

Taking dictation from a tape recorder makes things easy for Mrs. Lena Anderson's 6th period class and gives the students practical experience.

Albert Barham is given the advantage over Joe Sholden in this wrestling match as they await the signal to start, in Coach Zachary's gym class.

Through learning gymnastics, Nancy Hardwick is able to do a split, but must still be held in position by Karen Matney.

New Teacher for Boys; New Games for Girls

"There are many different ways to build up an individual's body," said Coach Lucious Newhouse, who is also a boys' gym class instructor. In P.E. the boys participated in group sports such as football, basketball, soccer, volleyball, softball, badminton, and tennis. Individually, the boys worked on weight lifting, gymnastics, wrestling, boxing, track-field events, and ping-pong.

The girls' gym classes have been able to enjoy three new activities this year: paddle tennis, archery, and parachuting. Traditional activities were basketball, volleyball, badminton, softball, tennis and gymnastics.

Mr., Ms. Homemakers

Feed, Clothe Others

This school year more boys than usual were interested in the field of homemaking. They learned to plan and prepare large and small meals, and one of their major projects was the preparation of the meal served at Woodrow to Superintendent Nolan Estes and high school Principals when they met here for a seminar. Instructor Mrs. Nancy Wilkenson complimented the young men on their success, even though she admitted that the course needs a few units on etiquette.

Homemaking students in clothing classes learned to master the art of cutting fabrics and designing clothing for the spring fashion show at Fair Park. It was in this class that Miss Lou Ann Hyde made dresses for her sister's wedding.

Homemaking courses are designed to assist young women and men in acquiring an understanding of growth and development as it relates to their role in the family and in other groups. Homemaking covers many fields in life.

Search as she may, Lou Ann Hyde can not find a flaw in the bridesmaid's dress she made. She also made the one she is wearing.

Many chefs in homemaking class make a good appearance. Ready to mix a batter, or something, are Marcus Young, David Oas, Jay Cozby, Dennis Wells, John Blagg, Cotton Tolnay, Kevin Byrd, Bill Shearin, Coroy Williams, Roy Williams and Roy Massey.

Cooperation is needed even in salad making. Here, Shirley Cochran hands the dressing to Mary Owens, while Yvonne Fugitt furnishes more ingredients; and Ella Targton keeps the used utensils spotless.

In speech class, Stuart Harstrom, Tami Winchester, Carolyn Pointer, Mimi Guarnero and Mike McQuiston try to see how good their senses of touch and smell really are.

During Larry Ireland's psychology class, he picks out a number and sees how many of his fellow classmates can guess the number he has.

Half-Unit Classes Fun

Drama, psychology and speech were the courses chosen the second semester by many seniors, who had completed a half-year course, as civics.

Psychology in the second year at Woodrow was offered to seniors only. It included the study of human behavior, and the student did special experiments in order to arrive at conclusions about how human beings act and react.

Relation of the body and mind was what the drama classes emphasized during the second semester. These classes also studied the history of the theaters and of dramatic characters. They also did exercises in sensitivity training to make them concentrate on their surroundings.

Actual drawing of perspectives and of people helps the beginning art students to be more aware of their surroundings, according to art instructor Mrs. Lollie Tompkins. Beginning art classes were introduced to materials and techniques in art. A point system of grading the students was used. Some projects done were block printing and natural and geometric design.

Advanced art classes dealt more with two-dimensional and three-dimensional art. Acrylic, hard-line, abstract, and realistic paintings were some types of two-dimensional projects. The three-dimensional art projects included pottery making — both wheel-throwing shapes and hand-form shapes, casting of silver and gold by the lost wax method, and sculpture. Print making, such as lithography, and silkscreen were used in art classes. "Major emphasis was on the basic elements of design, line form, color, space, and texture of a project. The goal in advanced art was to develop visual awareness and creative ability," the instructors said.

Pottery maker Kathy Edwards seems to be looking at a model for her jar.

Such deep concentration on a subject, as shown by Connie Hough and Brenda Sims is rare, except in an art class.

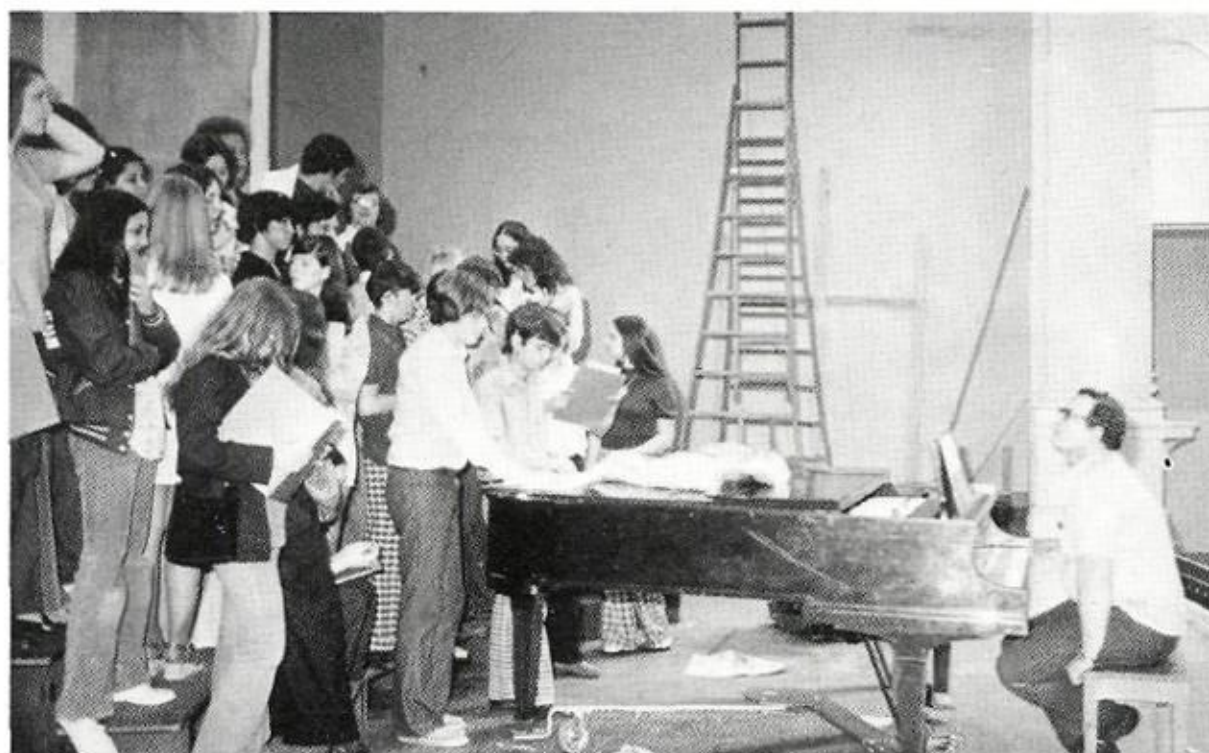

These Art students, Henry Morales, Jan Johnson, and Lisa Breeding are making cut-outs from a geometric figure to re-assemble into an original design.

Robert Flores furnishes the thunder on the drums, while Mark Ingham blows up a storm on his tuba during band practice.

Music Department Also "P.R."

Mr. McKinney hopes that the choir performance is not as disorganized as this practice.

Creating good public relations for Woodrow Wilson is one of the purposes of the Concert Choir. Each time the choir performs it is a living "ad" for W.W., according to director Jerry McKinney. They made numerous appearances before civic groups, the P.T.A., church groups and service clubs. Development of the individual in the choir both in the area of musicianship and personal discipline was one of the goals of the choir. Choir members participated in the University Interscholastic League, sight-reading, contest, and city clinic workshops. Leaders in the choir were developed through the musical and various programs during the school year.

Stagecraft classes aimed for the development of creativity and workmanship in both lighting and design concepts. Everything concerning stage arrangements was organized by the stagecraft classes.

The Wildcat band participated in two parades — the Elks Parade and the State Fair Opening Day Parade, under the new direction of Randy Garmon. Not only did the band participate in all the half-time shows during football season, but they also played for the P.T.A., and the Fowler Home for children and the elderly. Most of the contests were held during second semester. Two people competed for solo and ensemble contests: Robert Flores received first division rating of superior, and Anna Miles received second division rating of excellent.

Five Popular Co-Op Classes in Woodrow

Students in Health Occupations Career Training have a two year course. During a student's junior year, introductory medical work is taught. The students went on field trips to Baylor Hospital and the Health and Science Museum. Guest speakers came to help students decide on the area of which they wanted to work.

During the student's senior year, they work in hospitals, offices, and other health related jobs.

Vocational Office Education is in its ninth year at Woodrow, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Helen Feeley.

Vocational Office Education has supplied 28 students with jobs this year. This unique elective provided training for college-bound students as well as for those who will work full-time after graduation. Vocational Office Education introduces students to the contemporary business world enabling them to make a better vocational choice. The Vocational Office Education students attend school for a half day, then leave in the afternoon to work.

Students in Coordinated Vocational Academic Education

(CVAE) learn how to develop a single skill, and how to get along with people on jobs. Students can work on any job as long as it is a single skill. Students work in the afternoons on jobs like in grocery stores and as waiters and waitresses. Mr. Don Byars is the teacher of this course.

Students in Distributive Education must work for Wholesale, Retail, or Service businesses. Students work a half day in jobs in grocery stores, clothing stores, and many other stores. Becky Hardy went as a delegate to the area contest. Mark Evans was the delegate to the state convention. The Sales and Marketing Executives sponsor a banquet and give prizes for an outstanding student.

Industrial Cooperative Training is a course in which a student can work a half day for two years and earn graduation credit. Students work afternoons on jobs such as calculator repairing, electronics, and operating and repairing machinery. Mr. John Mitchell is the director of this program at Woodrow Wilson.

During health occupational career training, Terry Calloway learns to install blood pressure cuffs at Bristol Hospital.

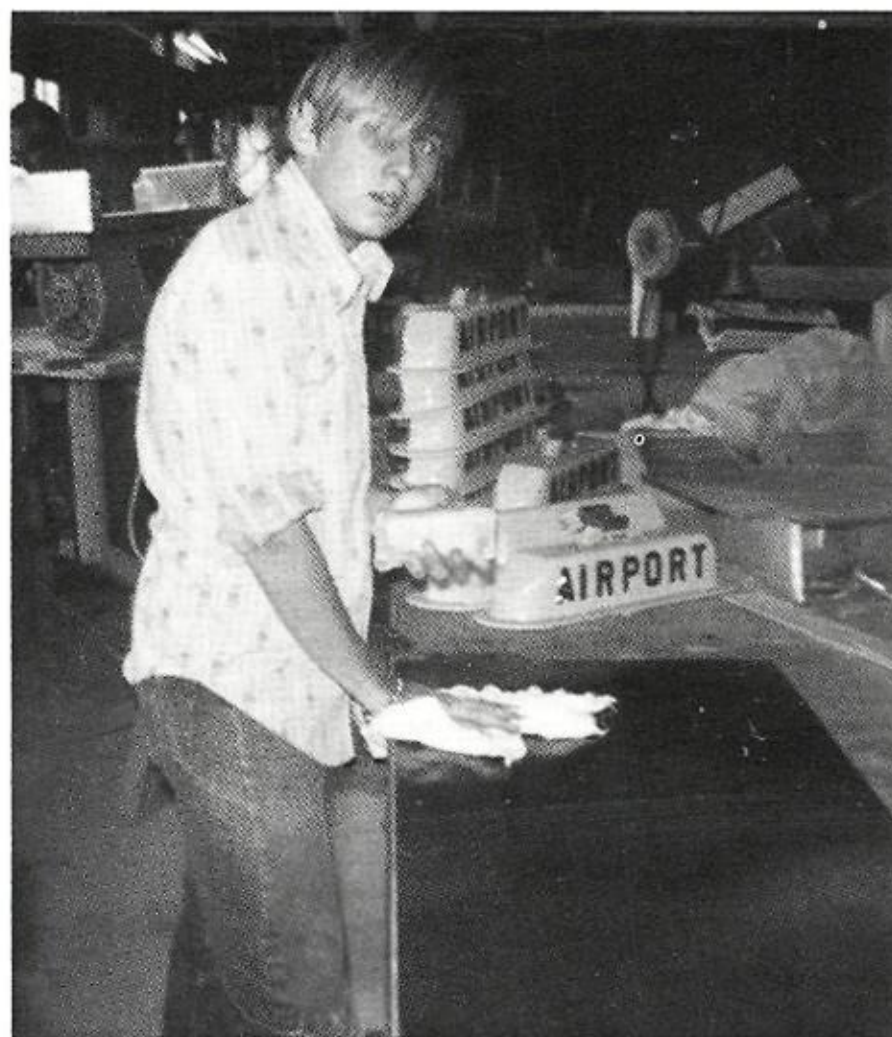

Calculator repairing is the trade Jim Pearson learns on his job in industrial cooperative training.

In distributive education, Danny Humphrey, and Donnie Miller test the firmness of tomatoes on their job at Minyard's grocery store.

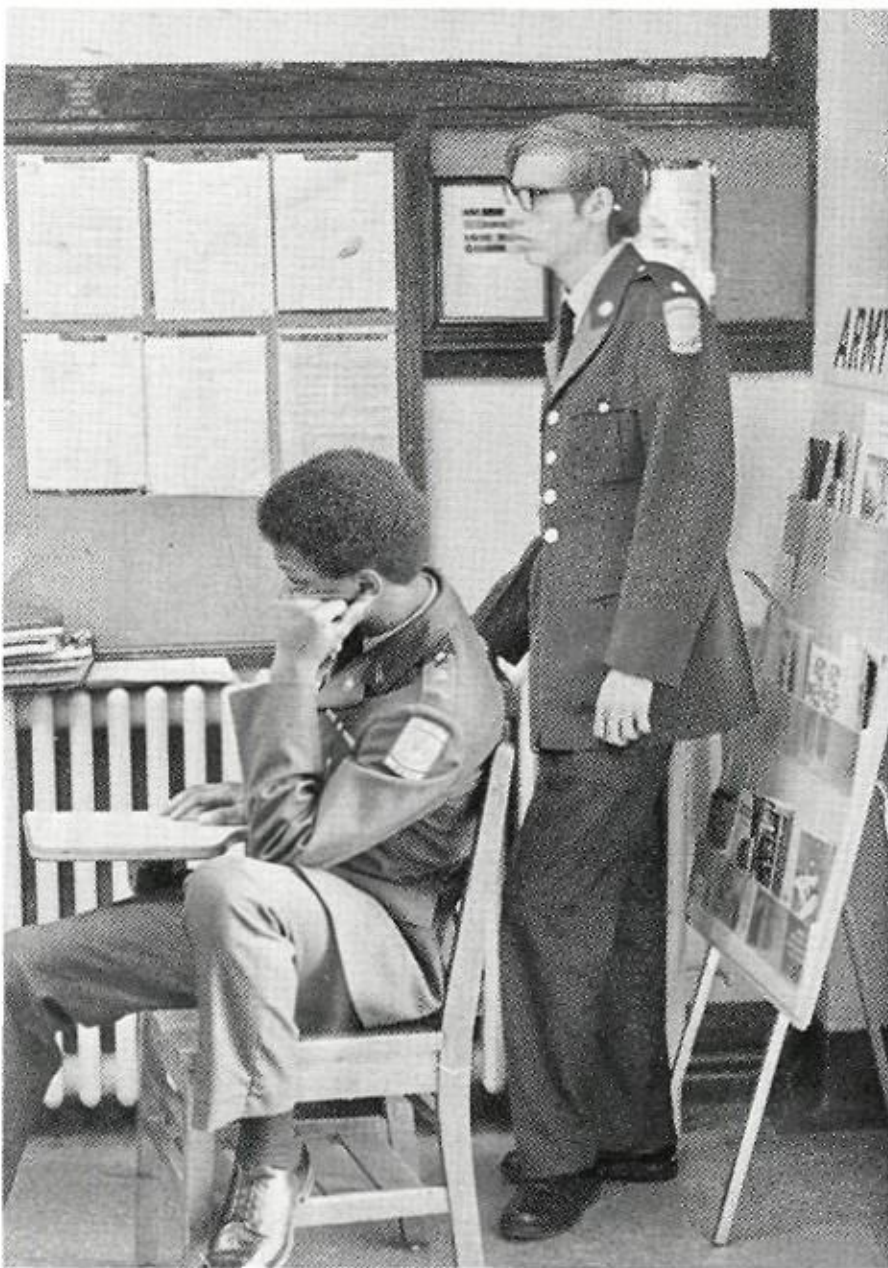

Filling and mailing envelopes is one of the many tasks Angela Greenwood performs at her job at Lakewood Bank.

These tables must be carefully polished, as is demonstrated by Lee Wheeling during his work in industrial cooperative training job.

R.O.T.C. Belongs in School, Says Sarge

"The J.R.O.T.C. program at Woodrow Wilson is conducted as an element essential to the success of the school whose education philosophy incorporates a belief that their responsibilities to the student, the community, and the nation makes this program a desirable instructional activity." In these words Sergeant Don Bacon expressed his own philosophy justifying the high school R.O.T.C. program. Sergeant Bacon believes that the J.R.O.T.C. program objectives are to develop in each cadet the desire to practice good citizenship and patriotism, self-reliance, and leadership. Also it helped to develop the ability to communicate effectively within the community. As a "sign off" of the program, learning of basic military skills and appreciation of the role of the U.S. Army in its support of national objectives is accomplished, said Sergeant Bacon.

Something important is going on at the front, and Floyd Rouwtt and James Davis are trying their best to understand it.

"Spit and polish!" "Button that shirt!" Lester L. Mcelyea, Roy Becerra, and Hebert Benavidez get ready for a sudden inspection.

Classroom instruction in R.O.T.C. includes movies on military tactics, which are narrated and explained by Sergeant Don Bacon.

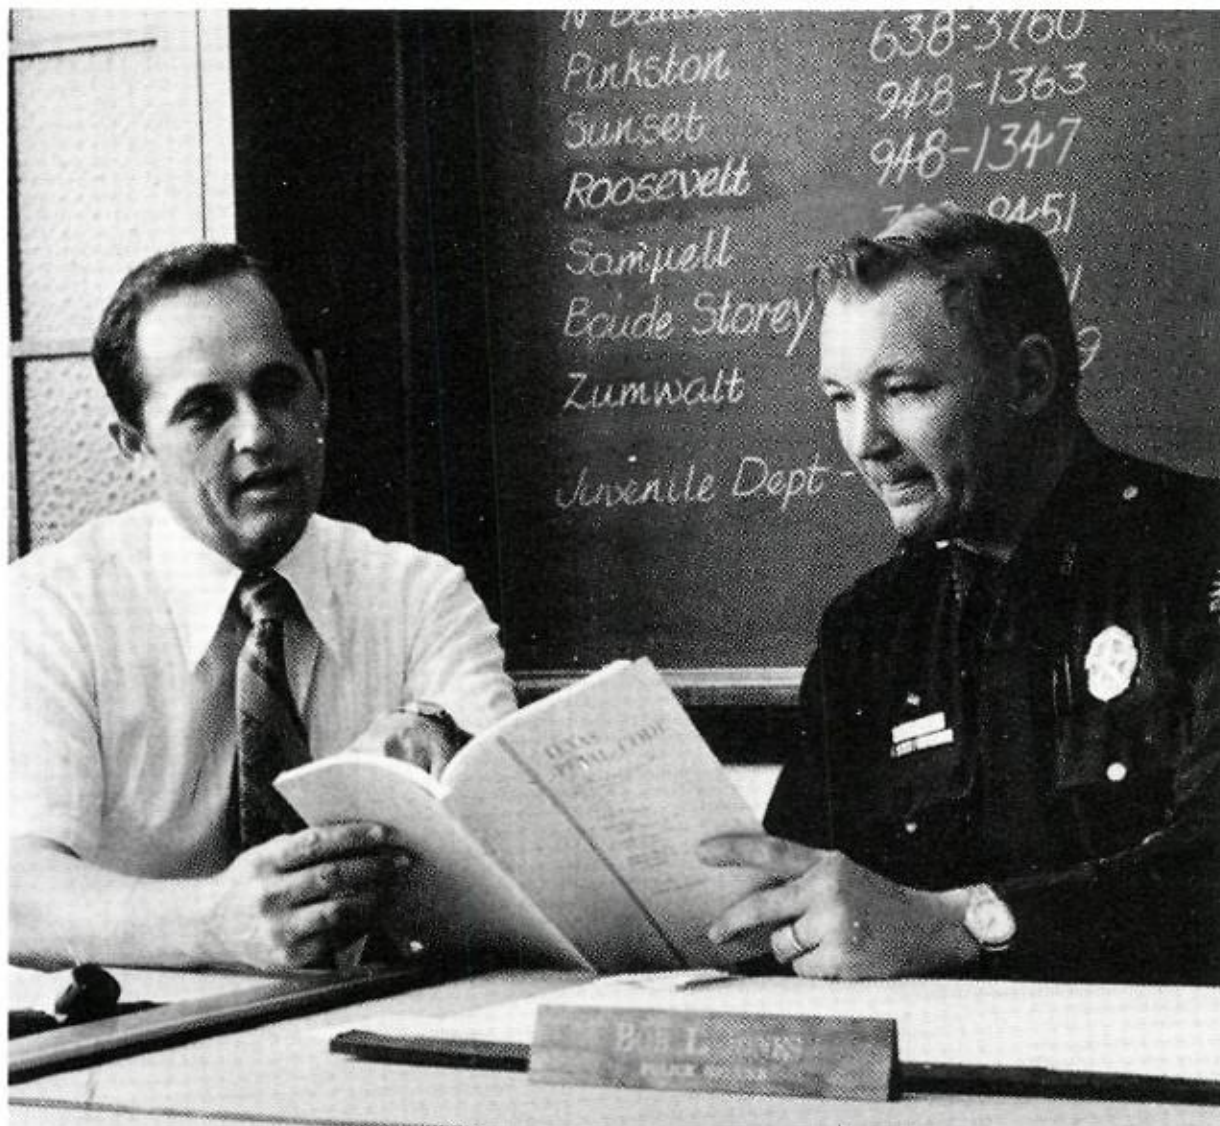

Action Center Helps Needy

These trained men and women handle problems with elementary and junior high school students in the Woodrow Wilson area. Lunchroom, Custodial Staffs Draw Praise

For many years the Woodrow Wilson kitchen has been the Test Kitchen of the Dallas Independent School District. Again this year products were tried out to ascertain the students reactions. If favorable, standard recipes were sent out. Staff members would arrive as early as 7:00 in the morning to begin preparing the lunch for the day.

The lunchroom staff had their picture taken this fall for the Food Management Magazine. It accompanied an article written about a workshop for training employees in quantity cooking.

Efforts of head custodian, Mr. Grady Power, and some other twelve custodians, have the 46-year old building looking remarkably ship-shape. A day crew and night crew all work together for a cleaner and brighter school.

Senior Assembly Is Climax of '73' Year

The Senior Assembly at Woodrow is always a "spectacle." Coming on Senior Day, it was the climax of "at school" activities. Mark Cason and Jimmy Golden were the masters of ceremonies for the 1973 graduates. Spotlighted at the assembly were the two foreign exchange students Giselle Marques and Cornelia Piwko. They said goodbye to their friends and left behind tokens of their appreciation to the school. Following Giselle and Cornelia came the entertainment. This consisted of the Senior skits, musical contributions and humor. Finally the assembly was ended with the presentation of the Senior Publication, a humor magazine, which was distributed to subscribers after the assembly.

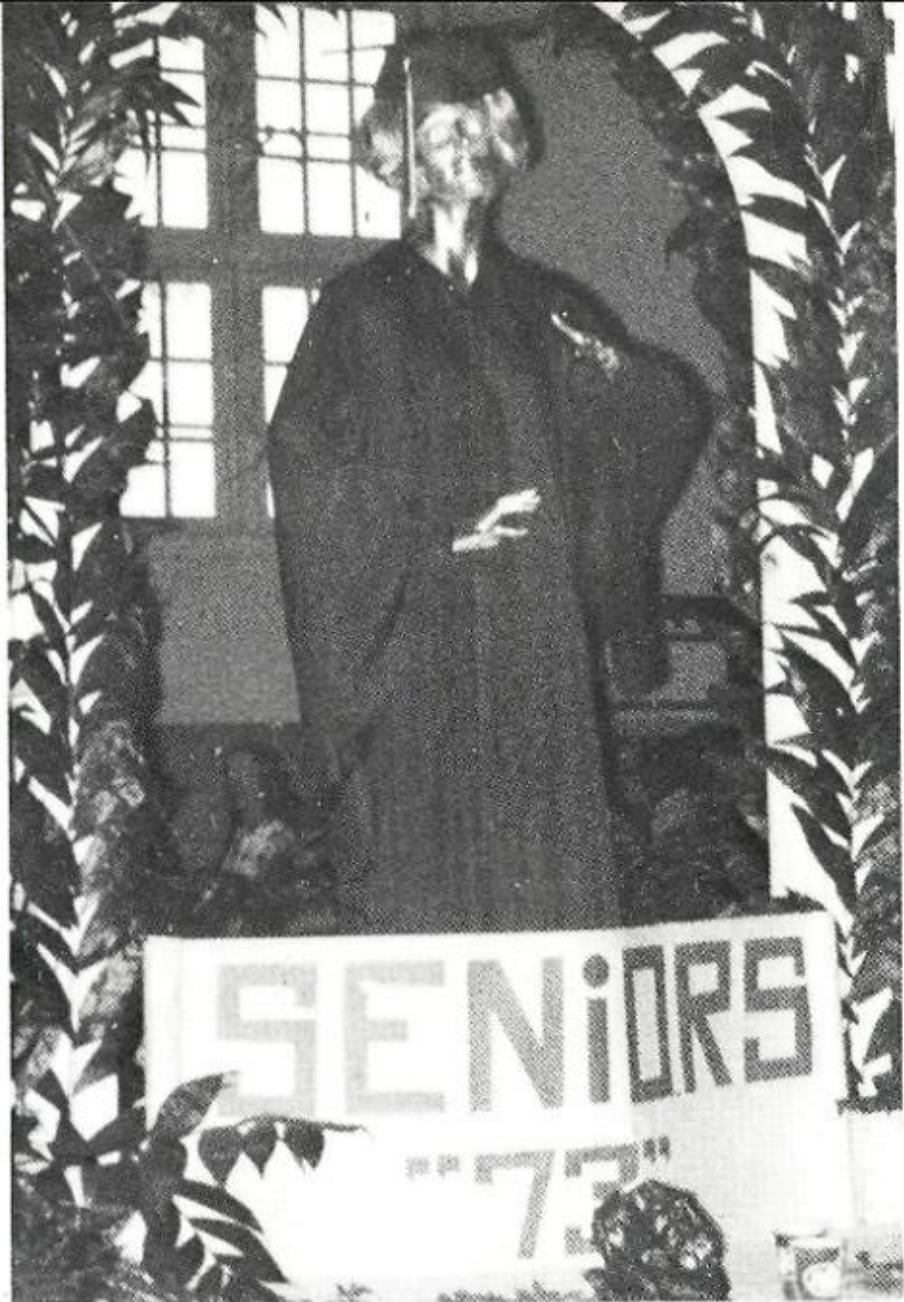

Rosalie Samano seems to be unhappy about losing her cap, while Nancy Stewart smiles about memories of her Senior year.

Senior Activities Leave Smiles and Memories

As the graduation class of '73 spent their last hours together, the Seniors were enjoying activities of all kinds. Among these was the Senior Prom. The prom is a tradition of Woodrow, usually falling on the Thursday night before Senior Day, and last year was held at Sheraton Dallas Hotel. As always, only Seniors and their dates were allowed in the doors of the prom.

Another activity in which all Seniors take part is graduation. Graduation, was once again held in the newly remodeled State Fair Music Hall, which has been a Woodrow tradition also. The commencement speaker was Mr. C. D. Thomas, Board of Education member. Also having speeches were the valedictorian, Doug Adams, and salutatorian, Lisa Taylor.

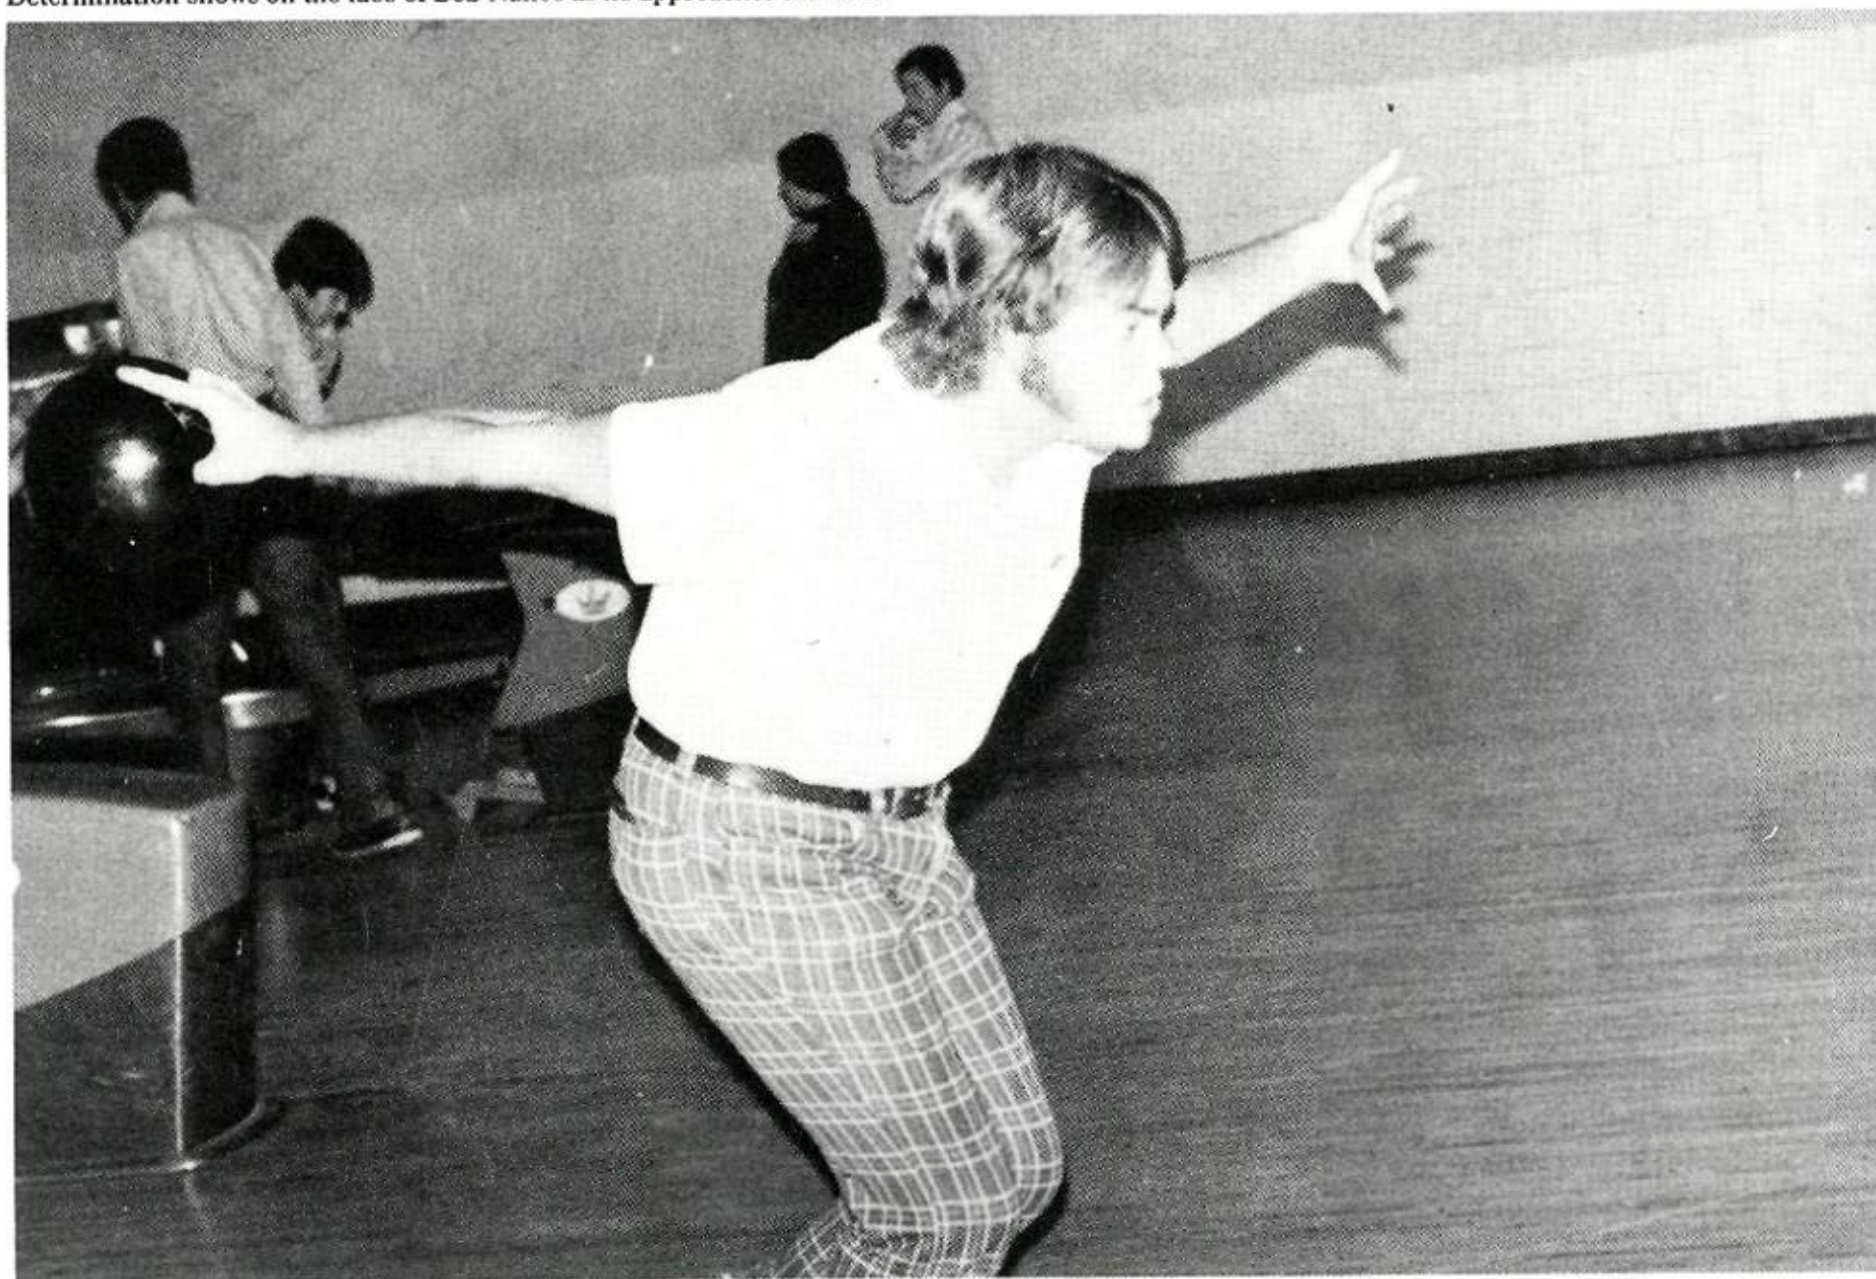

Everyone has his own bowling style, and Bree Fort is definitely no exception.

The Seniors give their famous yell in the lunchroom to liven things up and show their superiority over the lower classmen.

Susan Towne appears to be accepting a dare to bite that pickle.

Some Use "Lunch" for Eating

Lunch period is useful for various reasons. One of the more common uses is eating, of course. Then there is conversing, which consists of gossip about friends, enemies, school activities, and various other things. Seniors also use lunch to express their superiority by doing the Senior Yell and other similar antics.

Bowling class takes place from 7:55 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. on Mondays through Thursdays at Expressway Lanes, a far cry from Woodrow. The time is used to improve bowling style and form, while developing the body. The bowling instructor is Mr. James Kelly.

The edibility of her sandwich appears to be questioned by Betsy Cook.

Pep Assemblies Change

Pep Assemblies this year brought some changes over previous years. The balcony was reserved for seniors, fewer students elected to go to study halls; more teachers attended; the group near the stage seemed more enthusiastic; there seemed to be less cliquishness. Spirit skits were acclaimed better than ever.

A new addition to the assemblies was the role played by Ramona Crain as school mascot. She cavorted and yelled, dressed in a Wildcat suit, at each assembly and at games. This was a first for Woodrow and was considered a help in furthering spirit.

Herb Kadane represents the football team as he gives a pep talk.

Cheerleaders, Mike Ballard and Lanita Jenkins, do the Boog-a-loo.

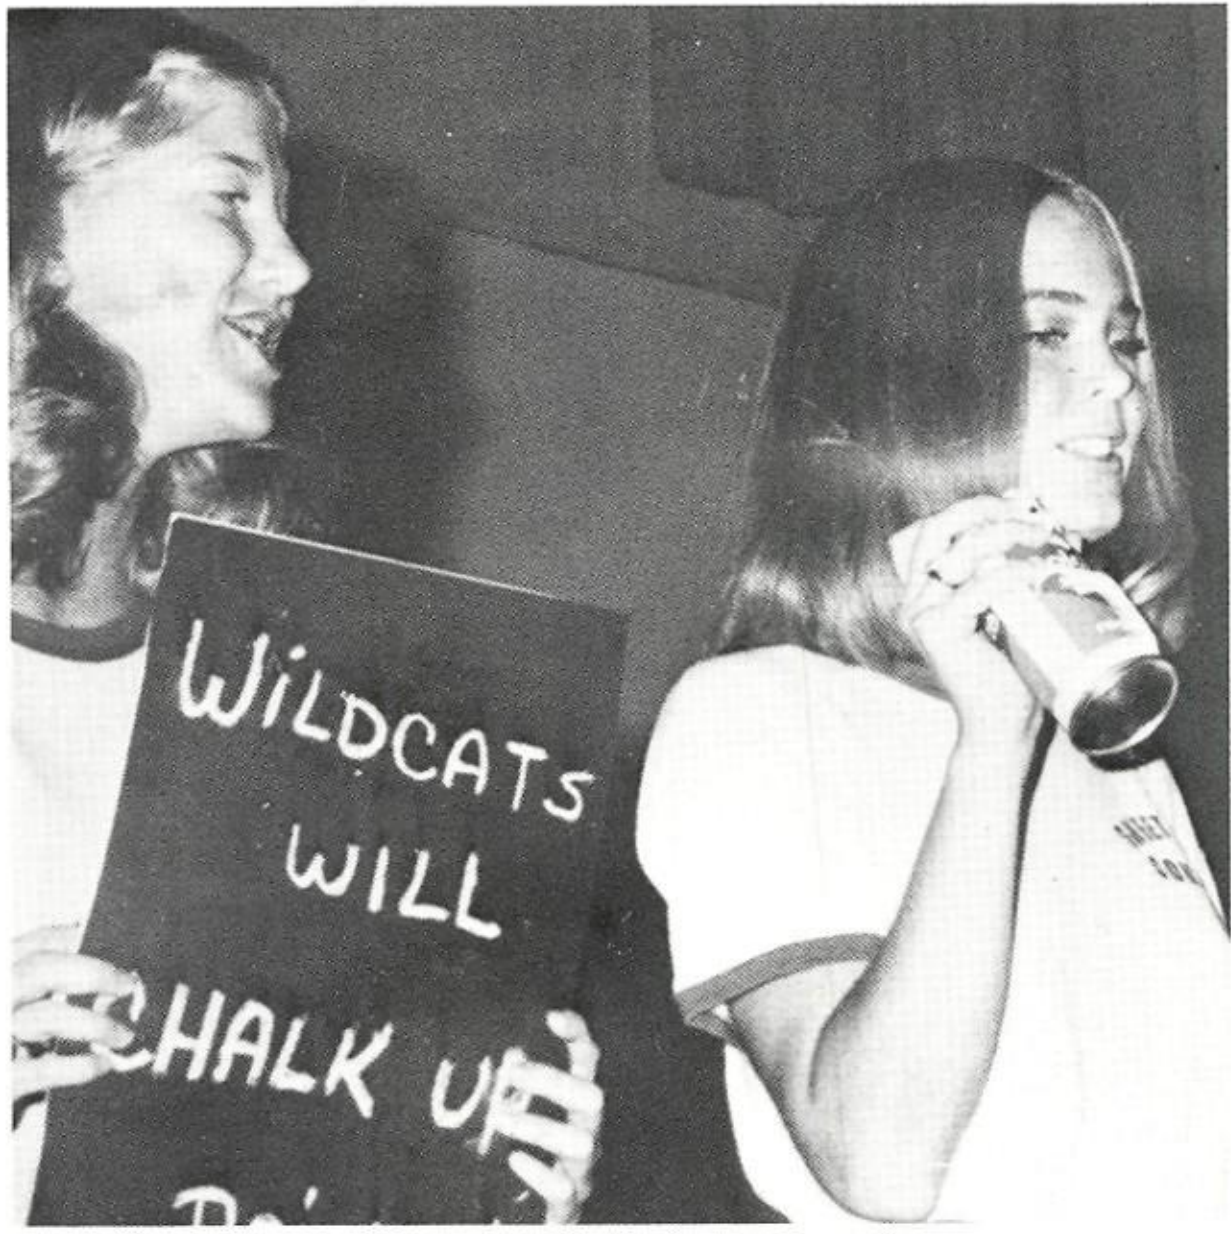

This enormous cake beats a telegram any day. Drill Team captains Sharon Cole and Karen McCann present it to the football team for the Drill Team.

Thanksgiving Inspires All

The Thanksgiving season, 1973, inspires a group from the Student Council to revive memories of the first Thanksgiving. Accordingly, they donned costumes, more or less appropriate to the era, and traveled to City Park where they posed for pictures before the original cabin of John Neely

500 Attend Open House

Woodrow teachers and administrators made an extra effort last fall to boost the attendance to the annual Open House, which was held on October 22. Teachers wrote personal letters to parents of pupils in second period classes urging them to come to "Get Acquainted Night." As a result, some five hundred parents and friends of pupils visited eight-minute classes and met teachers. Teachers had promised their pupils to say only "nice" things about them. Interest was unabated even at the final bell and it was necessary for the principal to flash the hall lights.

Fuss Over Fussball Surfaces at W.W.

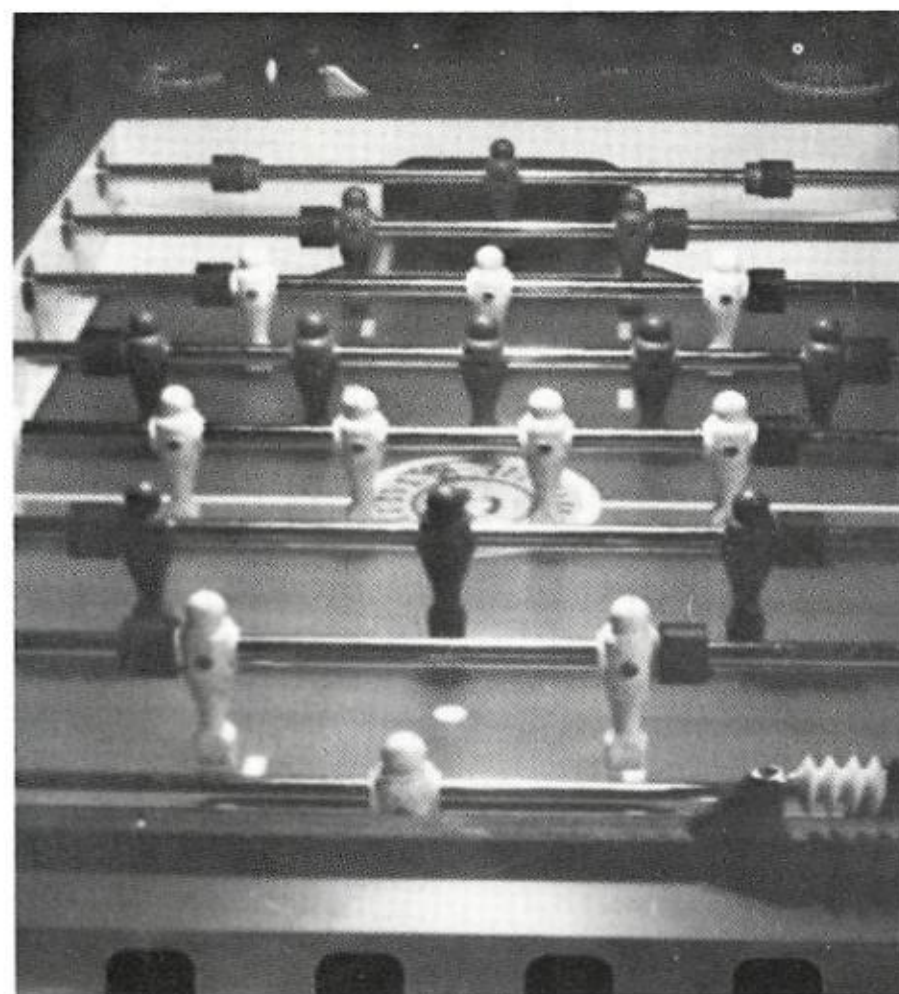

Fussball, a table adaptation of soccer has become quite a popular American pastime in the past few years. Many of the Woodrow Wilson students have become very proficient at the game and participated in several city-wide contests this year. To play this game well takes much time, practice and many quarters (coin-type).

Not so strenuous as European Fussball, the American type demands steady hands. Here Bob Nance and Richard Laurea vie with opponents in a friendly game.

Junior Girls Win Twice: Down Sophs, Get Cash

It was 3:30 P.M. on December fourth when the Junior Girls played the Sophomore Girls in a wild powder-puff football game on the Woodrow school field. The game was a close one, but the juniors finally came out on top with a score of 12 to 6. Coaches Gary Collett and Robert Zachary were the referees for the game. The purpose of the game, to make money for the Junior Girls dance, was achieved, the juniors said.

Upset Inductees Soon Soothed

Temporarily hurt feelings, bad tempers, and misunderstandings arose from the Drill Team initiation in February. The "veteran" drill team members took this opportunity to discipline the new arrivals for any infractions they committed in the past or any rules they might violate in the future. The initiation is an old Woodrow tradition and was done all in fun. Various costumes were worn and stunts performed in the seclusion of the girls' gymnasium.

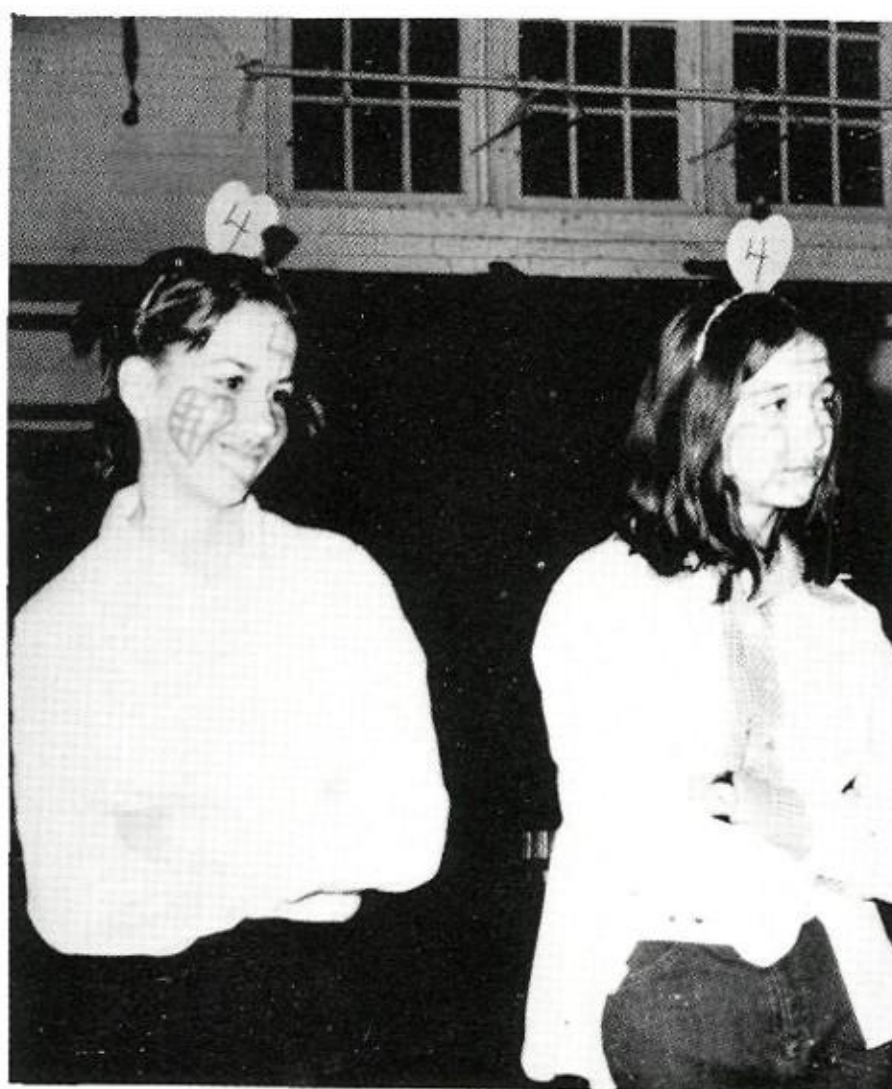

When the bell rang ending first period many classmates flocking around the gym were pushed out of the way as the new initiates rushed to second period. For the rest of the day many Woodrowites stopped and stared, wondering at the strange "get-ups" of the new Sweethearts. The day finally ended, and all concerned were thankful that initiation came only once in the life time of a "Sweetheart."

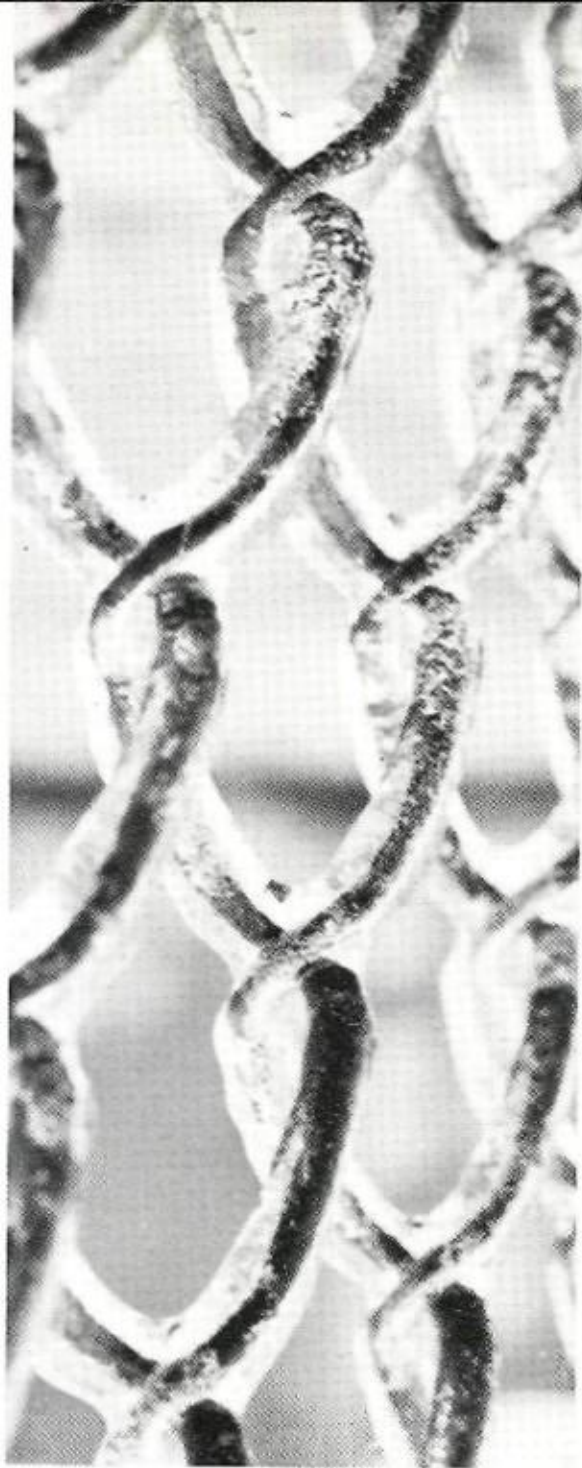

Standing in line, the new Sweethearts wait for Captain Kellye Sancedio to finish initiating Leslie Folson.

December Crucial for Drill Team Hopefuls

Before the Christmas holidays one could find about fifty sophomore and junior girls in the gym after seventh period limbering up and practicing for drill team try-outs.

On December 11 and 12 the girls learned the try-out routine from the senior captains. Then they performed before the judges on December 13. Twenty-four girls were chosen with four alternates.

While the girl candidates were trying out for drill team, some of the incumbent junior girls were making up their own routines and learning commands for the captain try-outs on January 3, 4, 5, and 8.

Drill Team Banquet at Club Gala Affair

On January 17, the Drill Team Banquet was held at Lakewood Country Club. The evening started off with the '73 junior drill team members staging skits to say good-bye to the senior squad members. After that, the 1973-74 Sweetheart Captains; Maria McGlothlin, Candy Davis, Caroline Crawford, Sharon Cole, and Karen McCann read the Senior Presentation of Last Will and Testament. Each captain then read her letter to her squad and presented the senior girls in her squad with engraved charms. Then Drill Team sponsor Miss G. Addington presented the Outstanding Sweetheart Award to senior Garbo Wong. After that, the captains made the presentation of the whistle to the new 1974-75 captains.

Cheerleader Tryouts Bring Tears of Joy, Dashed Hopes

The thrill of making cheerleader brings tears to Mary Jane Murphy and disbelief to Rula Palmer.

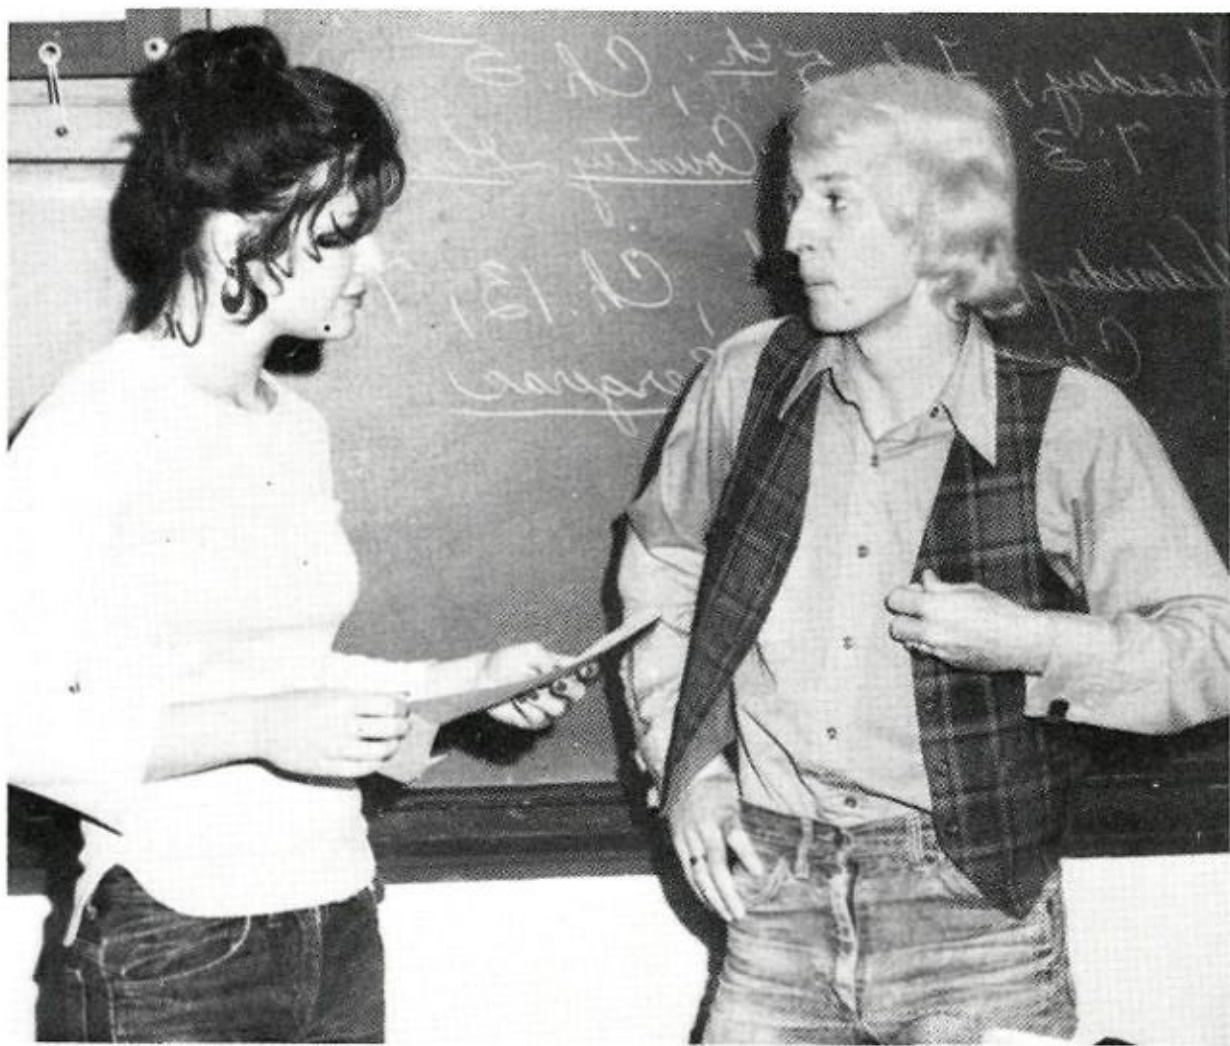

Patty Peterson, although she missed the honor, shares Patti Taylor's joy in becoming a 1974-75 Wildcat cheerleader.

December 6, 1973 was the day for thirteen cheerleading finalists to make their final showing. The tryouts were in front of the entire student body, but the sophomores and juniors were the only ones allowed to vote. After the votes were counted, all the finalists were gathered together in Mr. Pierce's office for the announcement of the outcome. Screams of joy and looks of disappointment were in evidence in the office and the adjoining rooms.

Cheerleaders elected for 1974-75 were: Mary Jane Murphy, Rula Palmer, Patti Taylor, Tami Welch, Reagan Florey, Jake Metzger, Larry Tate, and Glenn Wilcox.

Jennifer Younger, 1973-74 cheerleader, warmly congratulates Tami Welch on becoming one of them.

Drama Buffs Imaginative

Imagination was evident in Mrs. McBride's second period drama class. On February 7, Martha Goodman and Mike Mullen from the Dallas Theater Center came to Woodrow to introduce the concept of sensitivity awareness. The most popular of these activities for the students was one in which each group created its own culture. Along with this they invented their own currency, symbol, and flag. Each student put his imagination to work by making his own individual costumes. They were then interviewed by fellow classmates on each individual culture.

As a result of her efforts to "invent" a new culture with new creatures, Carolyn Powell emerges as one of the "Butterfly People."

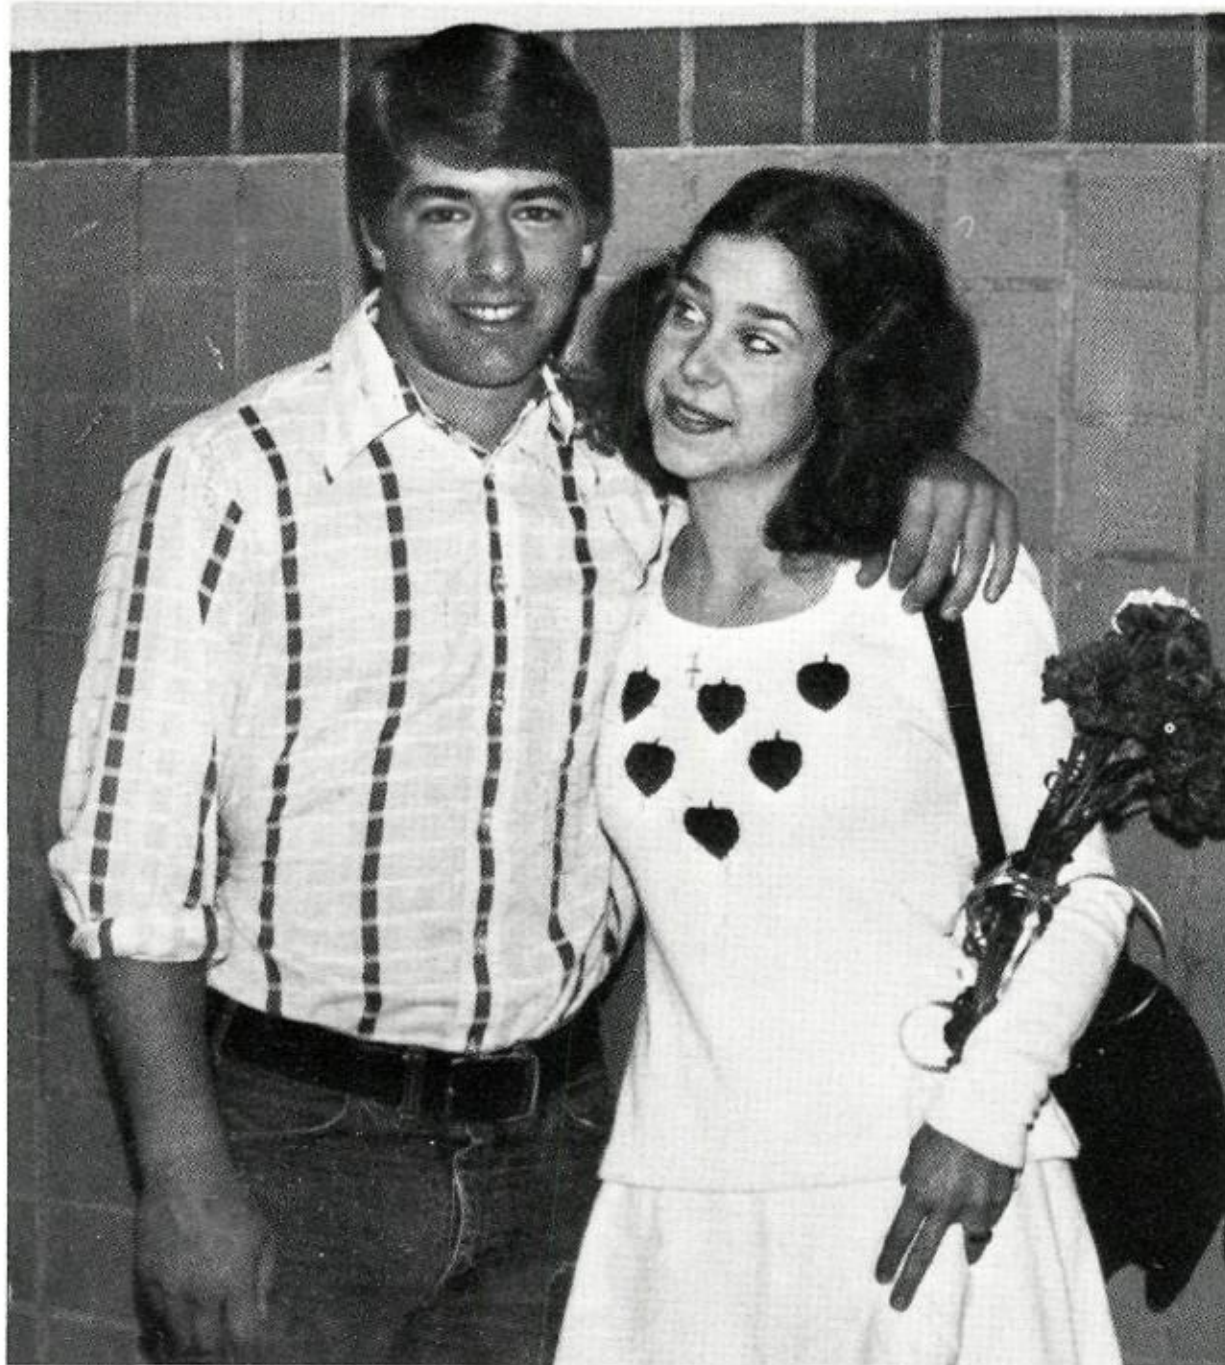

Valentines Are Posies

Junior Girls help spruce up St. Valentine's Day to earn money for their Spring Dance. Carnations were sold a week before and were delivered by the Junior Girls on February 14. The title of Carnation King was given to the boy who sent the most flowers, and that of Carnation Queen, was bestowed upon the girl who received the most flowers. The honors were claimed by senior Eleanor Luecke and junior David Stubblefield.

Easy Parking Costs Drivers

Action was finally taken against students parking their cars in front of the school between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Several students chose to ignore the posted signs and the police were forced to call wreckers in to tow away the cars. Principal Wayne Pierce stated that he regretted such action was necessary but that the space was needed for parking of visitors to the school.

Basketball Marathon Held for John McClamrock

The cool floor is an ideal place on which to relax after an hour or so on the court, or so believes the exhausted Robert Rodke.

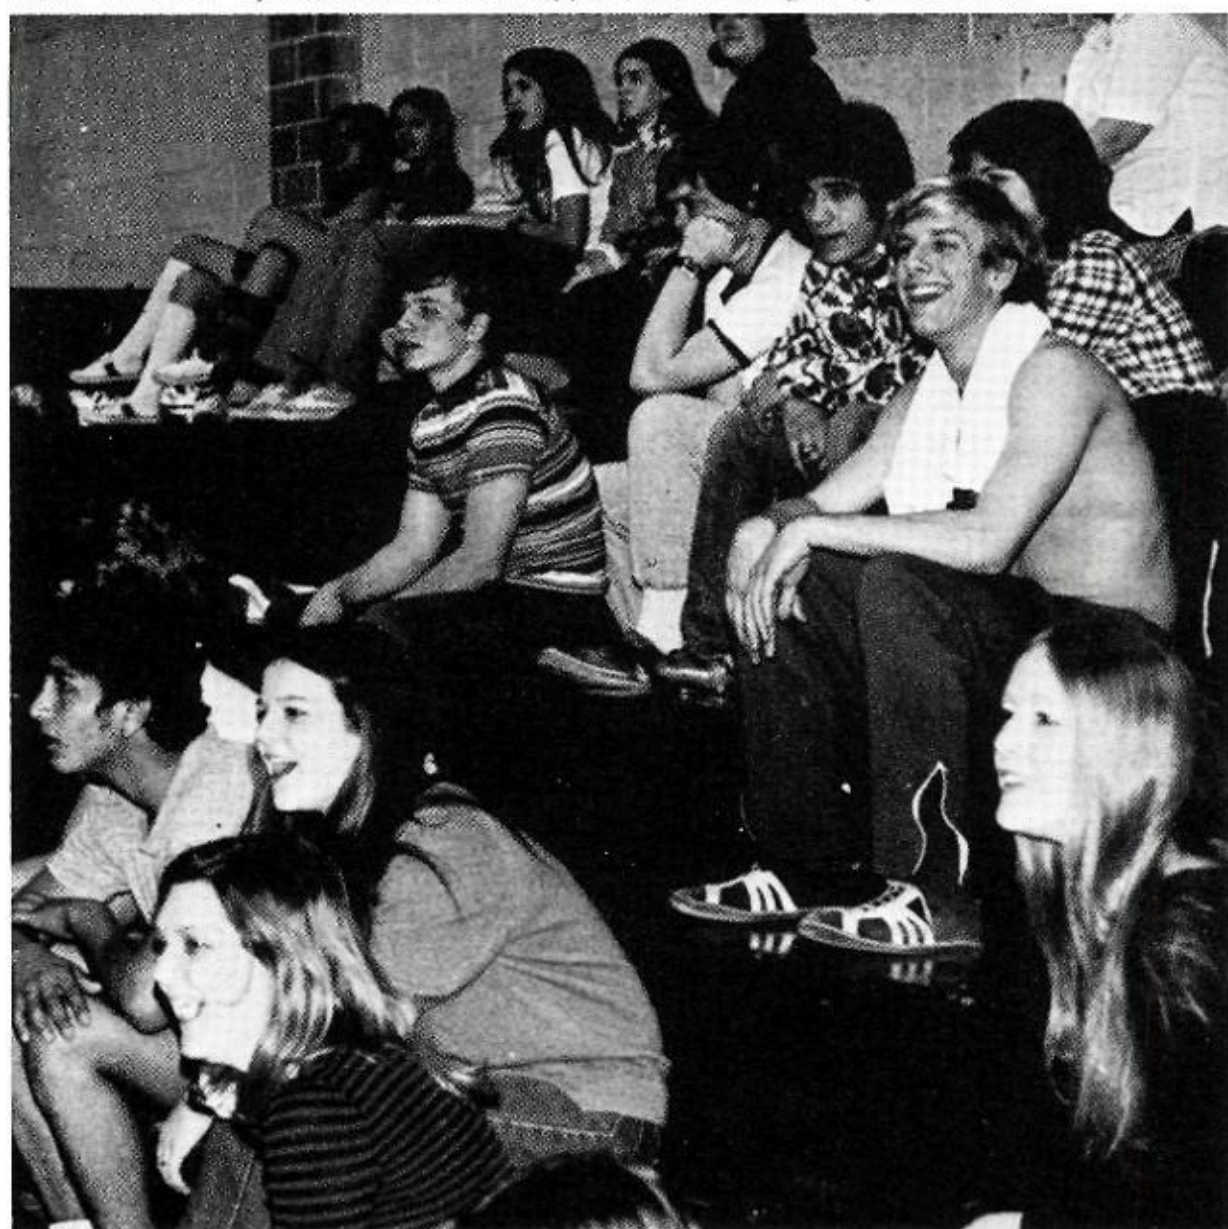

Ramon Rodriguez and Patty Peterson (?) share the same pillow, but standing up, at about 3:00 a.m. at the Basketball Marathon.

On February 28 and 29, from 10:00 p.m. Friday, until 12:00 Saturday morning, the Woodrow Wilson National Honor Society, Key Club, and Keyettes sponsored a twenty-four hour Basketball Marathon at the First Baptist Church gymnasium.

The purpose of this herculean effort was to raise funds to help defray the astronomical medical expenses of John McClamrock, a Hillcrest High school Student who became paralyzed after an injury in a football game. The KLIF High-Hoopers challenged the Woodrow Wilson faculty but lost with a score of 57 to 59. The remainder of the twenty-four hours was taken up with the continuous game between the chosen sides.

These "Marathon" spectators are not too sleepy to find something funny on the court.

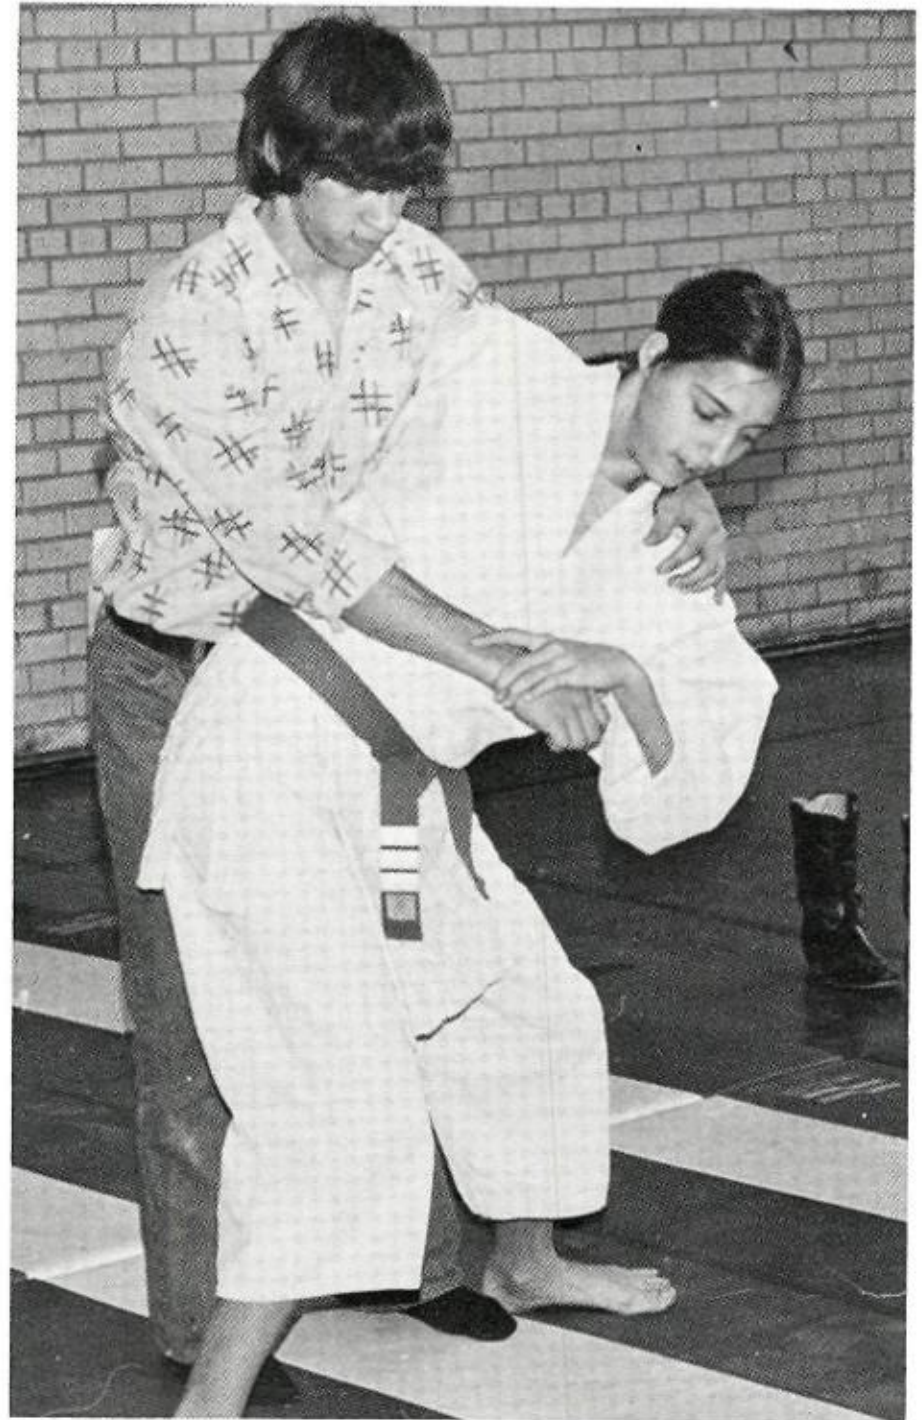

Girls' Self Defense Offered

One of the new mini-courses that was offered for girls on Tuesday, fifth period was the girls' self-defense, or karate class. This class was taught by Terry Parker. He was assisted by Cindy Costello and Randy Lee.

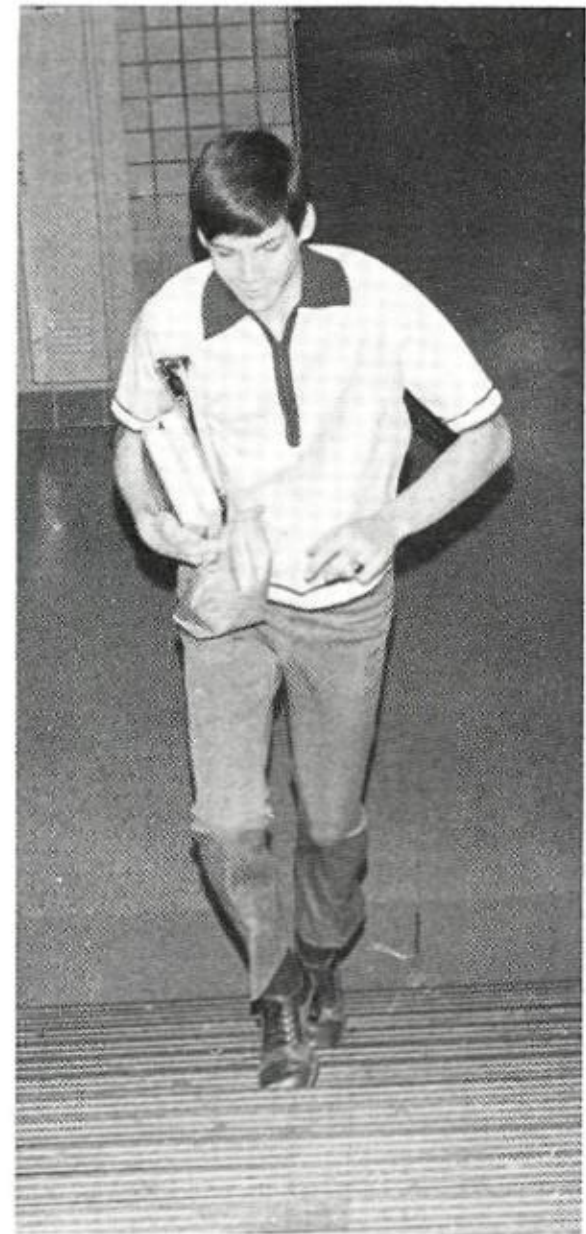

This mini-course offered girls the chance to learn the art of self defense and was one of the most popular ones offered.

Girls' P.E. Adds Interscholastic Sports

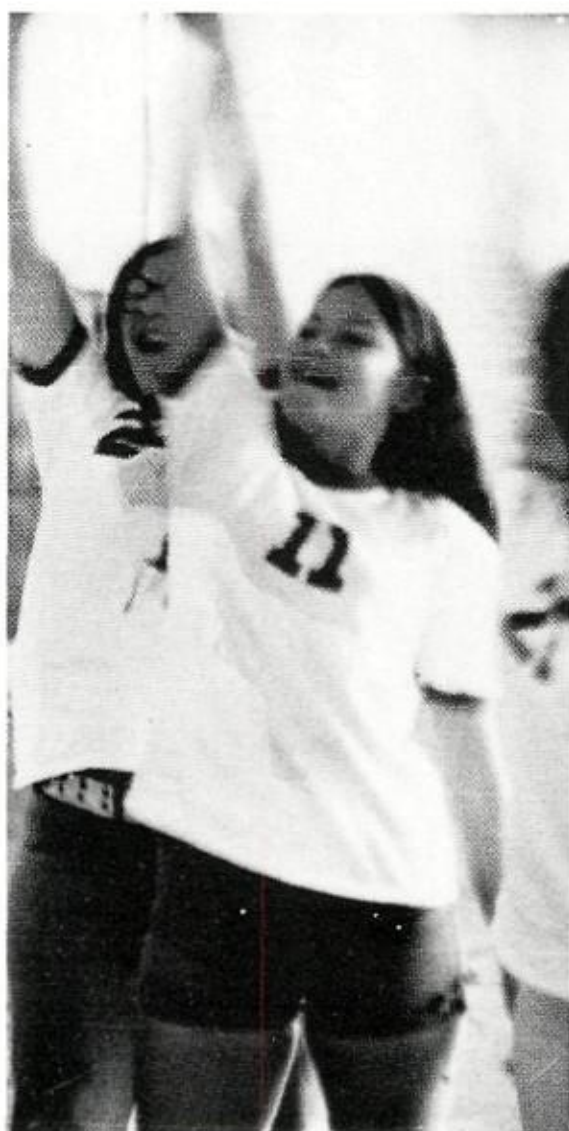

Two of the extra-curricular girl's sports that were started this year at Woodrow were volleyball and basketball. These were "extended-day" programs, which means the girls interested in participating had to practice after school in the girls' gym. Both the Volleyball and Basketball teams competed in Dallas District 1 with Hillcrest, W. T. White, and Thomas Jefferson High Schools. The Basketball team played their games in the DISD field houses.

When the Volleyball team was started, there was a bigger turnout than expected. The girls, although they lost some games, lose none of their spirit and enthusiasm. Then the time came when they beat the Hillcrest "A" team, the best in the district, two out of three games.

The co-captains for the team were Judy Watkins and Margret Beck. The girls gained a lot of experience for their first year, and prospects look good for next year, according to Miss G. Addington, coach.

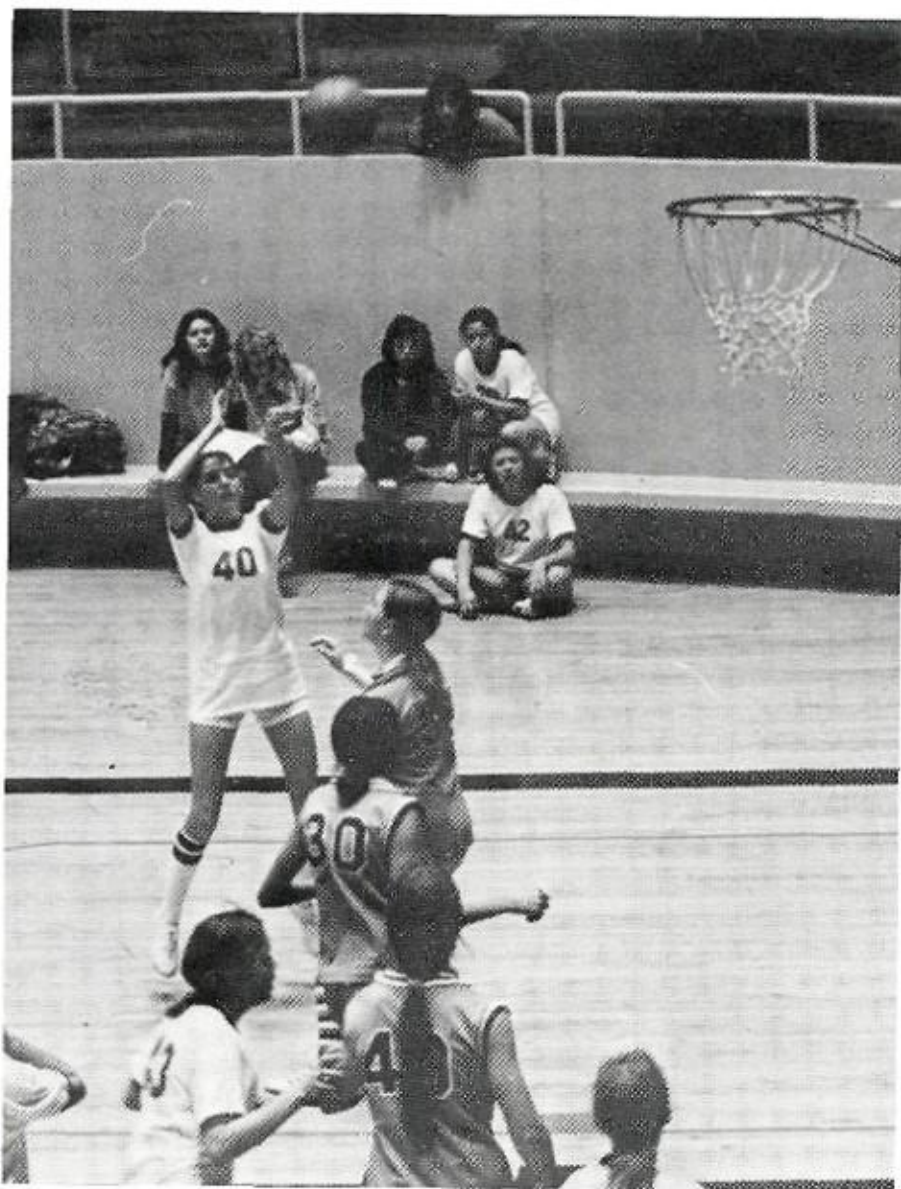

Even a novice can tell that the volleyball serve is coming toward Terri Hix (14); Sindi Fugitt (18), Margaret Beck (12), Kathy Hronas (rear) and Jeannie Miller (21) are ready to help her.

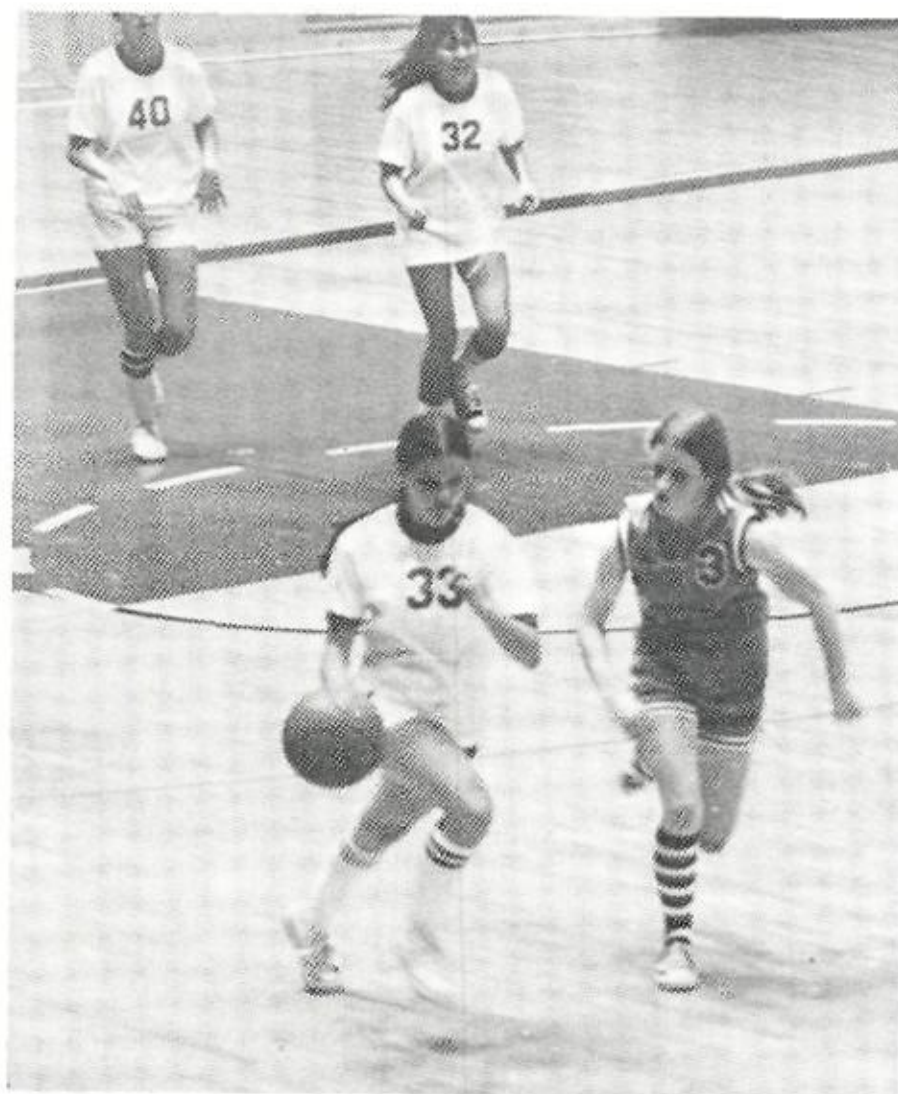

Contrary to appearances, Joy Reed and Kathy Hronas are not reaching for the volleyball, but are giving a cheer just before the game.

Girls' Basketball Team Formed

Of equal interest to girls, with volleyball, was girls' basketball. The girls on the team practiced before first period and during seventh period each day. There were enough girls who went out for basketball to make only one team; thus, all players play the entire game in each match. In the practice game against Hillcrest, Woodrow was the winner, 39-33.

Deciding in which district each school was to play in was determined by the size of the school enrollment. The school district furnishes the players' uniforms.

Even though the number of girls participating wasn't as large as expected, next year is expected to be even better, with most of the players returning, according to Miss G. Addington, Woodrow coach.

Scores Came Hard, but Coaches, Team Proud

Members of the football squads of Woodrow Wilson turned in their uniforms with a well-developed sense of fair play and a definite knowledge of true football tactics, in the opinion of the coaching staff.

Scores did not come easy this season, but top point makers were juniors Darrell Fuller, and Cotton Tolnay. Woodrow will definitely miss such seniors as Randy Cooley, Randy Moore, Roy Massey, Richard Torrez, Herb Kadane, Bill Mason, as well as Winfred Campbell and Dennis Wells. The Dallas Morning News placed Herb Kadane on the All-District for the first team offense, and O. B. Mathis, and Randy Moore for the second team defense. Randy Cooley was the only football aspirant who was given the honor of All-District for both offense and defense.

Coaches Kenneth Kimbrell, Gary Collett, and Alton Hill have not only been coaches, but also loyal friends to football aspirants, said Herb Kadane and Randy Cooley, who were chosen as team captains.

Cats Drop Two First Games

The season-opening game in Garland, September 6, did not prove to be a success for the Wildcats as far as points were concerned. The Garland Owls piled up 137 yards on the ground to lead the Wildcats 12-7. Woodrow's only score came late in the third quarter when David Stubblefield's quarterback sneak found the end zone.

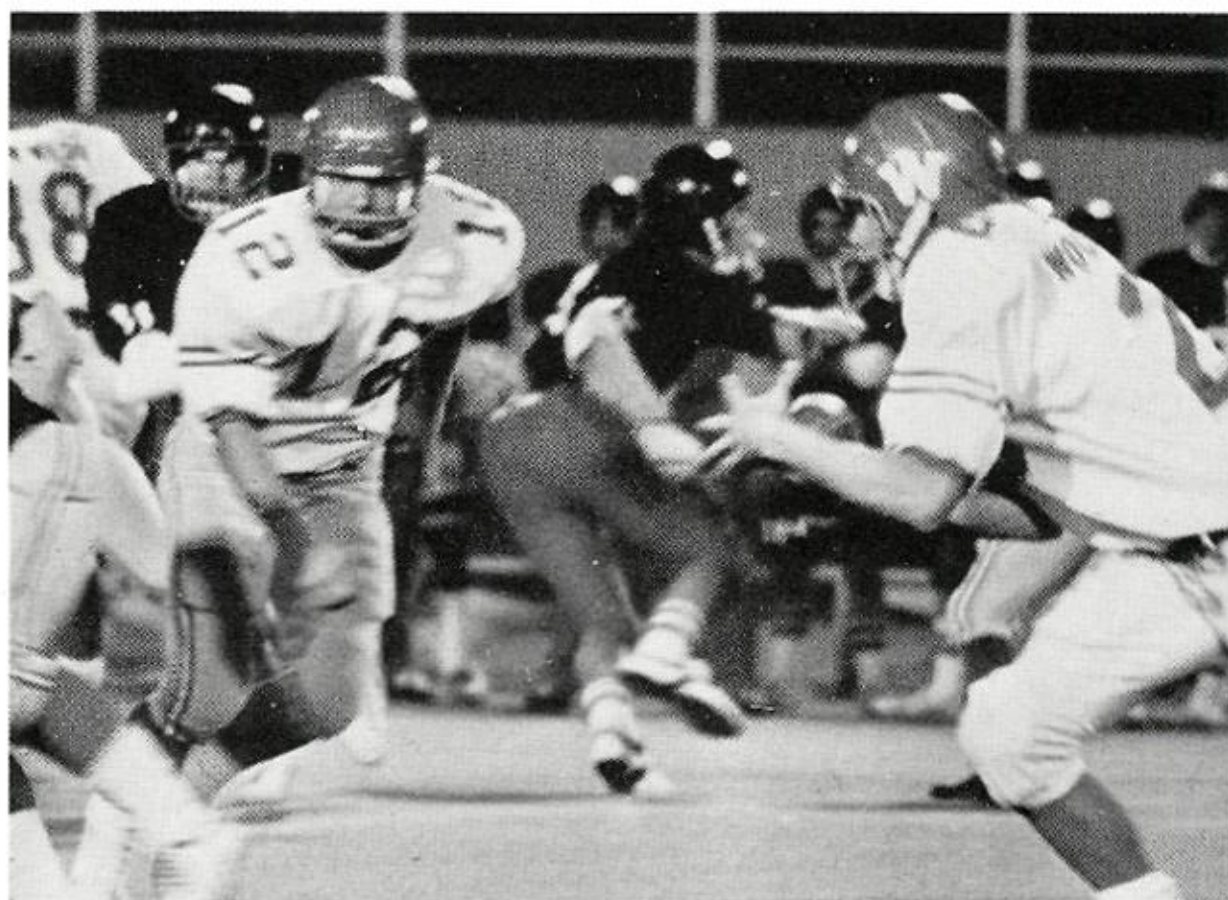

In Texarkana, U.S.A., September 14, 1973, Woodrow Wilson had the lead, but just for awhile and Texarkana went on to win 21-10. Wildcat's opened the scoring when "Cotton" Tolnay plunged into the end zone from the one-yard line in the first period. Fred Secker booted the extra point, making it 7-10. They ended the scoring with a 37-yard field goal by Fred Secker in the second quarter.

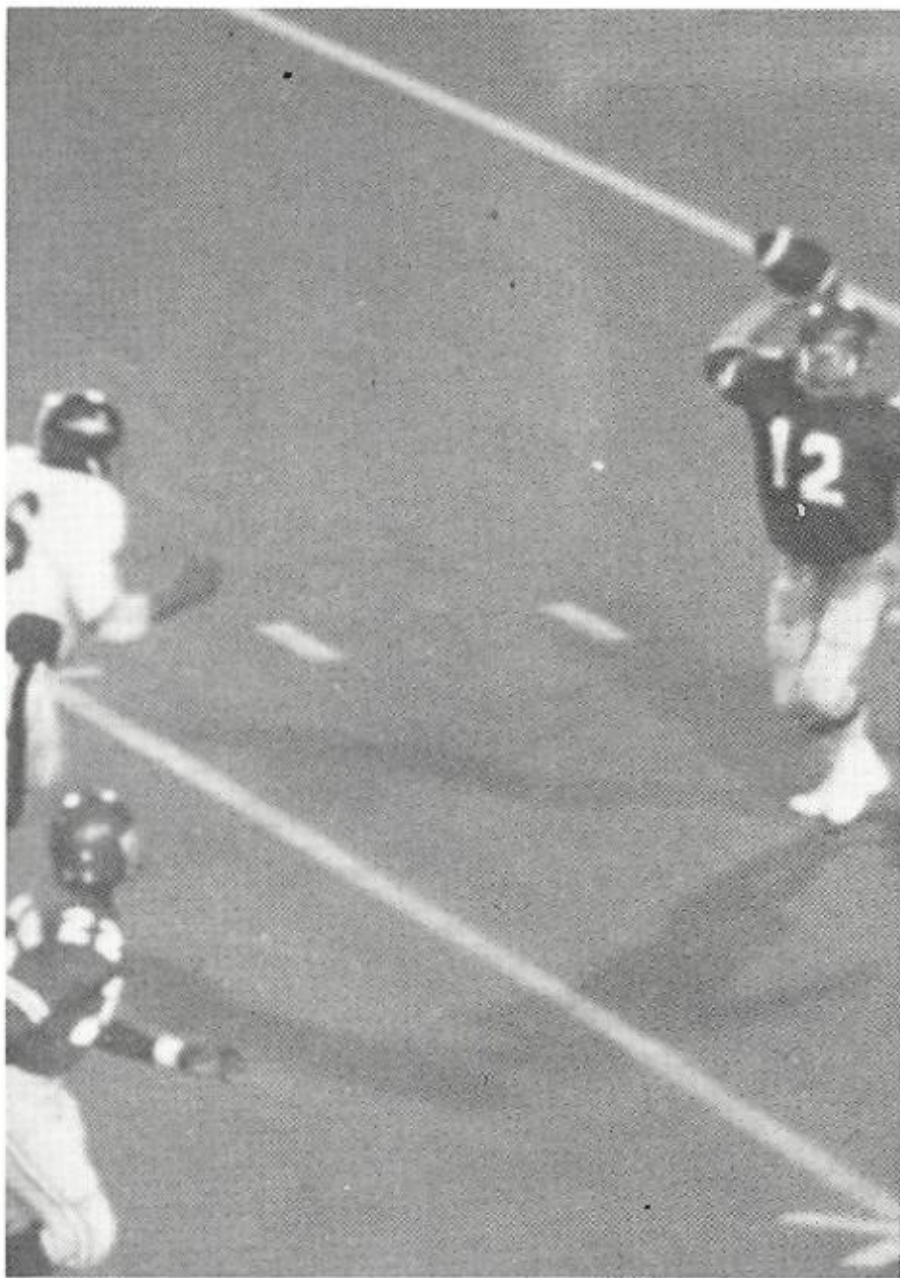

Darrell Fuller (22) gains yardage as Bill Shearin (75) goes out front to block a tiger defender during WW-Texarkana game. Texarkana won, 21-0.

Larry Burns (86) shows frustration when he forcees that his injury will cause him to sit the rest of the game out.

Big Red Takes Adamson; Roosevelt Wins, 46-6

Everything went perfect, as planned, on September 20, when the Wildcat offense took advantage of a bewildered Adamson Leopard team.

Although Adamson scored first, Woodrow retaliated by converting Adamson's mistakes into points. These windfalls began with a Wildcat fumble recovery on the Leopard 34, early in the second period. David Stubblefield slid off right center for the first score. Quarterback David Stubblefield passed five yards to Roy Massey late in the second quarter for the second tally, and ran 11 yards for another Cat score in the third period. Darrell Fuller put on the icing with a five-yard plunge for the Wildcat final score: Woodrow 28, Adamson 6.

The fourth game, and one of the most crucial for the Wildcat's morale, ended in disaster, as Dallas' Roosevelt offense took advantage of the slow-starting Wildcats on September 28. However, Woodrow's Kenneth Suttles scrambled 12 yards late in the third period to break Roosevelt's shutout string for this season. Quarterback David Stubblefield hit 10 of 27 passes for 93 yards. Final score: Roosevelt 46, Woodrow 6.

Randy Cooley (82) holds grimly onto Leopard player in Woodrow-Adamson game. Woodrow won 28-6.

Pinkston and Sunset Fall Before Wildcats

The Wildcats took advantage of three blocked punts and a 10.7-yard Pinkston punting average to coast to their second win in three district outings. Pinkston had the lead after Wildcats fumbled, but Darrell Fuller tied the score late in the first period when he plunged 3 yards over. Glenn Skinner caught a 67 yard bomb from Quarterback Stubblefield, to put Woodrow 14-7. In racking up 187 yards in passing yardage, Stubblefield later hit Roy Massey twice in the end zone, in the third quarter. Fred Secker kicked a 24 yard field goal in the third period, and the final score was Woodrow Wilson 31, Pinkston 7.

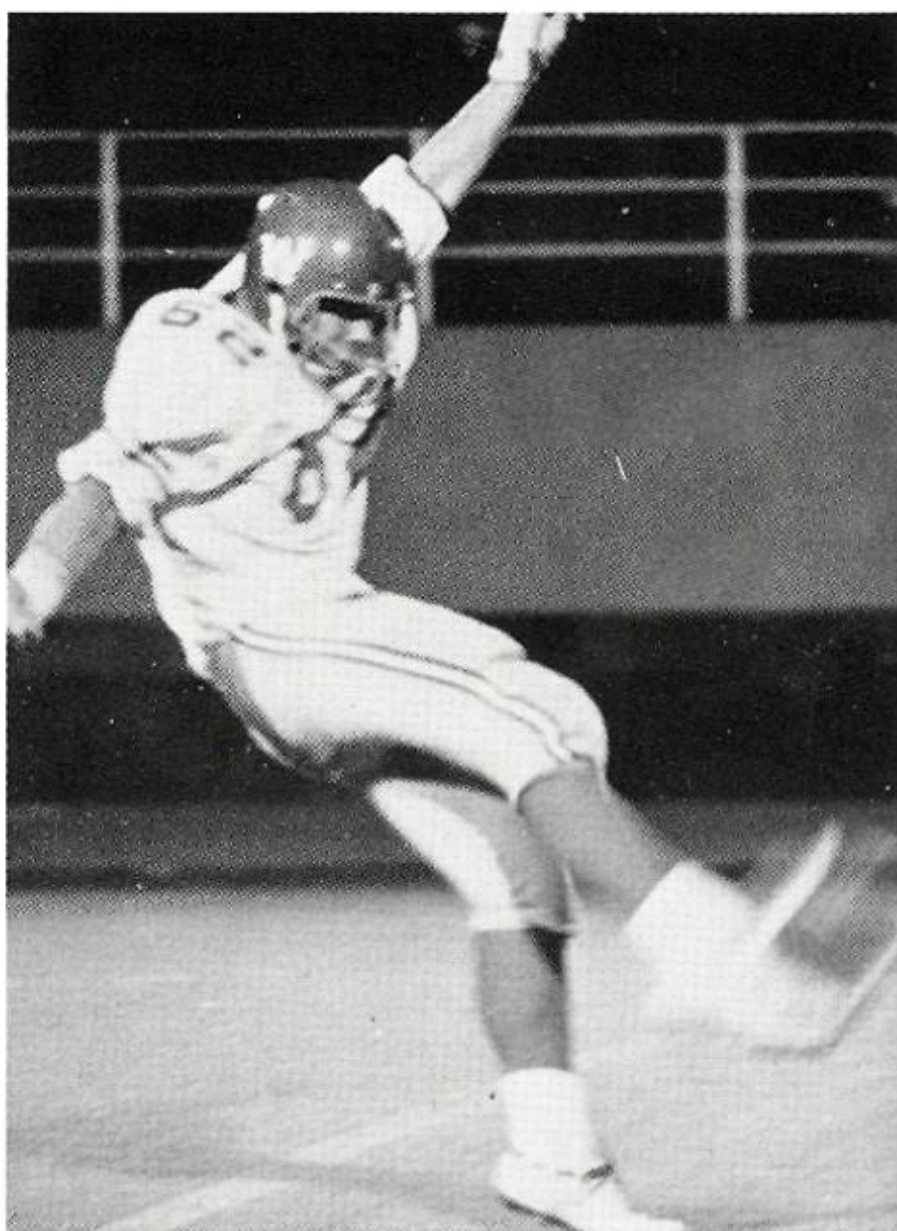

A spectacular 78-yard pass to Randy Moore from quarterback, David Stubblefield, with 1:29 remaining in the game, made a tremendous difference on the scoreboard as Wildcats pulled a 21-20 come-from-behind victory on October 12, over the Sunset Bisons. The Wildcats made the second-half comeback on a 24-yard scoring jaunt by Cotton Tolney; a fourth down, 20-yard scoring pass from Stubblefield to Roy Massey and the 78-yard bomb to Randy Moore. Although the Wildcats were never able to tack an extra point on their touchdown, "Cat kicker" Fred Secker booted the eventual difference in the game on a 30-yard field goal with 2:29 left in the first half.

'Cats Scratch, Snarl; Lose to S.O.C., Carter

On October 18, the Wildcat's offense was held to only 116 rushing yardage by South Oak Cliff's flamboyant defense. However this did not discourage Wildcat quarterback David Stubblefield, who let go some very convincing aerial fireworks. Woodrow drove for a 7-6 lead in the second period when Stubblefield's pass was executed to perfection by Glenn Skinner in the end zone. But this was as far as the Wildcats got on the scoreboard. The rest of the game was dominated by South Oak Cliff, who scored in every quarter, to make the final score, S.O.C. 34, Woodrow 7.

On November 1, the record shows that the Wildcats played their ball game with tenacity and zeal, but unfortunately, that was not enough to win the ball game. The Wildcat's Quarterback David Stubblefield's throw found Cotton Tolnay floating freely in the end zone, to make the score 14-7. For the rest of the game, the Carter cannon exploded with 12 more points, to make the final score Woodrow 7, Carter 26.

Cotton Tolnay (24) nimbly charges past the S.O.C. defense to gain precious yardage for the Wildcats.

W.W. Bows to Kimball, Tramples North Dallas

So bizarre was the Wildcat offense on November 8, that they were able to get only 112 total yardage against the ever-elusive Kimball defense. Although losing the game 21-0, the Wildcats were able to hold the Knights scoreless in the first period; but for the remaining three periods, the Knights dominated the game.

On November 16, the Woodrow's defense held North Dallas in check as the Wildcats gunned down the Bulldogs 28-0. Although razzle-dazzle is not Woodrow's style, their last game, against the Bulldogs, proved otherwise. Woodrow scored two touchdowns in the first period, and one late in the second. Woodrow's last touchdown came late in the 3rd period, when the Bulldogs fumbled, making it their 3rd for the day. The touchdown honors went to Cotton Tolnay, David Stubblefield, and Darrell Fuller. Fred Secker kicked the extra points, making it 4 in a row.

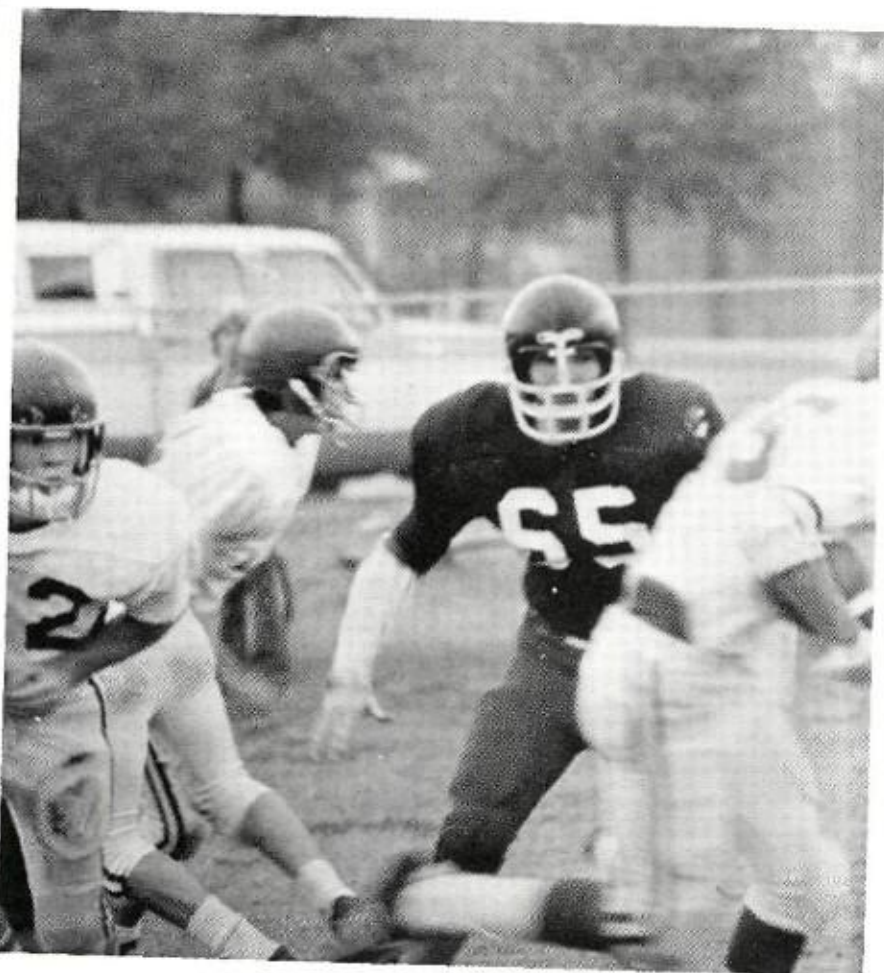

Randy Cooley (62) tries to recover the Woodrow fumble abetted by an unidentified Wildcat player during the W.W.-North Dallas game.

Darrell Fuller's (22) razzle-dazzle gains him some precious yardage as he slips past a Knight defender during Woodrow Wilson-Kimball game.

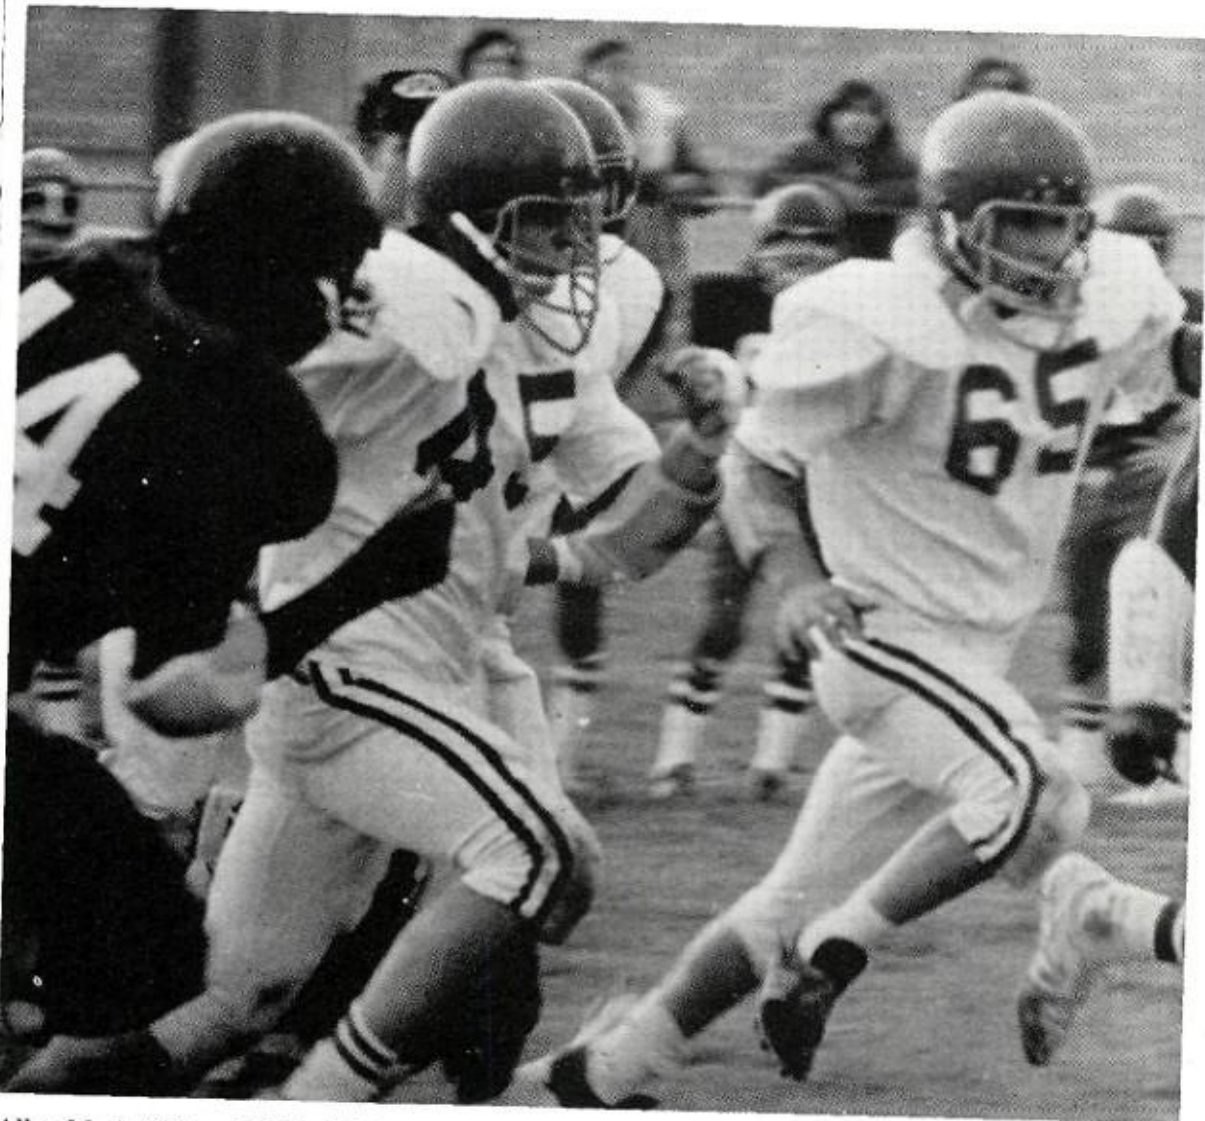

"B" Team Gridmen Win Some, Lose Some

Bruce Phillips, having handed the ball to his running back, fakes a move to the right, confusing the Kimball player.

Kitten players are determined to make a hole in Kimball's defense.

Allen Mach (65) and Robby Webb (45) hurry downfield to block for their punt receiver, with a Kimball player following close behind.

"B" Football Squad

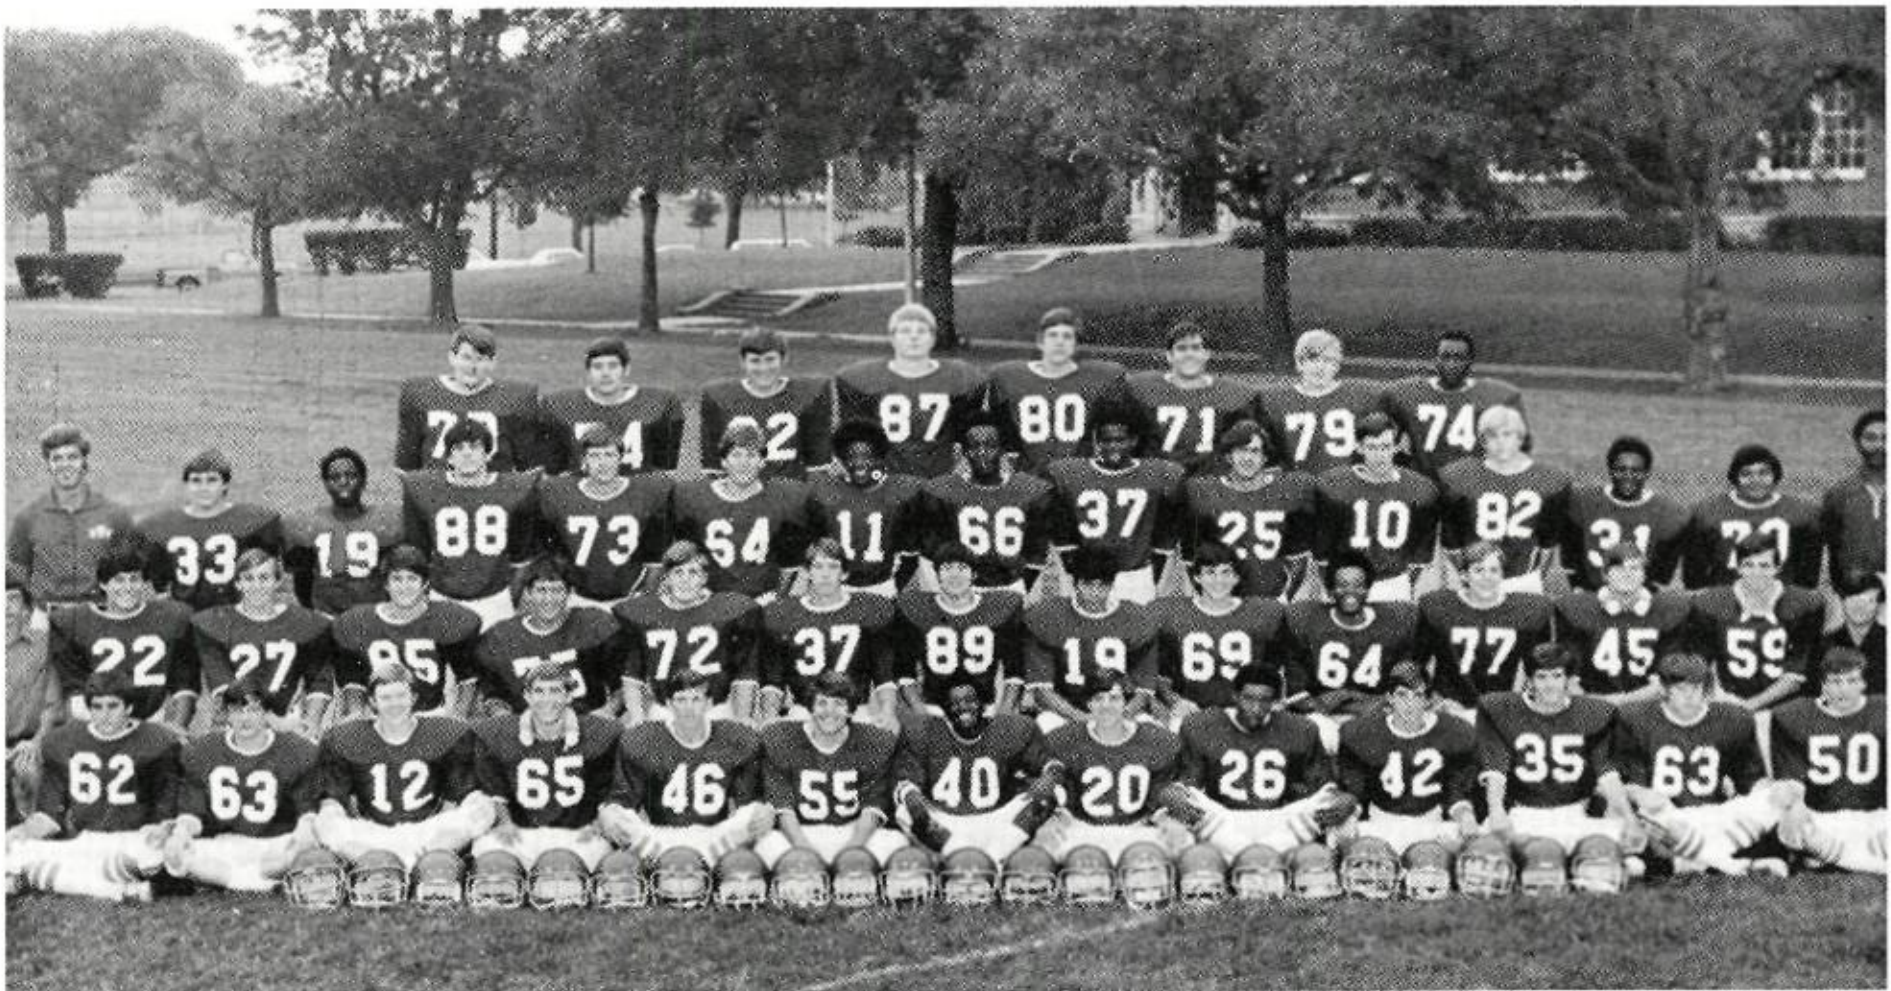

Numbers 43

Interest in the '73-74 "B" team started out slow, with only 21 young men reporting the first week. However, as the season progressed 25 more players were added, to bring the squad size to 43 players. "Even though the 4-6 season does not show as a successful season on paper," said Coach R. Zachary, "we feel it was a successful season, considering the fact many of the young men had never played football before and many others were young and inexperienced." It is expected that there will be several young men from the '73 "B" team on the Varsity squad next season.

Bruce Phillips did a notable job leading the "B" team at quarterback by passing for 10 T.D.'s and running for 2. Robert Ikner and Joel Akin were leaders for the team in the rushing department. Outstanding receivers for the team were Vernon Smith, Danny Harris, and Steve David. Outstanding defensive players included James McReynolds at linebacker, Russel Arbogast at defensive-end, and Jeff Blackmon, defensive tackle. Scott Alford added strength to the defensive line, while Charles Taylor was consistent at the nose-guard position. Also in the defensive secondary Vernon Smith, Robert Ikner, and Bruce Phillips performed notably with a total of ten interceptions for the season. "The "B" team did receive added strength from Juniors James McReynolds, Ricky Lewis, and Richard Seal," added Coach Zachary.

Cagers Win Openers; Lose in Conference

The WILDCAT Basketball team emerged from pre-season play with hopes for a fair season. Although they won from North Dallas, Mesquite, and Garland, in the non-conference play, the cagers ended the season in February with a disappointing record of 3-24. Almost all games were played at Loos and Forester field houses. In district play the cagers lost all the games.

Coach Euril Henson stated that he was disappointed with the season, but held high hopes for the next season. He named Bobby Kennelly, Marcus Young, Ruben Flores, and Jessie Smith as outstanding players. Each of the players made 100 or more points. Jessie Smith was awarded "Mr. Hustle" awarded by his teammates.

Training began early in the school year. The team, coached by Euril Henson, practiced in the afternoon during the sixth and seventh periods and after school.

1973 Baseball Not Bad; '74 Looks Better

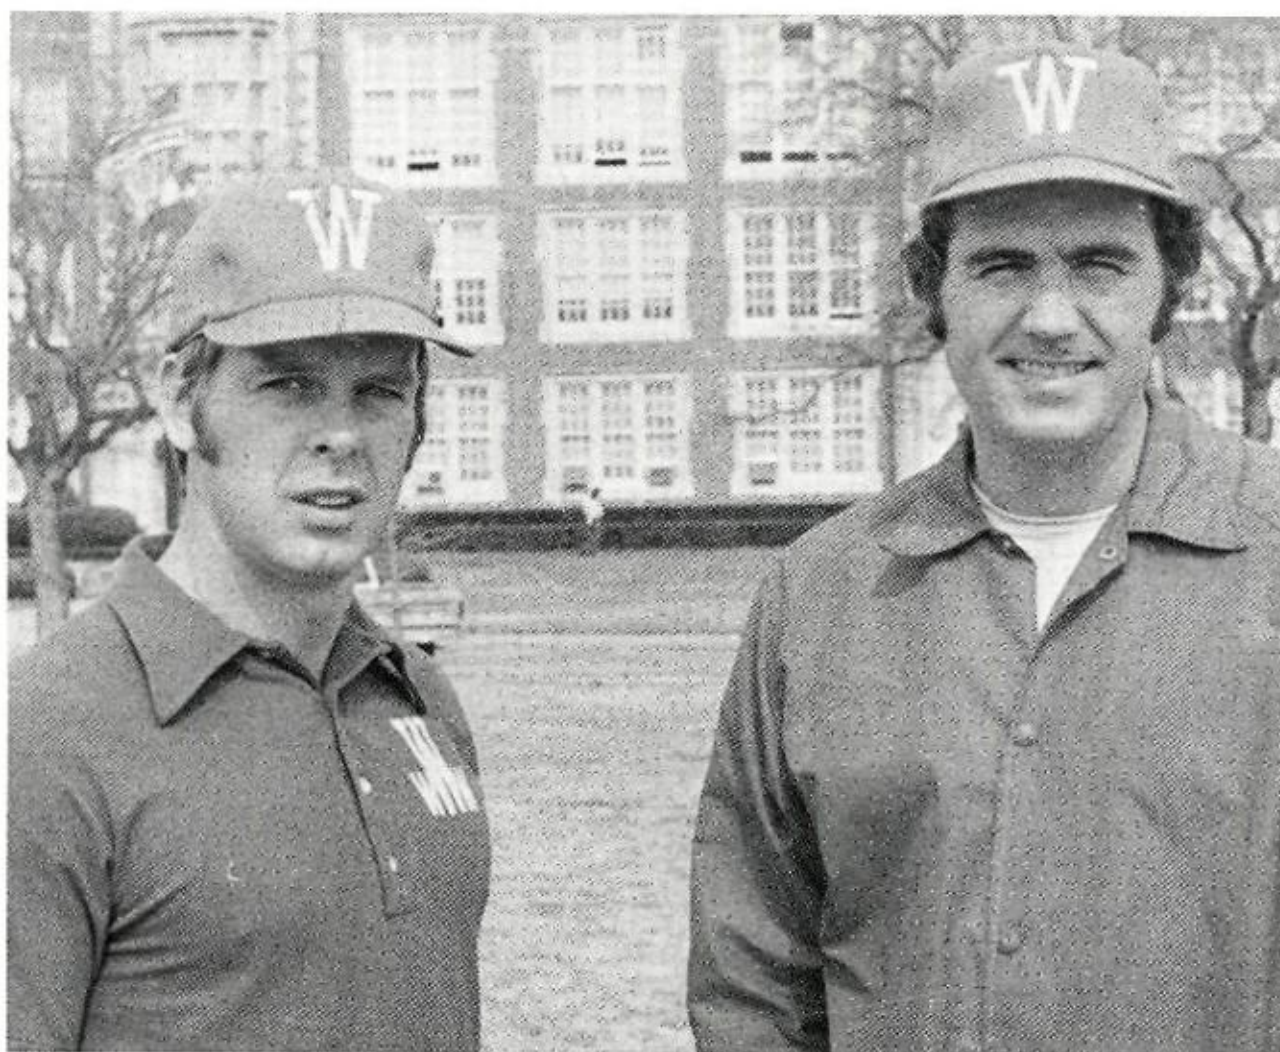

Wildcat batter Dewey Long had a good average in 1973.

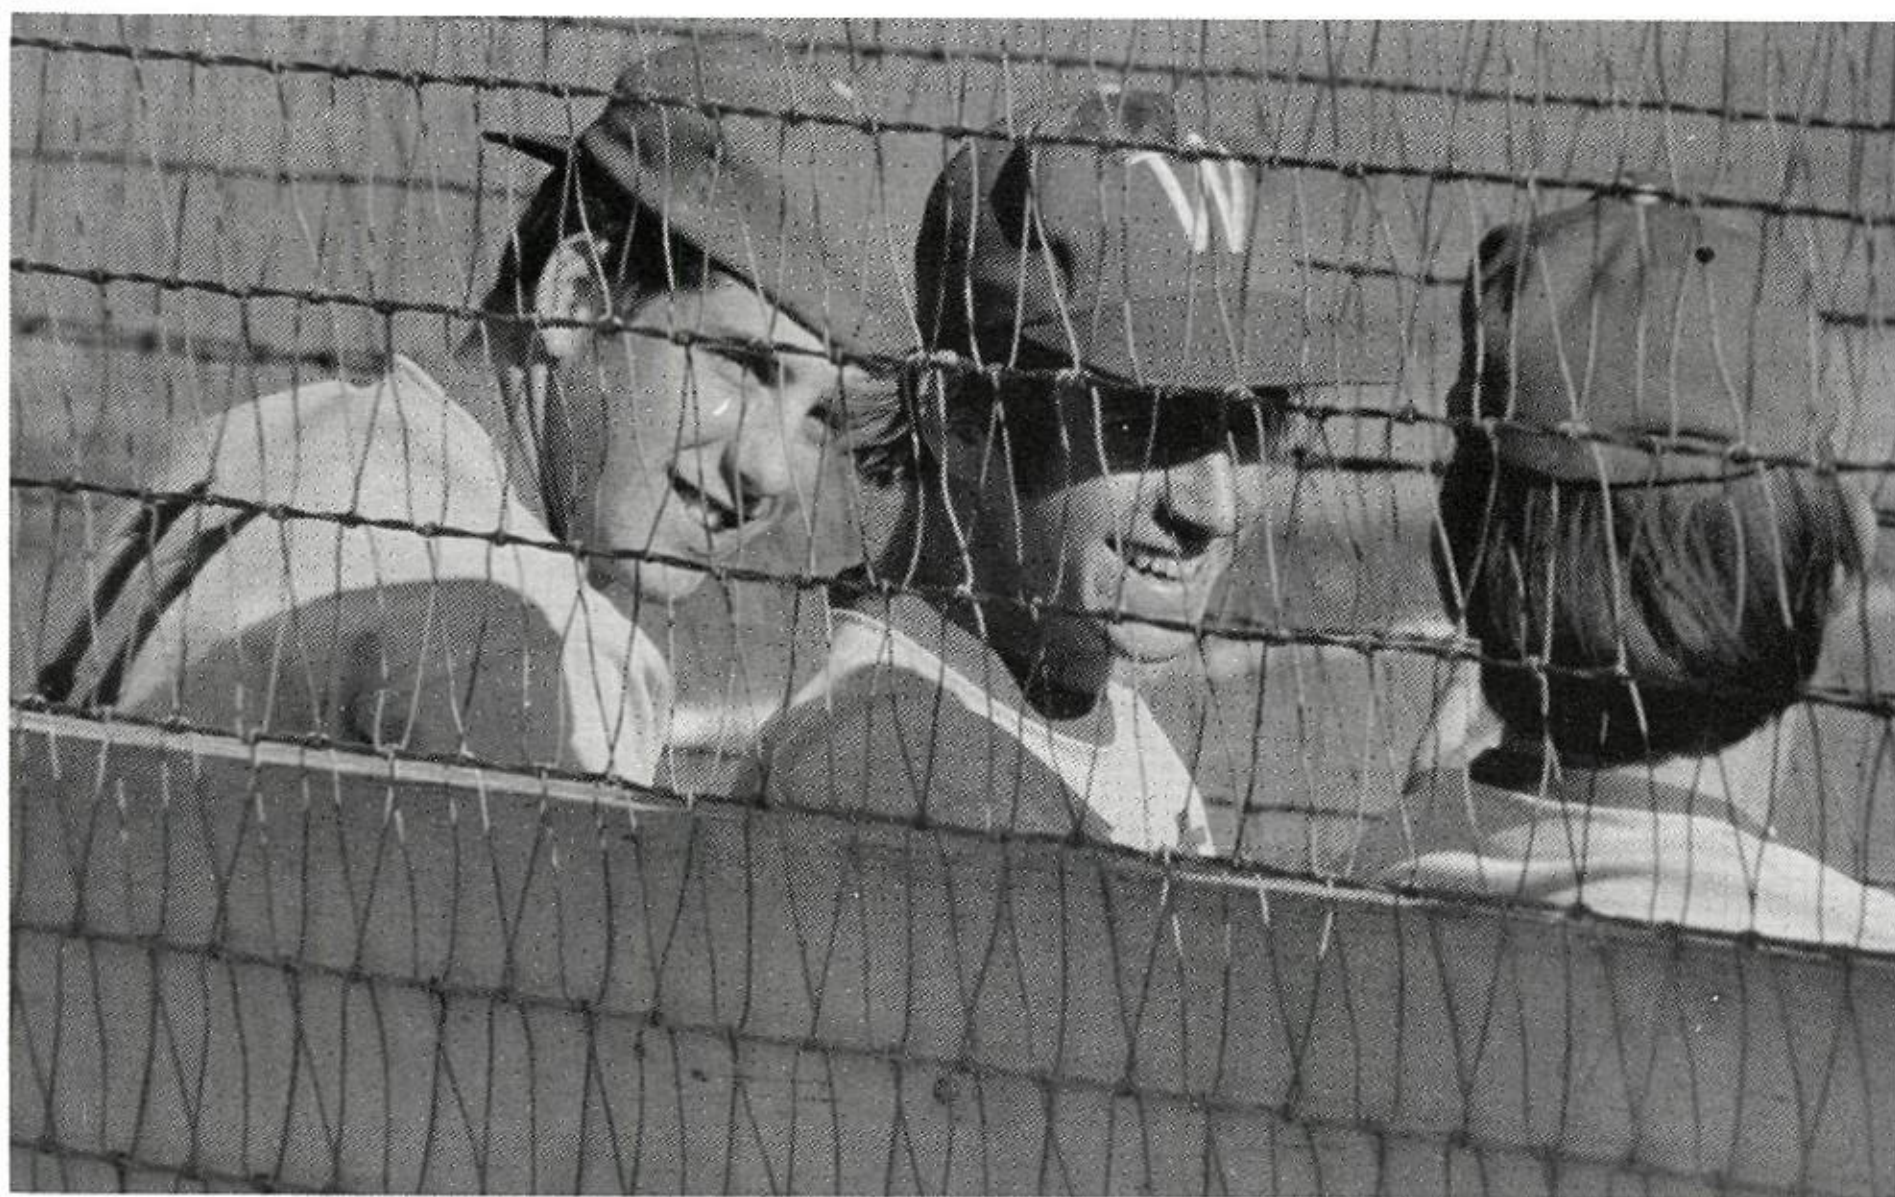

The 1973 Baseball season brought good news with a little bad news. The happy part was that, with a largely inexperienced squad, Woodrow tied with Hillcrest, 3-8, in the North Zone for 3rd place. Disappointingly, they were eliminated from district play. Out of the top 18 baseball players, only 3 were seniors. Letterman David Stubblefield returned as top hitter with a .333 batting average. At Crusader press time the '74 baseball season was just getting underway. Their first district game was March 12.

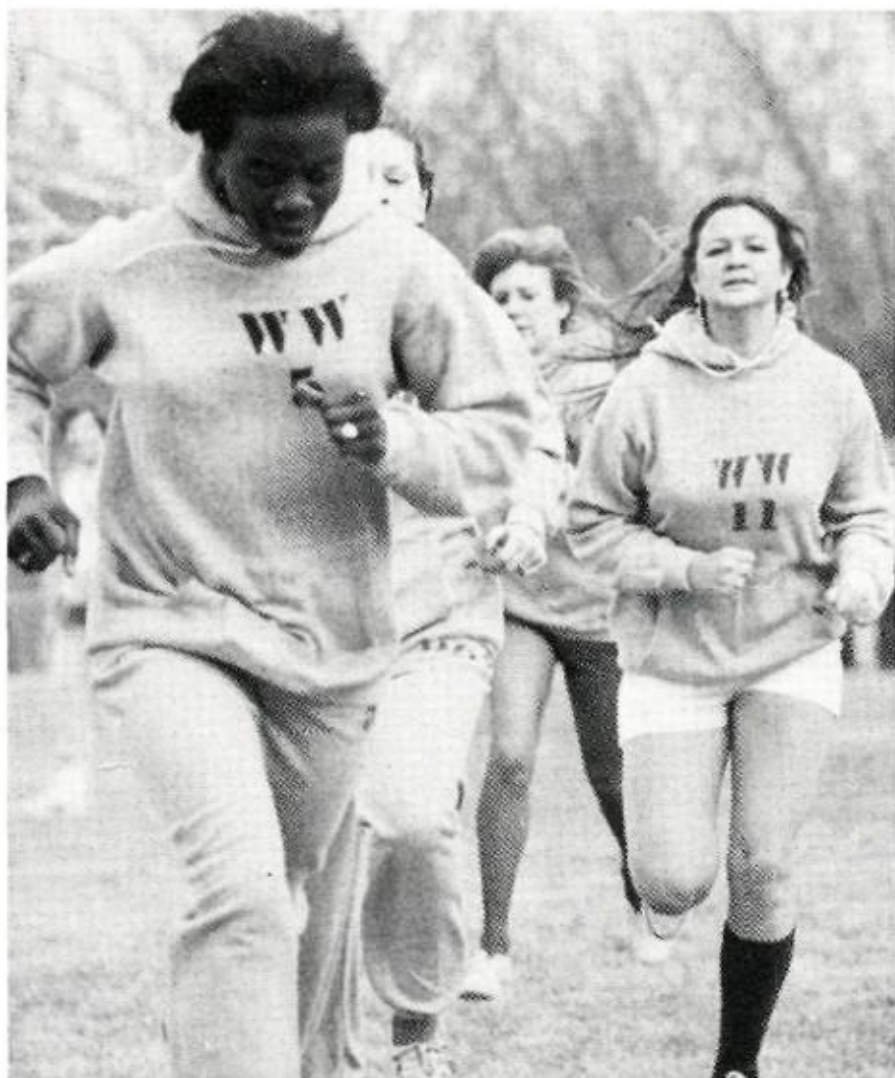

Paul Bozarth, regular 1973 shortstop, sometimes took his place at the mound. Evidently the right position of his tongue helped the ball to curve inside.

Girls Compete in Track, Field Events

One not only found the boys track team, but the new girls track team running around the football practice field every day this spring. This year girls' competitive sports included track and field events. The girls, coached by Miss G. Addington, practiced during seventh period and after school. They practiced regular running sports and participated in district meets. Woodrow was in District 8, and this district furnished uniforms and warm-up jerseys. The meets started in March, and April 9-10 was the date of the district meet at Dallas Loos field house. Some of the events were the 220-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 60-yard dash and the 440 relay. Some of the girls competed in the running long jump and the shot put.

Pam Prendergast is in the first stages of making a running long jump.

Twenty-nine Report for Track and Field

There were twenty-nine young men on the 1974 track and field team who were specialists at sprinting, distance running, hurdling, putting the shot, broad jumping, high jumping, pole vaulting, and throwing the discus.

Early in September, the Wildcats ranked seventh among the fifteen teams entered in the first practice meet at Jesuit High School. Randy Cooley held the district 11-AAAA championship for the shot put. The mile relay team went to regional in 1973. David Maggi, member of cross country team, placed fifteenth in regional and fourth in city, and Bruce Saxton came in ninth in city competition. In the sophomore races James Baker came in seventh, and Scott Alford was eighth.

Returning lettermen were David Dunlap, Cotton Tolnay, David Maggi, and Mike Yeatman.

Coach L. Newhouse, who coached the track team in his first year, said he had a strong sophomore team and an aggressive varsity team and that he had good hopes for this season and next season also.

Far out in the lead, Cotton Tolnay evidently has a sure win over his Greenville opponent, a couple of paces behind.

Boys' Swim Team Breaks Old Records

After completing a flip-turn, Craig Woods continues another lap of free style during workouts at Alamo pool.

Breaking old records in swimming and diving was one of the goals that the boys' swim team set for themselves at the beginning of the season. Senior Bill Mason led the team by setting five new school records. Last year at the state meet he was awarded all-state honors in the 100-yard breast stroke, leading scorer with 67 points, and was runner-up for high point honors at Dolphin Relays at Lubbock. Also outstanding was Sam Harrington in the 100-yard butterfly. Miles Sherrin in the 500-yard free-style set a new school record. Fred Secker also set a new school record in the 100-yard back stroke, while senior Jimmy Jones set a new record in the 200-yard medley relay and the 400-yard free-style relay. In diving, Brad Welch set a new dual meet record in the one-meter diving event, with 208 points. Promising sophomores were James LeCour, Joe Jones, Brent Synder, Joel Akin, and Bill Fosmire.

In district competition the boys finished with season record of five wins and one loss. The season record was 6-2. The boys 200-yard medley relay team, along with Bill Mason in individual events, had a good chance to go to state, said Coach R. Green.

Girls' Swim Team Remains Undefeated

Undefeated the Woodrow Wilson girls' swim team cinched the district championship with 7 wins and no losses.

Leading the team in first place was Romona Crane, the senior captain. She was a finalist in city diving competition, placing fifth. Outstanding junior swimmers were Sally Goodson, Ginger Ehrhardt, Devon Fulbright, Lynn Laceky, and Donna Berry. The strong sophomore swimmers were Lou Ann Moore, Monica Benoit, Sondra Griffin, Geneva Degenhart, and Cindy Lopez. Managing the team were Dusty Kunkle and Michelle Vaughan.

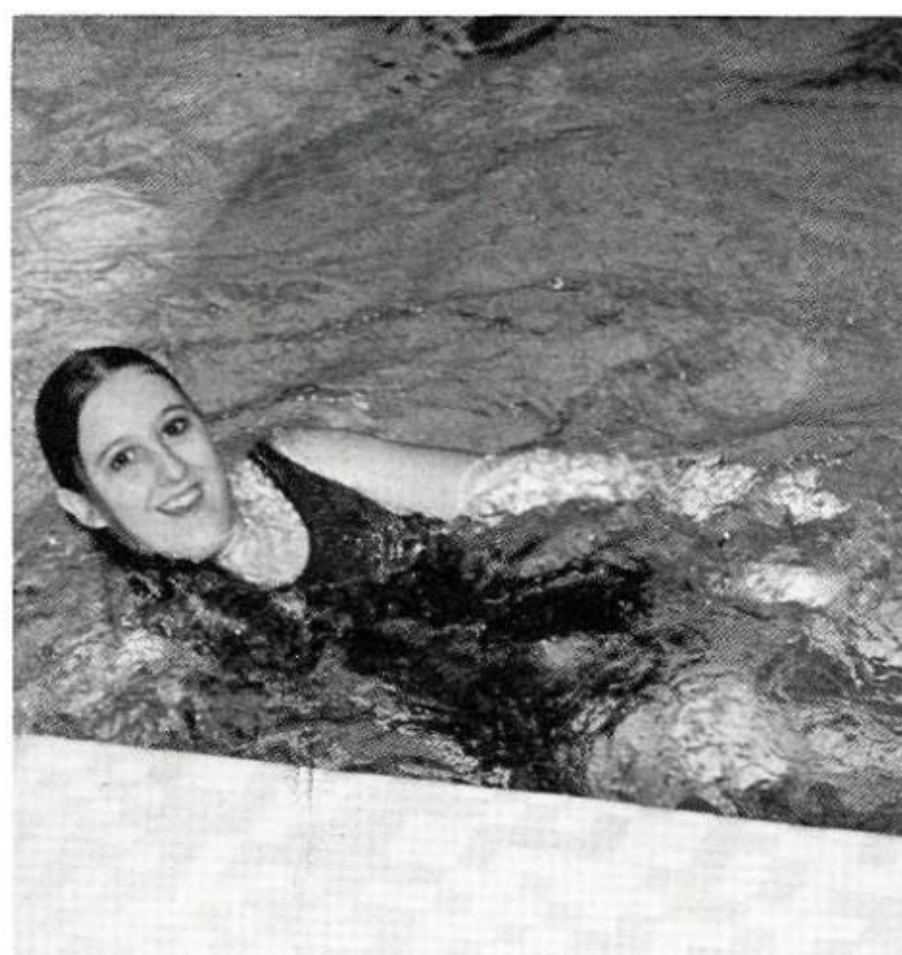

All the members pulled together, working well as a team. This team work resulted in many first, second, and third place wins in team events. "The girls were a surprisingly strong young team and should be a much stronger team next year," said Robert Green, swim coach.

Keeping track of timings and new records is the job of Coach R. Green and manager Michelle Vaughan, as Leslie Folsom looks on.

Tennis Team Swings Into Action

The Wildcat tennis team, composed mainly of sophomores, was in a building stage. The two returning lettermen were Ricky Williams and Glenn Tate. Kyle Smith and Barbara Fugate were the girls who lettered last year.

After sixth period, one found the tennis team out practicing at Randall and Samuell Parks. The deluxe courts at Samuell-Grand Park was the location for official matches in the school area. The season officially opened in late February, after the CRUSADER went to press.

According to coach Ernest Scotch, this year's tennis team looked very promising and he expects to have some players in district and regional competition.

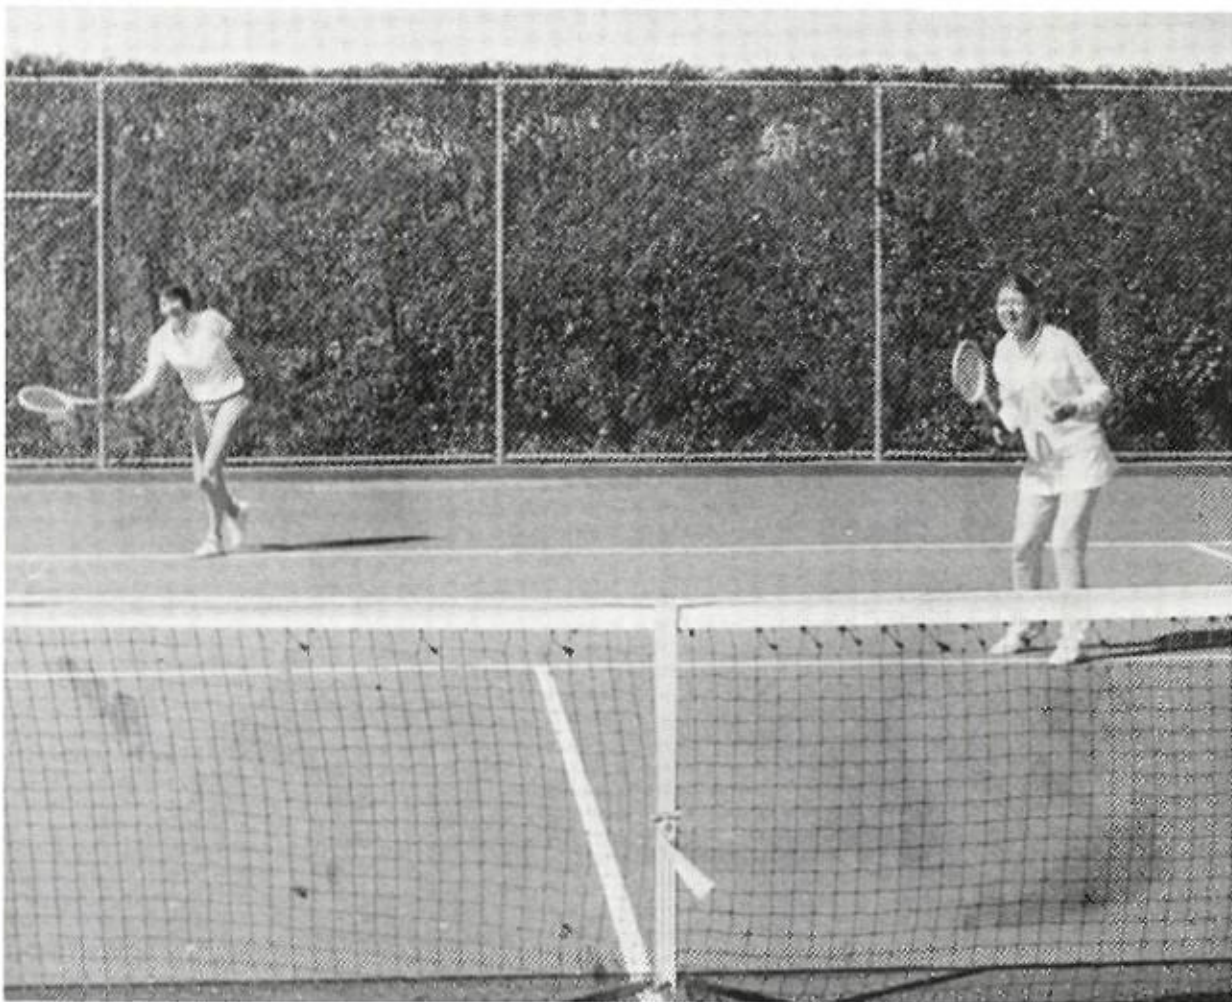

Last year the team tied for second place in district. In the first two season matches they won and had a shut out, 4-0, in the second match against Spruce. With the new sophomore players and returning senior and junior players, the goal they set for themselves was the district championship.

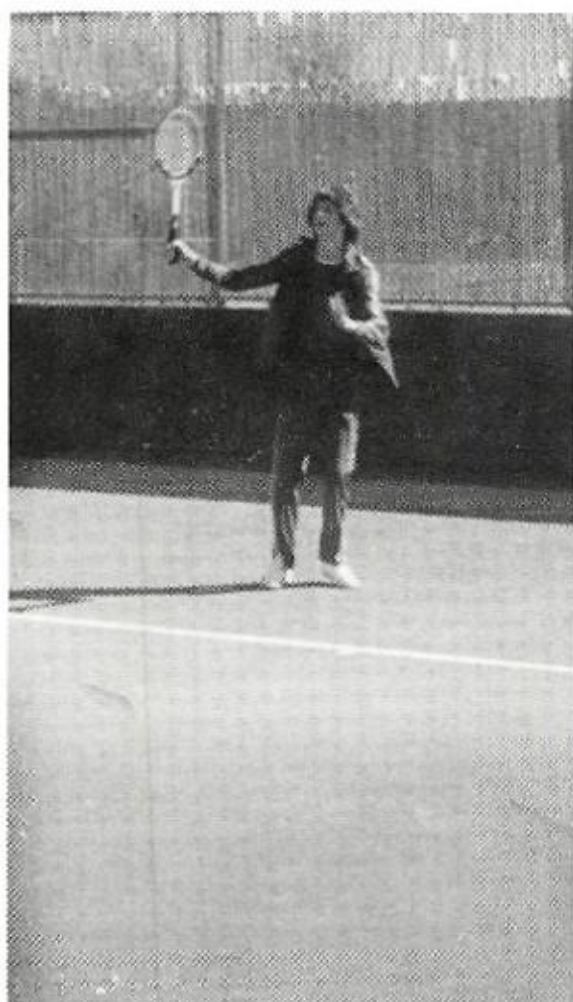

Showing good form, Barbara Fugate finishes a good serve.

Golfers Improving Each Year, Says Coach

Eleven young men reported for the 1973-74 Woodrow Wilson golf team. The three returning lettermen included two seniors, Jim Harwood and David Sword, and a junior, Jake Metzger. In Coach Raymond Mattingly's opinion, "this year's golf team is doing better than in the last two years." Co-captains for the linksters were seniors Jim Harwood and David Sword.

Coach Raymond Mattingly held high hopes for winning city championship for Woodrow in golf, as the CRUSADER went to the publisher. Several of the players showed their ability to shoot in the nineties. The top six golfers were David Sword, Jim Harwood, Mike McQuistion, Stanley Smith, Jake Metzger, and Kent Frank, whose individual performances, as well as effective team play, show marked finesse.

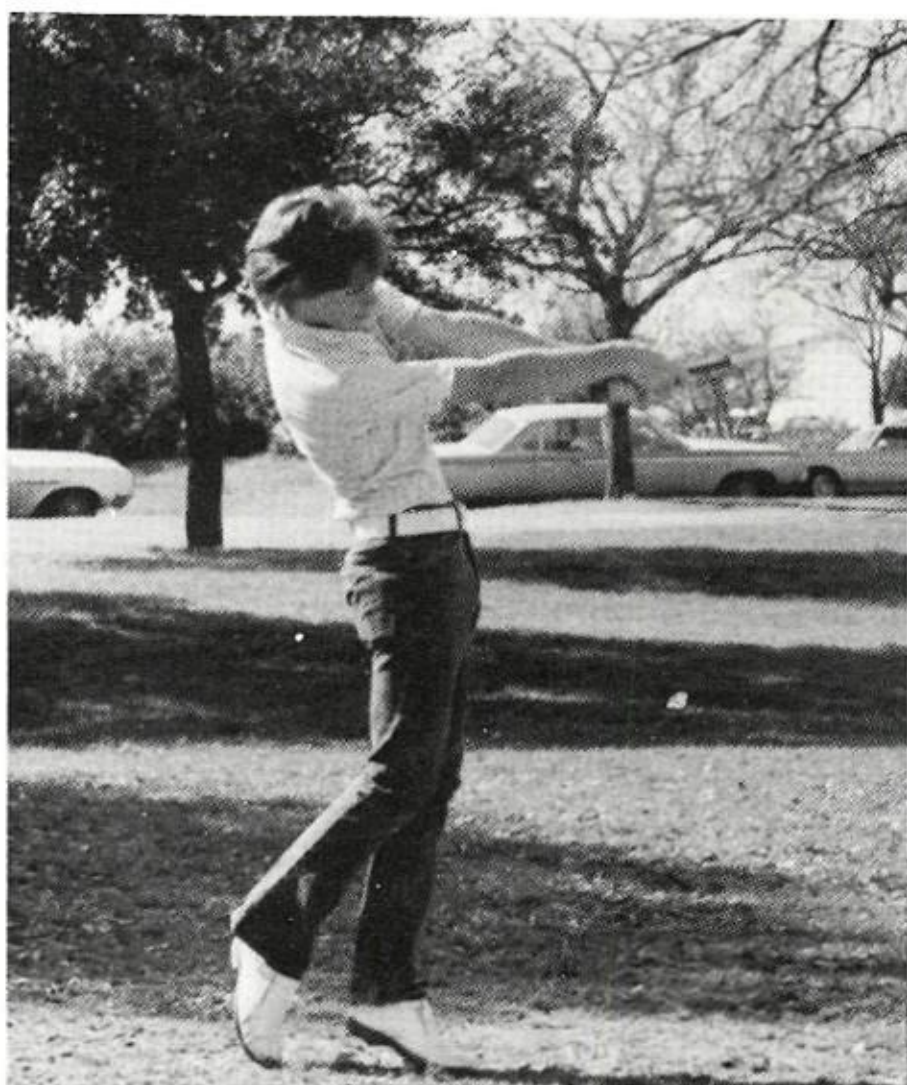

David Sword won the Dallas Times Herald award for the 17-year-age championship in the fall of 1973.

Wildcats Impressive in Soccer Conference

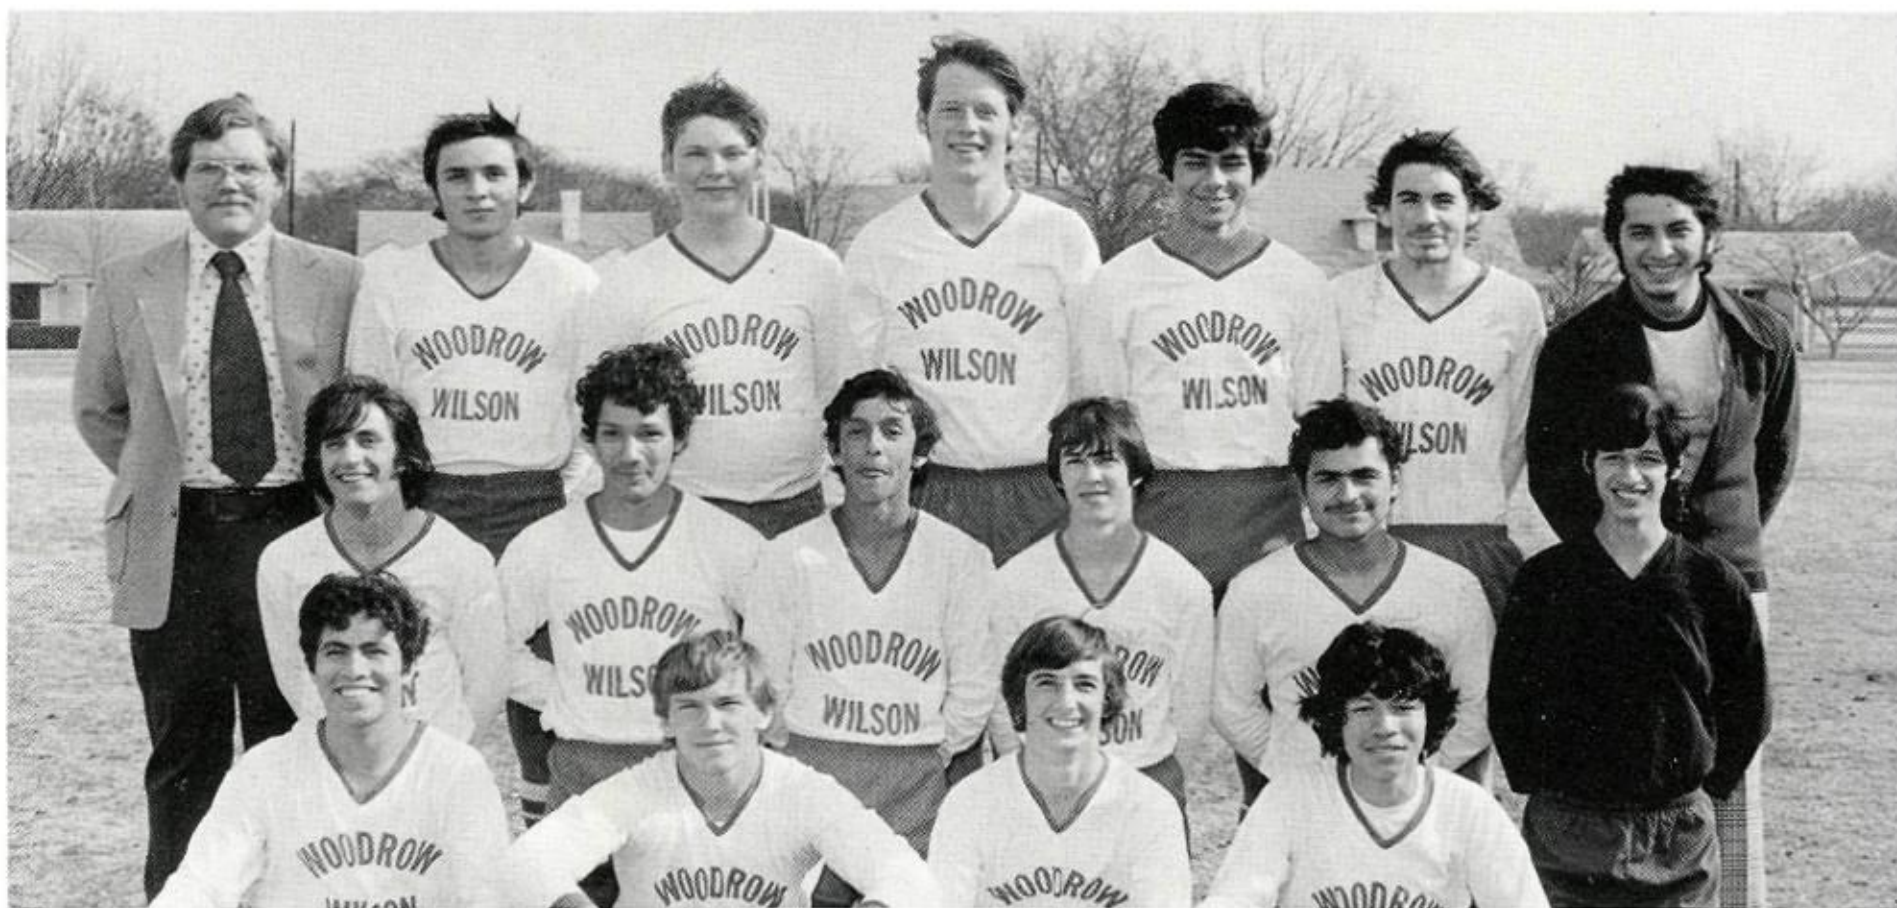

The school year 1973-74 was the first year soccer was offered in Dallas as an interscholastic sport with an official conference. The Woodrow Wilson soccer squad, called together by Coach James Kelly, was basically an inexperienced group with only four players having ever been involved in the sport.

At season's end, however, there were twenty-one soccer players on the Wildcat team, and they boasted an impressive 10-4-1 finish. One of the experienced players, Pete Spiros, was a leading point scorer in the city with twenty-eight goals. Other outstanding players on offense were Eddie Aranda, George Palmer, and Danny Hejl. The defense, which allowed only four losses for the season, included such outstanding players as Mike Yeatman, Sergio de la Garza, and Eusebio Landa.

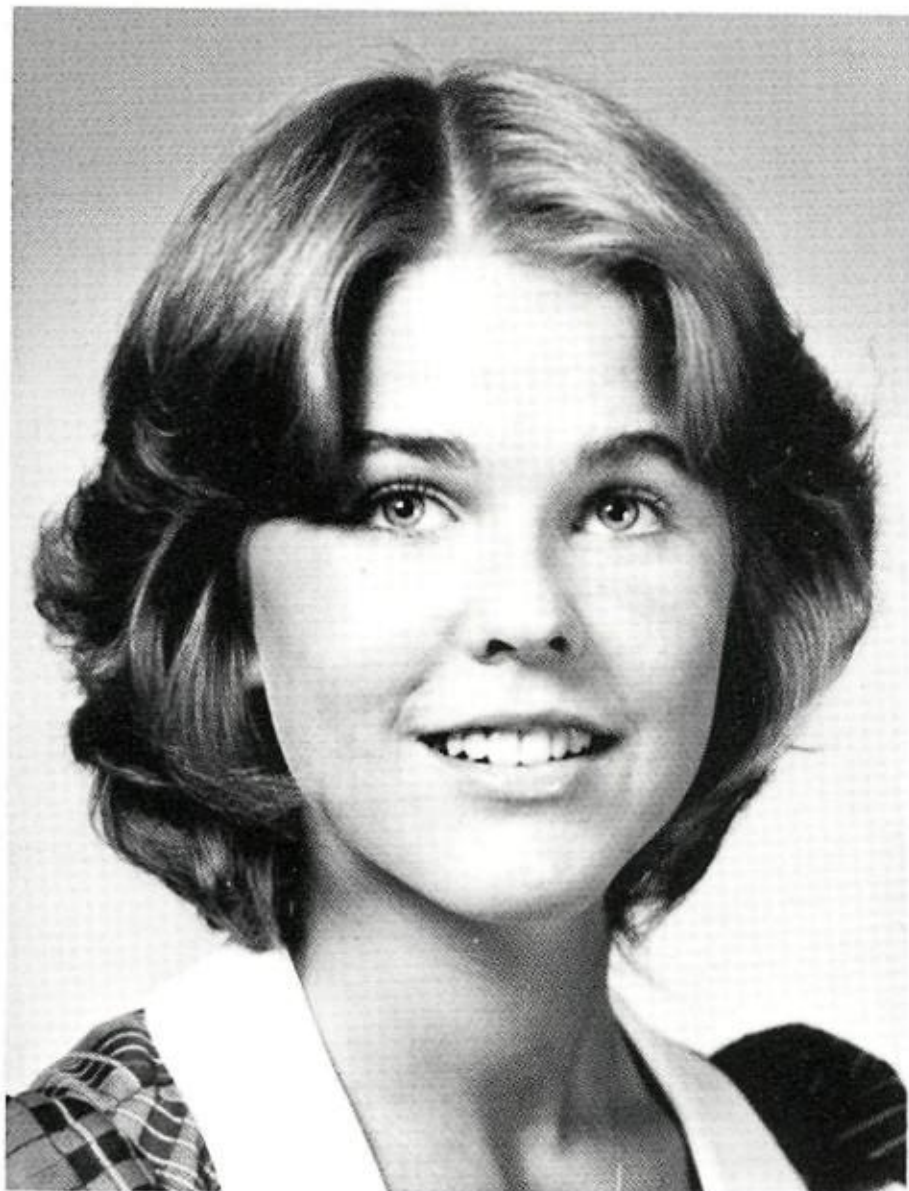

Nine lettermen will be returning next year for another hard hitting season. In Coach Kelly's opinion "the most gratifying game was the last one, against Hillcrest, in which Pete Spiros scored two goals against an All-American goal keeper, who had allowed only three goals previously."

"Can't be too careful," thinks Gwen Williams, measuring her distance for a flip.

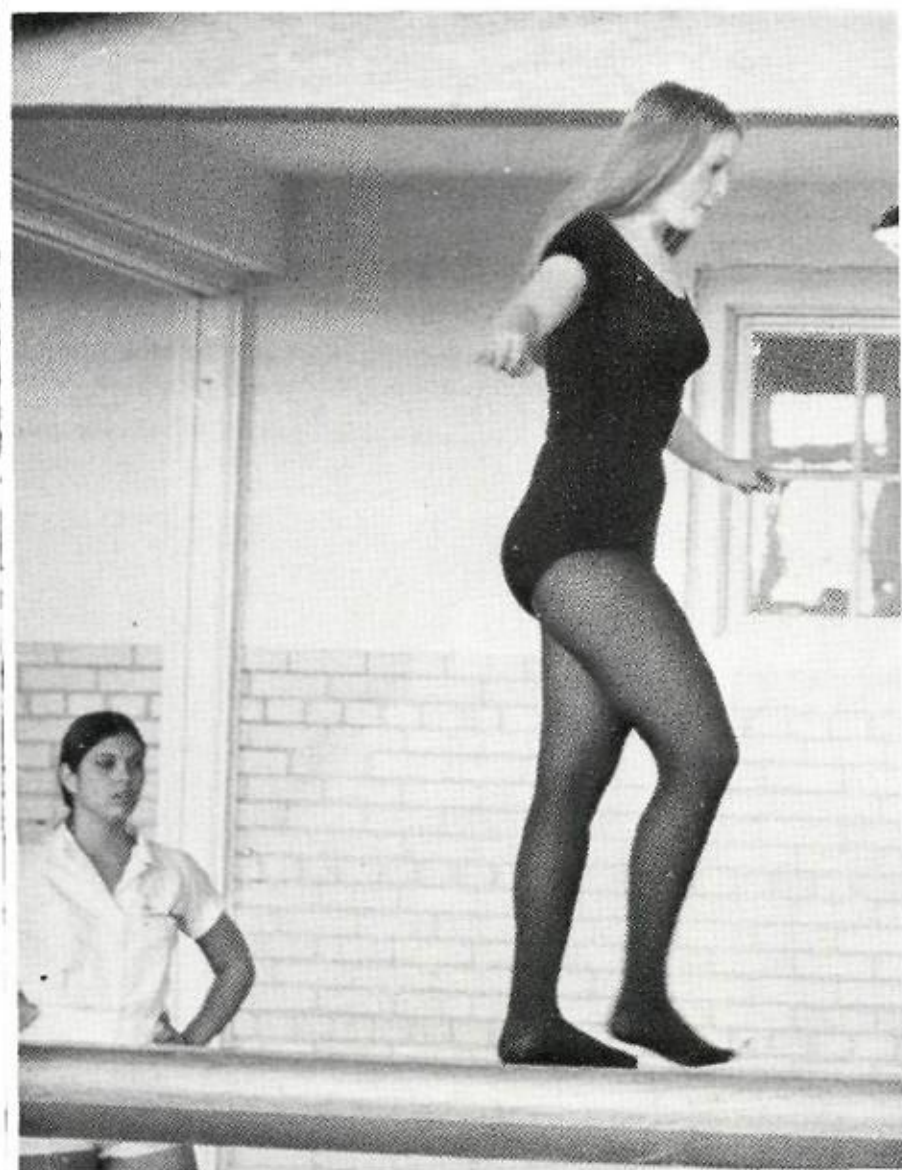

Gymnastics Attract Junior, Senior Girls

Something new in girls' physical education this year was the gymnastics class. This class, which met fourth period Tuesdays and Thursdays, was set up for all junior and senior girls who experimented with gymnastics last year in regular P.E. classes. According to Miss G. L. Addington, sponsor, girls interested do not have to have any special qualifications, but must be "ready, willing, and able." Class time is used to learn various acrobatic stunts and practice them. All the girls who are especially interested practice every day, instead of on alternate days.

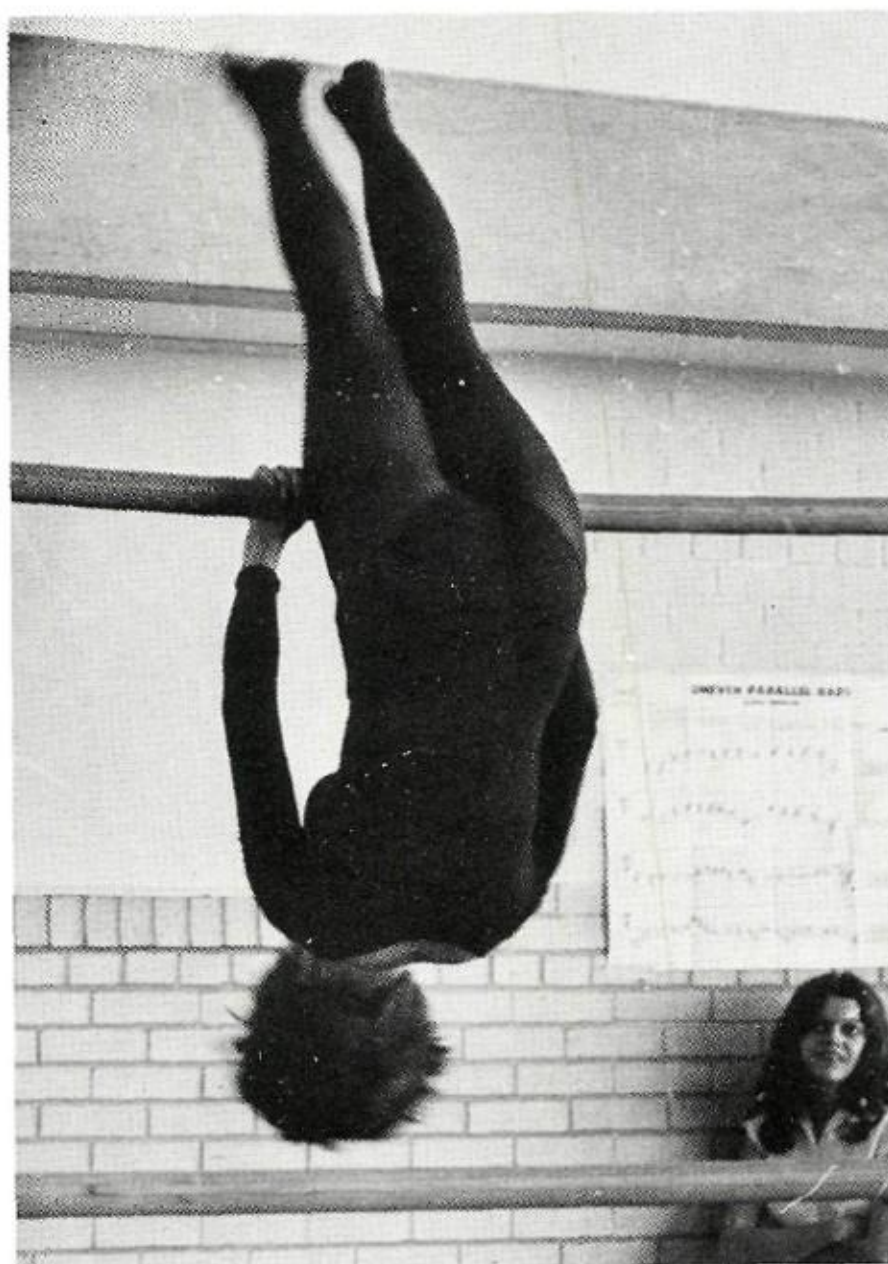

Later in the school year some of the girls competed in Dallas District 1 with Hillcrest, W. T. White, and Thomas Jefferson High Schools. Some of the events that took place were competition in uneven parallel bars, balance beam, and vaulting horse. The girls will also perform in floor exercises and tumbling routines.

Donna Aymond keeps the lower uneven-parallel-bar in sight as she prepares to do a flip in gymnastics class.

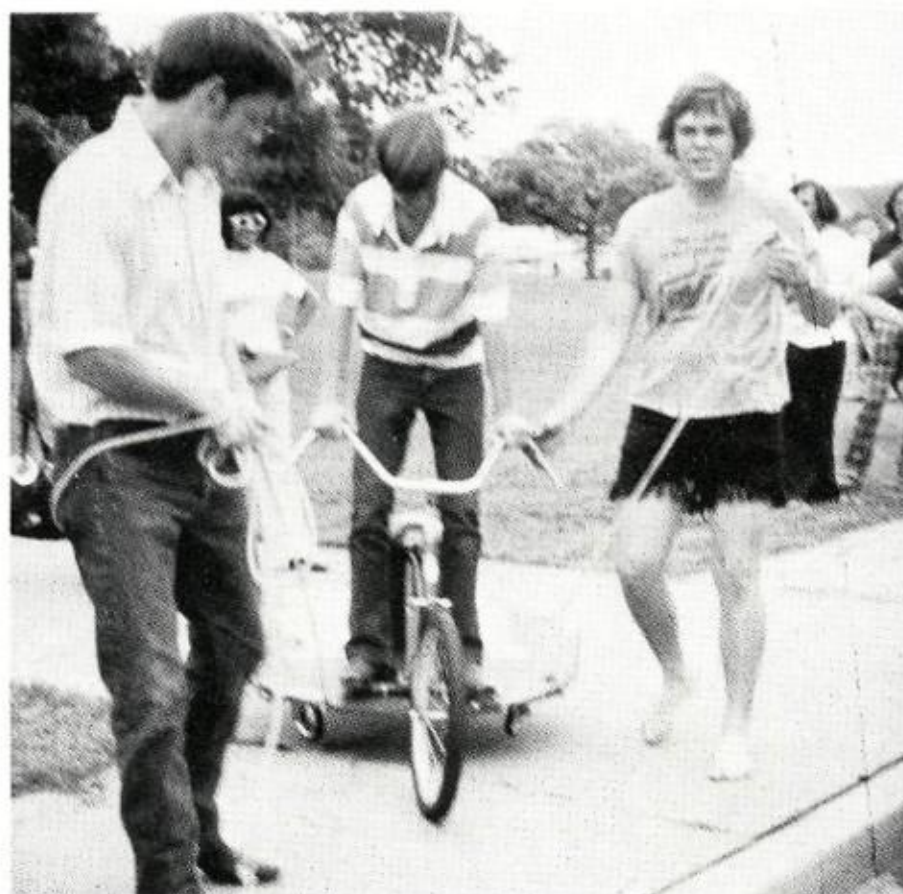

Lennie Clay shows her equilibrium on the balance beam, while Cindy Herb, paying close attention, spots for her.

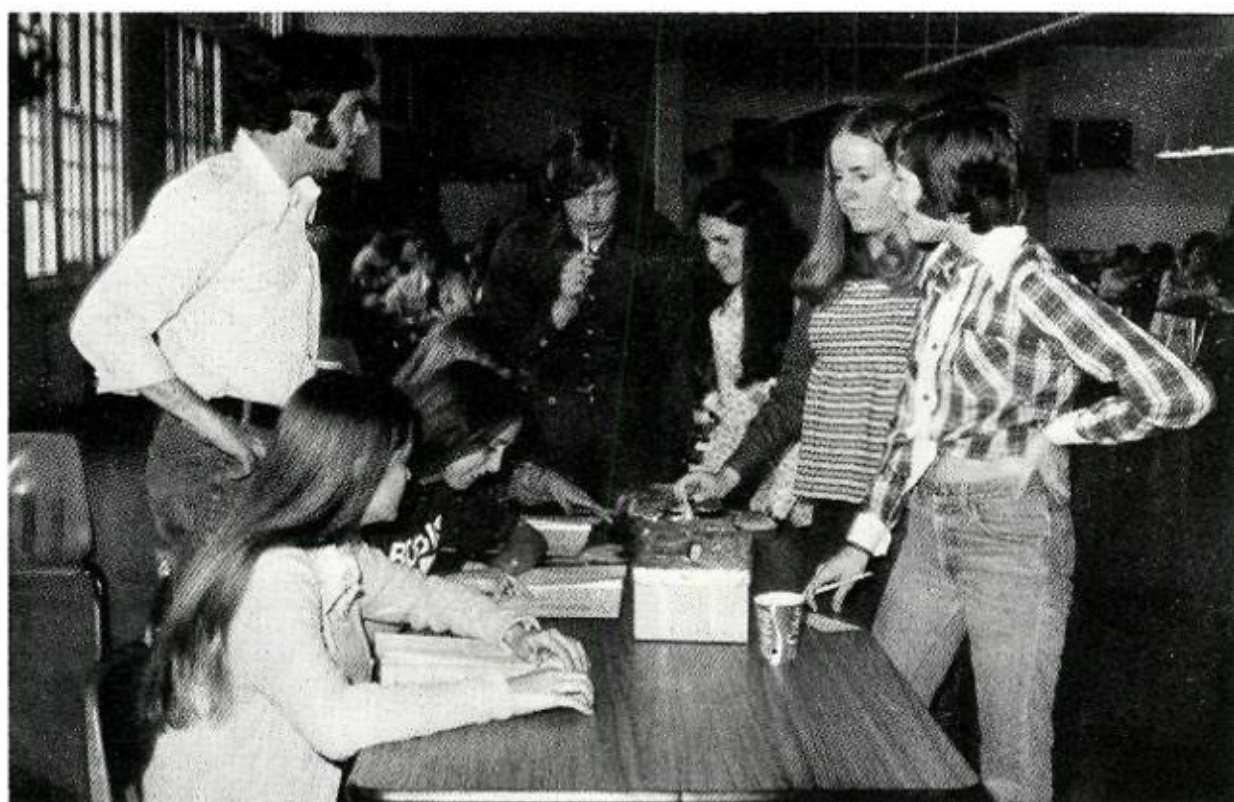

Some of these routines are upsetting, as witness the one Michelle Inness is performing on the uneven-parallel-bars.

Student Council Members Attend Abilene Lab

Officers of the Student Council for the 1974 School Year Are: Brad Welch, Vice-President, Sandra Hodgson, Secretary, and David Dunlap, President.

A Life Leadership Lab was held on the Dallas Campus of Abilene Christian College for the planning of a new school year. For two days, August 8th and 9th, eleven Student Council members, three sponsors, and Mr. Pierce exchanged ideas with student leaders and sponsors from over the state for improving the school in 1973-74.

Building stronger school spirit, unity, and faith were the aspirations of the Student Council. Among the projects taken on by this organization were the Homecoming celebrations in November, Senior Class Officer elections in October, and Cheerleader elections in December.

In an all-day effort, these industrious students tallied votes and brought results to the expectant student body. With the coming of January, the attention of the Elections Committee turned toward the choosing of Class Favorites for the 1973-74 school year.

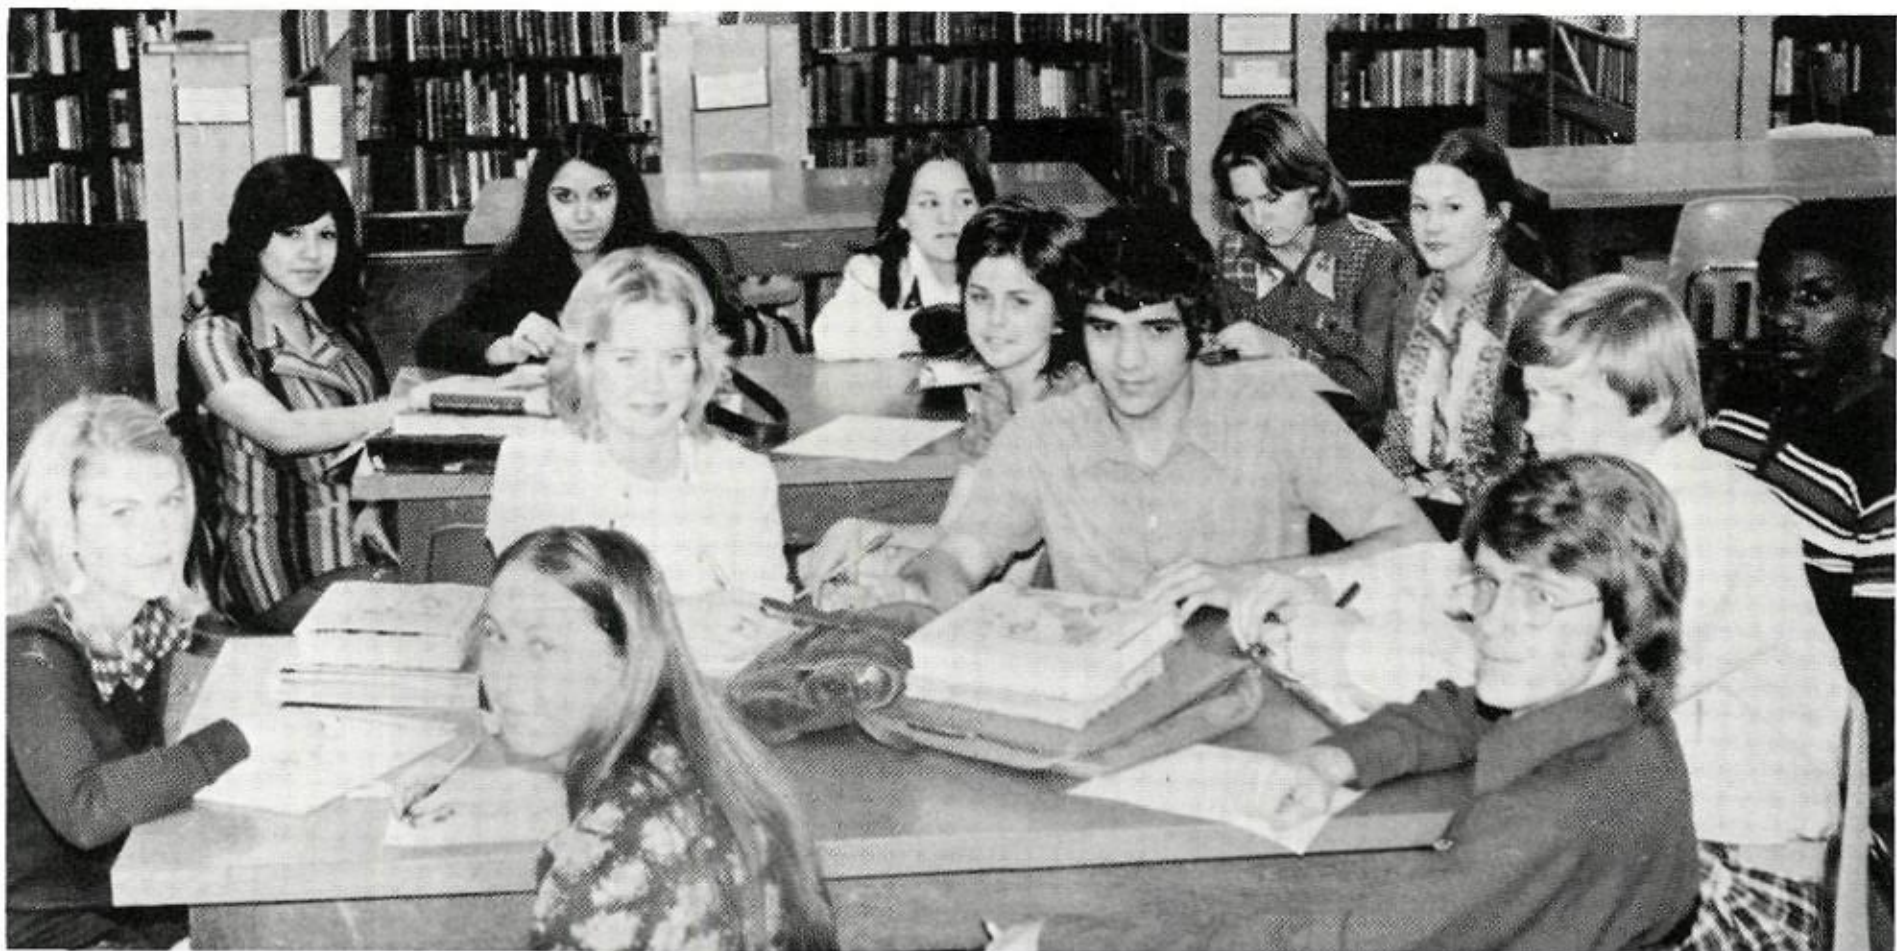

Describing this organization early in the school year, President David Dunlap, stated, "Qualities of leadership are of the utmost importance in the accomplishment of one's goals. Finding ways to reach these goals is the duty of the Student Council."

Keyettes a First for Dallas Schools

The Keyettes, the newest service club for girls, had a busy first year at Woodrow. The club, associated with the Kiwanis and the Key Club for boys, is the first ever for girls in the history of the Dallas School District.

The Key Club and Keyettes worked together this year, instead of independently. They sponsored fussball tournaments, the Mystery Wildcat and car decorating contests, and money making projects, such as a pancake sale for the Woodrow Students.

Any girls who are interested in the Keyettes may join the club. The officers were Patti Thurmond, president; Patty Peterson, vice-president; Eleanor Luecke, secretary; and Cherry Brown, treasurer.

Among the many activities of the Key Club of Woodrow this year was a Christmas program for the Kiwanis, Pancake Fry for the students of Woodrow, the making of a school movie, helping the East Dallas Kiwanis Club redecorate a Boys' Club building, and attending a convention in San Antonio during the month of April. In addition to all this, selected delegates attended luncheons with the Kiwanis Club every Thursday.

Many splendid arrays of foods were served at the International Club meetings. Club activities began early in the year with the German Oktoberfest. German delicacies were set out to be enjoyed by all. This was just the beginning of the presentation of many different national customs to the club. These meetings were held the last Monday evening of every month at the members' homes.

Organizing the club's activities this year were the officers:

Frank Everts, president; Martha Watts, vice president; Shelley Lundy, secretary; Nina Cook, treasurer. Although the school did not have any foreign exchange students, the officers felt the overall club program was a success.

Area Hospitals Employ T.A.H.O.S. Members

Students interested in a career in the field of health were organized into a club called T.A.H.O.S. The Texas Association of Health Occupation Students was sponsored by Mrs. Coralea Hobson, who helped to find jobs with the hospitals of Dallas. This was not an easy task, but every member of TAHOS was able to get a worthwhile position. The hospitals that participated in this program were St. Paul, Dallas Osteopathic, Presbyterian, Bristol General, and East Town Osteopathic. Jobs for these students varied from that of Nurse Aide to Laboratory Technician to Dental Assistant. Activities that the students participated in included field trips, officer elections, state and area contests, and a state convention at Six Flags Over Texas.

P.A.S.F. Used Point System Successfully

Earning money was of the utmost importance this year in Pan American Student Forum. The members tried to earn enough money to attend their annual state convention in San Antonio in March. Only a certain number were allowed to attend the convention. The delegates were chosen on a point system, with each member receiving points for attending meetings, selling candy, and for various other activities.

This year's officers were elected during the previous year so that the club could become active early in the school term.

One of the club's various service projects was their annual Christmas party at the Elmer Scott Recreational Center for needy children in West Dallas. Refreshments were served along with the traditional Mexican piñata. The children were also led by one of the members in singing Christmas carols.

Little Theatre's Key Word Entertainment

Entertainment was Little Theatre's main objective this year. The members took many trips to dinner theatres, such as Country Dinner Playhouse, and to major play productions. Many plays were seen throughout the year, and parties were given as an added attraction.

This year Little Theatre was revived and, according to Mrs. McBride, sponsor, has prospered very well. The officers were elected early in the fall and an advisory committee was formed. The officers this year were David Dunlap, president; Neil McCoy, vice president; and Cherry Brown, secretary. The advisory committee helped the officers in selecting suitable entertainment.

Fifteen Percent in Honor Society

In February, after consideration and vote by the faculty, and after much mathematical calculation, three percent of the junior class and twelve percent of the senior class were chosen for the Woodrow chapter of the National Honor Society. The qualities of scholarship, leadership, service and character were considered in selecting the members on February 25.

Sponsors Mrs. Martha Timm and Mrs. Ann McSpadden were responsible for conducting the evaluation by teachers and for the presentation of the induction ceremony. Senior members from last year had a part in the formal ceremony. A picnic for all members was held in the spring.

Work Began Early for Crusader Staff

Long hours and hard work were the main order of business in the Crusader Staff room. Work began in the spring of 1973 when the '73-'74 staff was chosen. Every Friday morning at 7:45 the new annual members met and prepared for the long road ahead. They studied basic principles of yearbook production and chose their yearbook theme and format during these meetings. Also chosen were the various section editors and editor-in-chief.

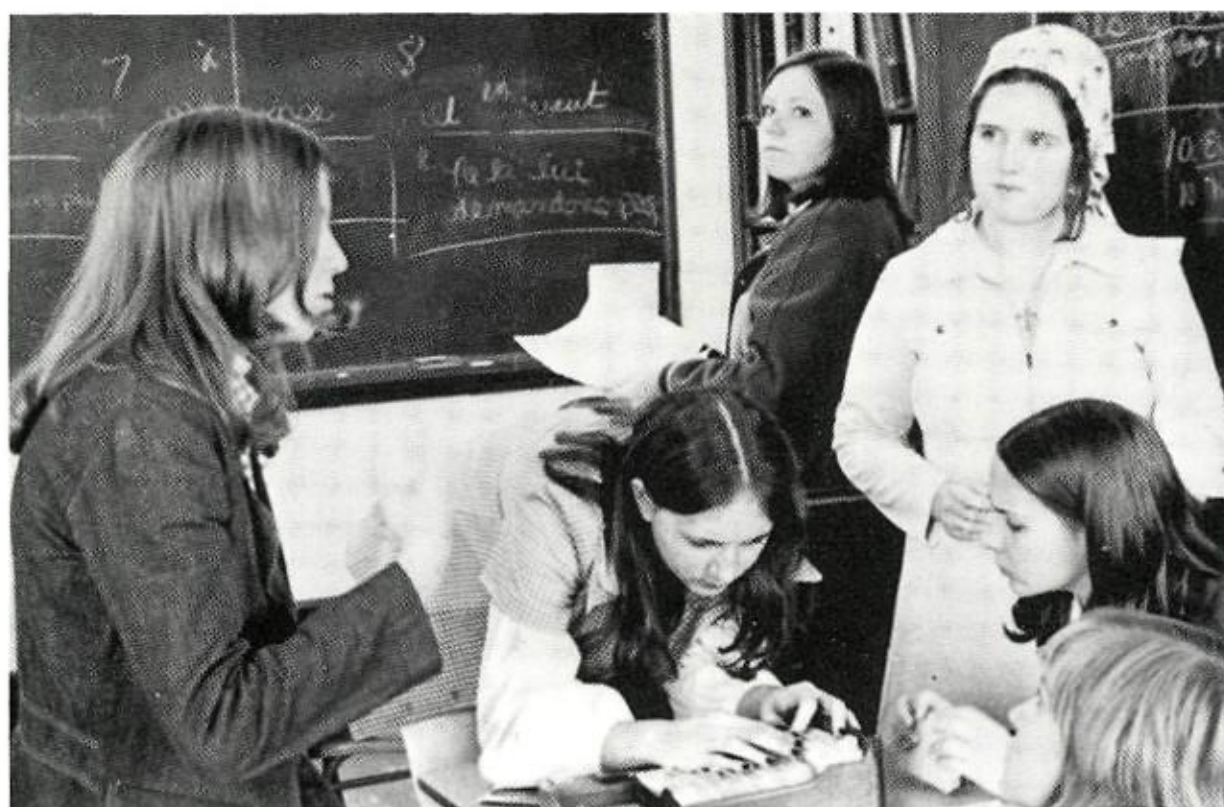

The Southern Methodist University Summer Workshop, was attended in August, 1973, by several members of the staff. "The techniques taught and the guidance given at the workshop proved to be invaluable to the staff this year," said editor-in-chief Gerry Worrall.

Newspaper Gives Loot to Boost Sales

"Wanta win $5.00 or a free football ticket, or a yard of bubble gum?" These, or similar "pitches" were often heard throughout the year over the loud speaker when the WILDCAT, Woodrow's newspaper, went on sale. Each paper was numbered and the lucky numbers were drawn in the principal's office. The WILDCAT was on sale once a month for 25 cents.

Journalism instructor, Mr. Dale Smith, praised the great response he received this year from the student body. "This year's newspaper staff has been composed of very diligent workers who have been great to work with," said the WILDCAT sponsor. The paper is prepared for publication in journalism classes and a special newspaper period. Many staff members have planned to go on and major in journalism in college.

Theft, Spying Pub's Pursuit

Juicy gossip and embarrassing secrets were told about all the seniors this year in the Senior Publication. The "Pub," took small tales and blew them up to a size that would fit their booklet. Anyone could contribute to this by dropping information about themselves or their friends into a box placed in the lunchroom. Each piece of material was sorted and verified (not too strictly) for its authenticity and placed in the Senior Pub. This year's editor, David Lyndon, was in charge of the "polluting" publication, as it has been called.

All I.C.T. Students Form V.I.C.A. Club

Taking a brief rest from his many painting duties, Randy Hale has the support of his trusty ladder.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America gave its members a chance to leadership and vocational skills. These students gained valuable on-the-job training as well as half-day classes in academics.

With the beginning of the school year, VICA members selected their club officers. The officers for the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America in 1973-1974 were, Jim Pearson, president, James Quillin, Vice-president, Raymond Morris, secretary, Tim Washington, treasurer, David Zwaska, sergeant at arms, Ellis Washington, reporter, and Robert Benton, parliamentarian.

Club Formed by Two V.O.E. Classes

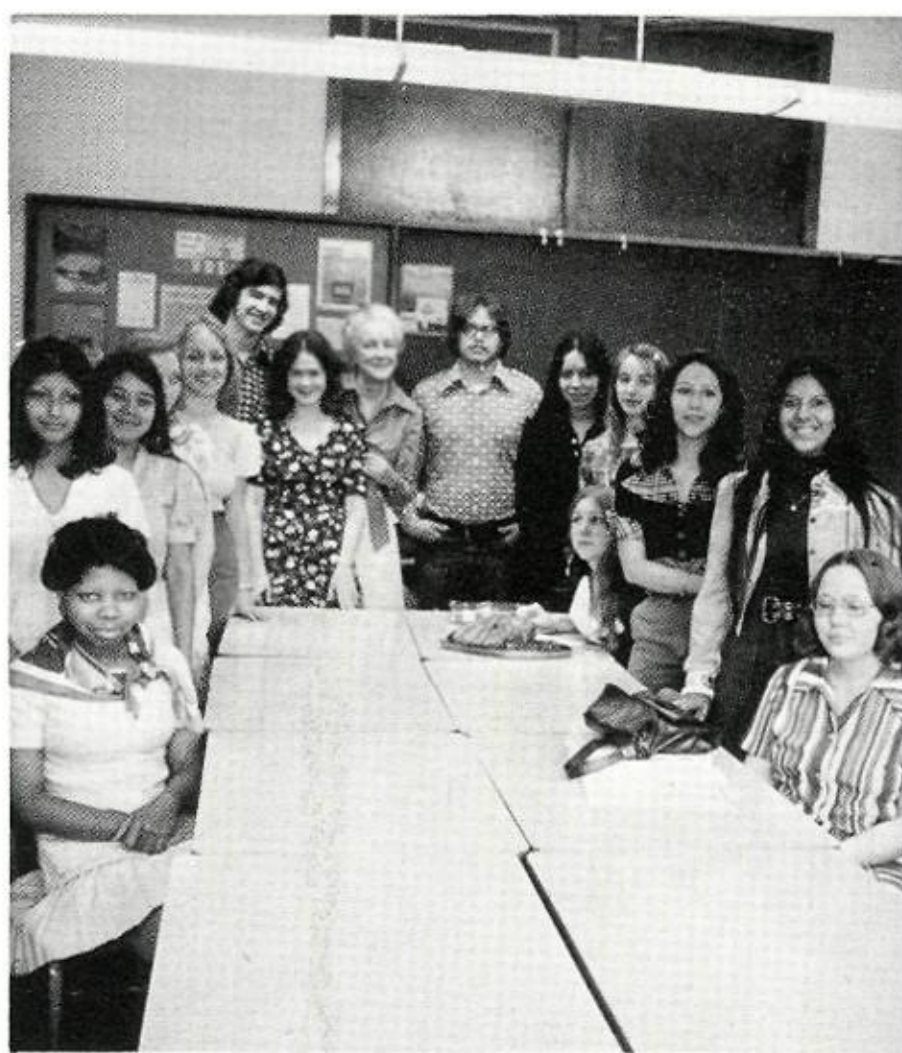

Students interested in careers in the world of business received their training through the Vocational Office Education program. Daily schedules for these students centered around three periods of regular school assignments followed by one-half-day job training. Activities that members of VOE participated in were, area meetings, state meetings and contests. Woodrow Wilson VOE delegates also attended the state competitions held in Austin on April 5th, and 6th. These delegates were, Donna King, Yolanda Castanon, Carmen Esquivel, and Hope Brownlee.

Woodrow Wilson students achieved leadership and responsibility with the experience of working with the Distributive Education program. These students interested in occupations in retailing and merchandising were trained with various Dallas businesses. Among the facilities that participated in this program were: the First National Bank of Dallas, Margo-La Mode, Super-X Drugs, and Safeway and Minyard's food stores. Activities that DECA members participated in included, an area contest at Kilgore Junior College, and state meetings in Dallas.

Red Cross Funds Go for Local Projects

Beginning the school year with an enrollment drive for acquiring new members, the Red Cross made a profit of eighty-four dollars. This fund was used for local projects and a service fund for the membership. Among the projects undertaken by the Red Cross were gifts for patients at the Veteran's Hospital, field trips to the Children's Shelter, garage painting for the city-wide organization, and also a voluntary program with area hospitals and day care centers. During January, the members of the Red Cross entered projects in the city-wide project fair, and the leading five projects were from Woodrow Wilson. Another honor was bestowed upon Woodrow Wilson when Woodrow Red Cross President Lou Ann Hyde and Vice-President Sammy Steed were named possible candidates for a National convention to be held in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Sponsor of the Woodrow Wilson chapter of the Red Cross is Miss Sarah Stovall, who also teaches the homemaking classes.

J.C.T.C. Group Attends Real Court Sessions

One of the many exciting activities of the Junior Citizens Traffic Commission this year was to hold traffic court sessions in downtown Dallas. On October 20, and January 20, the members attended the court sessions and actually carried out the duties of the different court officials.

Any student of Woodrow who is interested in traffic safety may belong to the JCTC. This organization is sponsored by Coach Lucious Newhouse.

Seventy Skaters Try Ice at Fair Park

New among the 1974 extracurricular clubs was the Woodrow Wilson Ice Skating Club. This club was open to any Woodrow student. Seventy-one people signed up.

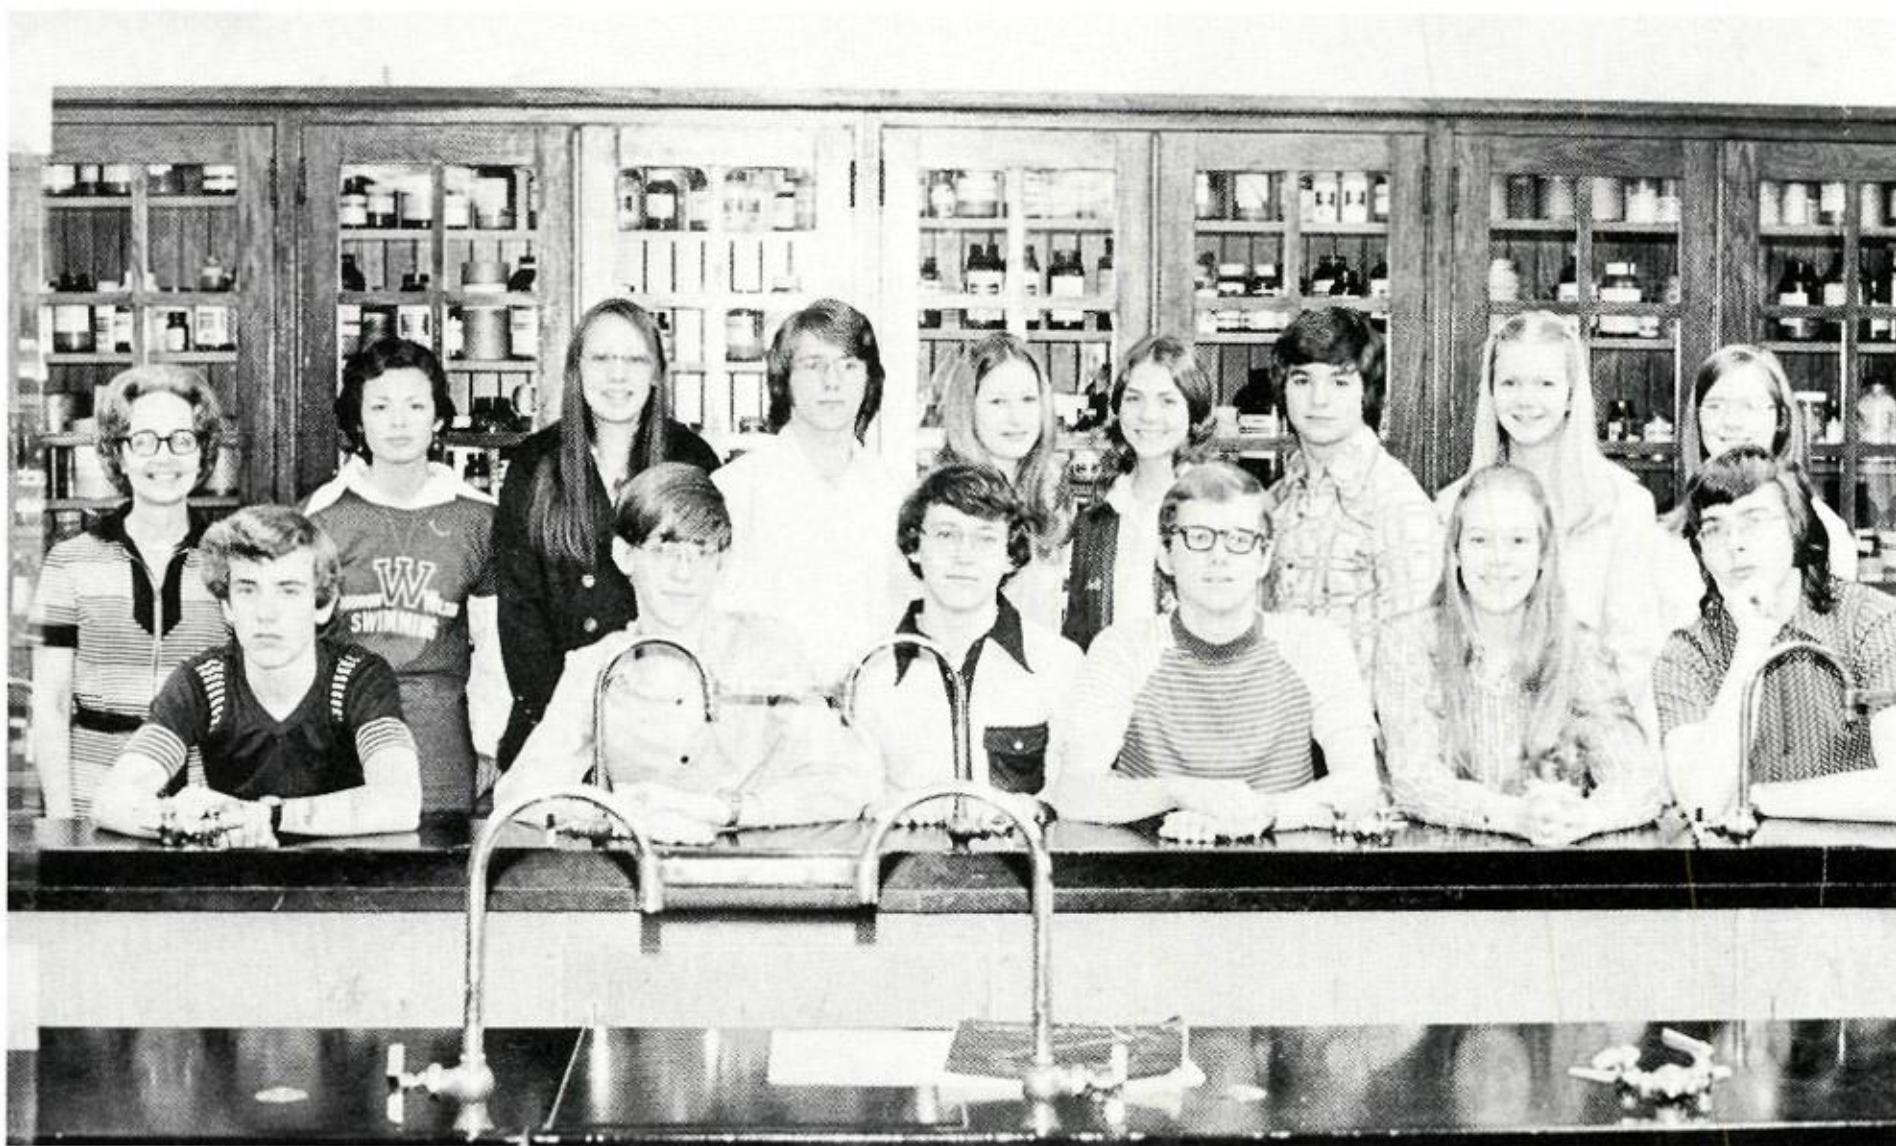

The club members met at the school on Thursday nights and then all drove to the State Fair ice rink. One did not have to know how to skate; there were no lessons but club members helped each other in learning the basics of ice skating. "Mainly it was just a getting together of kids who enjoyed ice skating. It's a unique club in that no dues are charged, and there are no officers — just everyone having a fun time," said Mrs. Martha Timm, the sponsor.

Always willing to lend a hand, both Carl Cain and Frank Everts help to maneuver Lennie Clay across the ice.

Science Club Helps in P.T.A. Paper Drive

Money-making efforts and stimulating interest in scientific questions and studies occupied members of the Science Club this year. Their major money-making project this year was a paper drive, in connection with the P.T.A. In addition, they attended a lecture at the University of Texas at Plano in February, and a science seminar at Bryan Adams High School in March.

Officers were David Lyndon, president; Brad Welch, vice-president; Camille Manning, secretary; Barbara Taylor, treasurer; Paul Morris and Paul Marshall, program directors.

Concert Choir Popular in School, Community

The Woodrow Wilson Concert Choir members attended an all-region workshop at Commerce, Texas, and an all-city Choral Festival. They performed for the student body and the P.T.A. in a very well-received Christmas program and Spring Concert. They sang for the fellowship dinner at Rosemont Christian Church, the Christian Women's Fellowship at St. John's United Methodist Church, and at the Baccalaureate and graduation services for the 1974 senior class of Woodrow.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars enjoyed their singing in November, and the group participated in the United Interscholastic League Concert on March 13. The musical South Pacific was presented to the school on May 2, and 3, and the choir was the "backbone" of this presentation. During the all-region tryouts at Carrollton's R. L. Turner High School in October, Carl Cain was designated second bass.

Carl Cain (Emile de Becque) and Karla Cox (Nellie Forbush) gaze deeply into each other's eyes during a scene in the musical.

Music Department Excels in Pacific

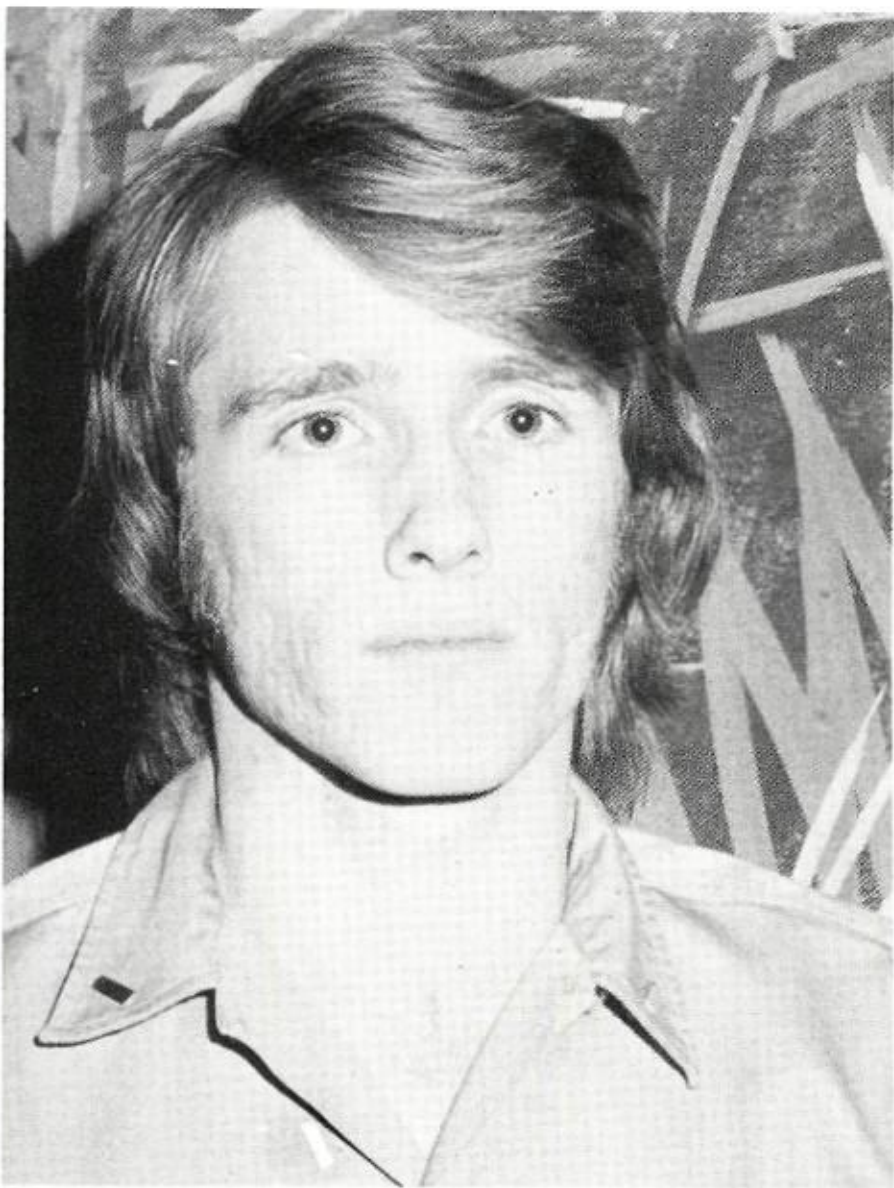

The Woodrow Wilson Concert Choir displayed their superb singing talent when they presented the musical South Pacific to the school May 2 and 3. Mr. Jerry McKinney, the choir director, had good reason to be proud of the choir members. Cast members Karla Cox (Nellie Forbush), Carl Cain (Emile de Becque), and Beverly Brin (Bloody Mary) drew special congratulations for their leading roles in the play.

R.O.T.C. Enrollment Hits Six-Year High

The 1973-74 Woodrow Wilson R.O.T.C. began the school year as an honor unit and with a new six-year-high enrollment of 152 cadets. The honor unit was designated from the performance of the last year's cadets during the annual formal inspection. Of these 152 cadets, 110 are boys and 42 girls. The Drillteam had their competition in November and finished third overall. The Rifle team competed in the North zone competition and finished third overall, and in the annual city matches it finished fourth. It was announced in December that the annual federal inspection was moved forward from April to February. The Corps underwent an intense training program. The R.O.T.C. cadets were chosen to be the first Dallas unit to be inspected on the sixth of February with a tentative rating of excellent.

Other teachers doubtless envy the concentration a band director gets from instrumentalist while playing. Here saxophonist Evelyn Hernandez, Lydia Melendez and Jan Johnson and flutist Sharon Adams furnish excellent examples of this close attention.

Speaking of concentration, the maestro himself, Mr. Randy Garmon, has to be ahead of his pupils.

New Band Director Brings New Ideas

The Wildcat Band started off its '73-74 season with their new band director, Randy Garmon. With fresh ideas and new concepts, the band swung into action starting two weeks before school opened.

After highly-acclaimed performances during football half-times, the band presented its own assembly program in the spring.

Discipline, Work Pay Off for Sweethearts

Drill Team practice never ceases, or so it seems to the members, to director Gay Addington, and to other teachers and sponsors who would like to have the Sweethearts first or seventh periods. And all this work for a few moments of glory on the gridiron between halves!

However, the girls all say that the glory, the friendships formed, the memories of the good times are well worth the time spent. Some of the hard work involved included strenuous exercises, getting up every morning at dawn, giving up a few extra days of summer vacation and keeping the Wildcat Spirit up. Some of the memories were; meeting new people, having parties, and the satisfaction of praise after a great performance.

Set Creation Is Stagecrafters' Duty

Anyone passing through the auditorium hearing sounds of hammering, sawing, and the like, could infer that the stagecraft crew was hard at work. Constructing and painting all the scenery for the school plays and musicals were jobs for this crew, whose members were enrolled in a class taught by Mr. Jerry McKinney. They also were expert on stage lighting and sound.

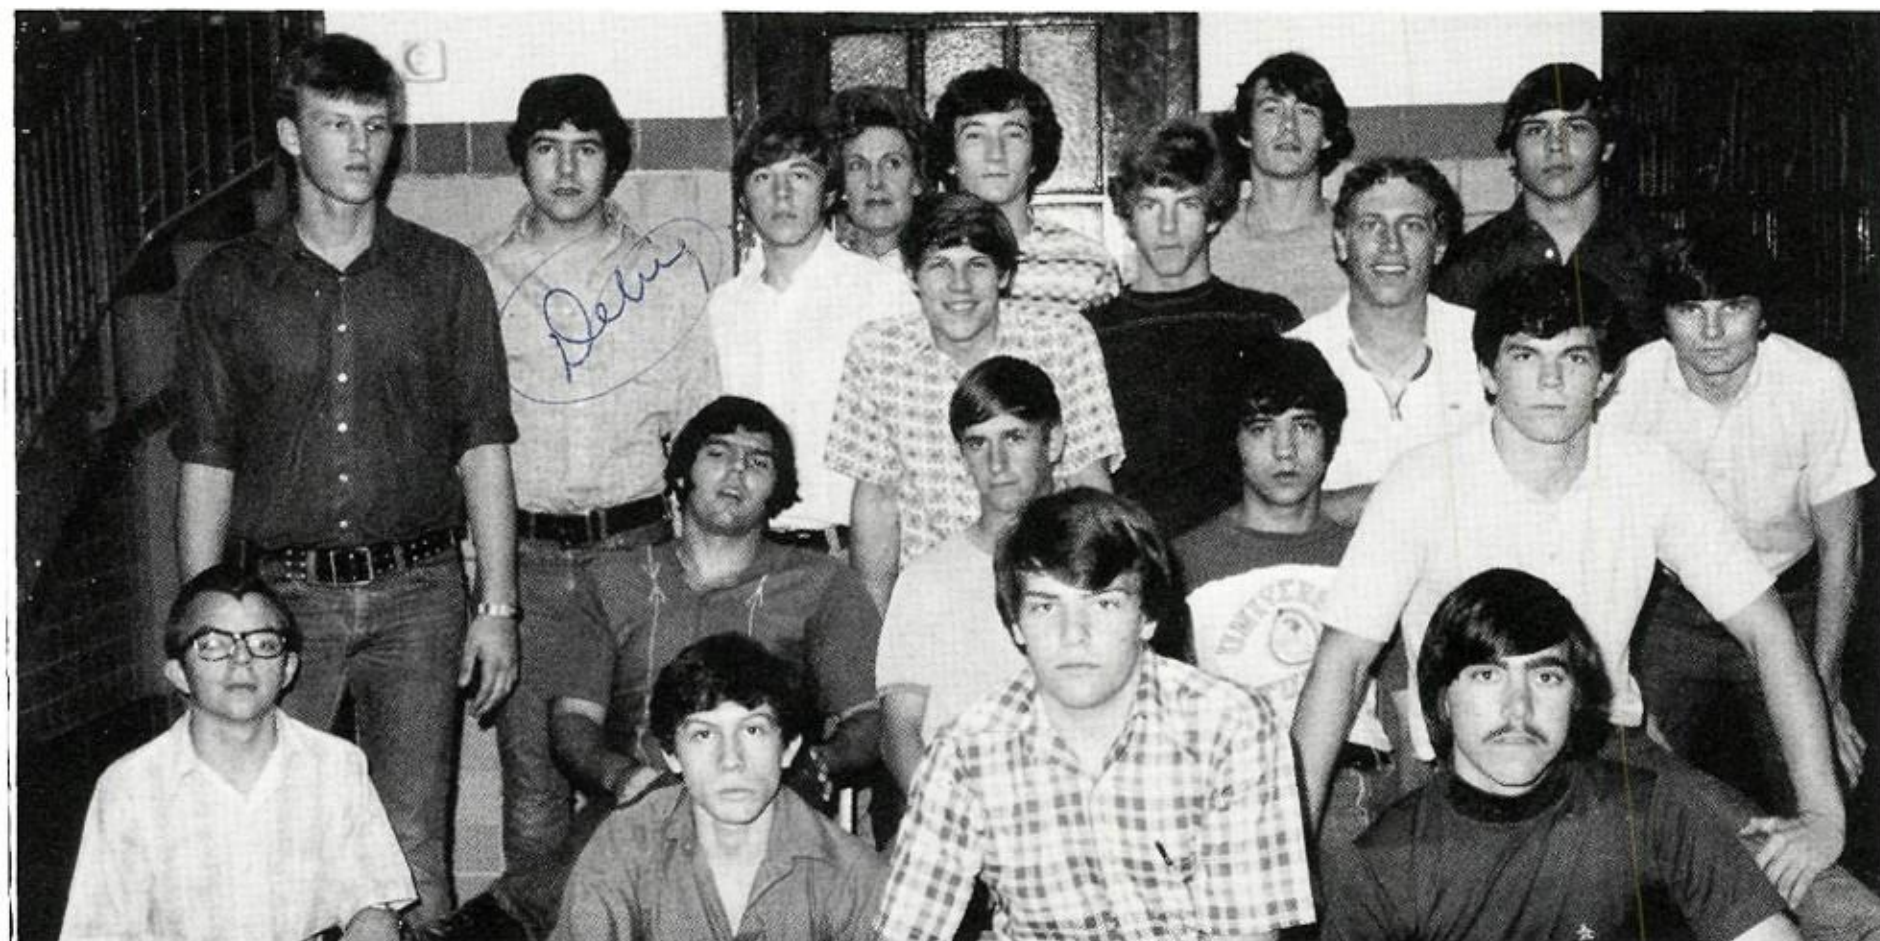

They often worked long hours after school and at night. Their main project was the construction of the set for the musical South Pacific, but their behind-the-scene efforts on the choir Christmas program drew high acclaim from students and faculty alike.

Pete Spiros watches apprehensively while Lee Ann Grumbine hands Carolyn Crawford a hammer, wondering whether she will use it on him instead of one of the sets in stagecraft.

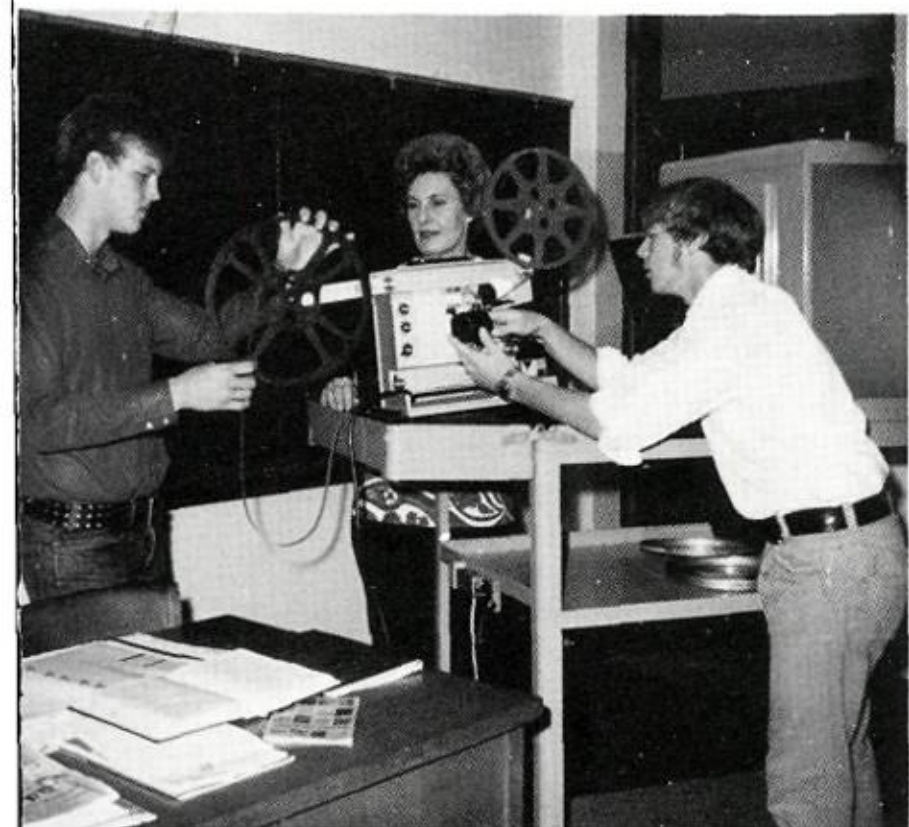

Mr. McKinney and Bob Nance diligently plan one of the sets for the musical during stagecraft class.

Projectionist Good With Shows, Repairs

The Projectionists Staff, headed by Mrs. Edith Rogers this year, was a very busy group. Their jobs consisted of delivering films and projection machines to the right rooms at the right time, oiling the machines, splicing films, and performing other main tenance. Mrs. Rogers assumed the direction of these workers in November, relieving coach Gary Collett of the duty.

"Be sure to leave enough slack," says Mrs. Rogers to Jim Nicholson and Ellery Lovelady as they thread a Pixmobile projector.

I.C.E. Committee Starts Mini-Courses

This year, for the first time, Woodrow has solved the problem of students sitting in study halls with nothing to do. Seventeen "mini-courses" have been set up by the Improving a Climate for Excellence (ICE) Committee, to provide students with an opportunity to learn things that are not offered in regular classes. The ICE is a combination of the principal, assistant principal, teachers, counselors, students, parents, and other community members, who are called a management team. They work to provide Woodrow's community with opportunities for improvement.

The mini-courses were taught by students, teachers, patrons, and anyone who wanted to teach one. They were held only during study hall periods and seventh period release, because the course teachers devoted their own free time to do them. The courses ranged from electronics, (Sgt. Bacon), to Sign Language, (Karen Carlton), and included such things as Powder Puff Mechanics, Fishing, and Sex Education.

In Mr. Crenshaw's mini-course, Hossein Ghaffari, Paul Marshall, Mitchell Ashburn, and Jon Frost play chess as Denise Austin holds a trophy won at Lake Highlands competition.

An old "press" camera is a good model for Mr. Dale Smith to use in teaching camera basics to Phil Bobeck in the photography mini-course.

Future Homemakers' Parties Honor Others

The Future Homemakers of America's activities this year included a spaghetti dinner for the Woodrow students, selling candles as a money-making project, a Christmas party for the children of the Fowler Home, and a Christmas party for the faculty of Woodrow. Also the members prepared lunch for Superintendent Nolan Estes and some of his administrative staff on December 13.

The officers of the club are, Richard Torrez, president; Kellye Sancedio, vice-president; Joyce Derrick, secretary; and Ann Roy, treasurer.

Cheerleaders Welcome New Sponsor, Mascot

New pep and enthusiasm came to Woodrow's cheerleaders this year. Also new were Miss Gay Addington, sponsor, and Ramona Crain, the Wildcat mascot, who helped cheer on the Wildcat team.

The cheerleaders spent an exciting week at SMU Cheerleading School, learning new yells and perfecting their skills. A few weeks before school began, and every morning during the year, were spent practicing. During the seventh period the cheerleaders would paint banners and decorate the auditorium for the pep assemblies.

WHO'S WHO

Special recognition is given each year in the CRUSADER to outstanding students who have received certain honors or awards outside the school. The faculty submitted nominees who were honored by an organization not officially connected with the Dallas Independent School District. The final choice was made on the basis of actual known achievements. The CRUSADER staff sends congratulations to these outstanding high school students.

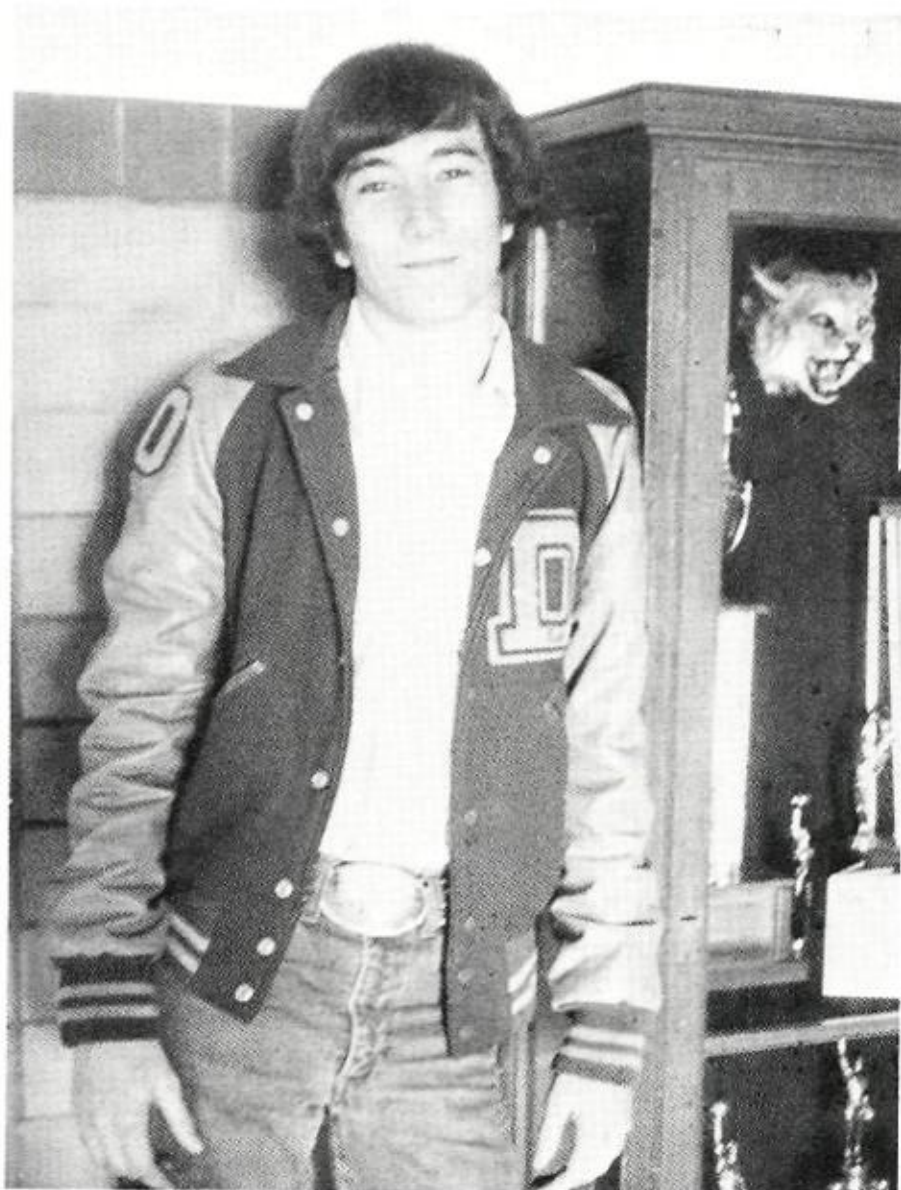

Camille Manning

was chosen by school authorities to represent Woodrow Wilson at the American Youth Citizenship Seminar last summer at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Allan Cook and Albert Haertlein spent the first semester of their senior year taking part in the High School Executive Assistant Program, where they acted as assistants and observers in law firms in Dallas.

Senior Spirit Carries Over to Outside

Randy Cooley and his partner, Bill Shearin try their skill at the futsal tournament.

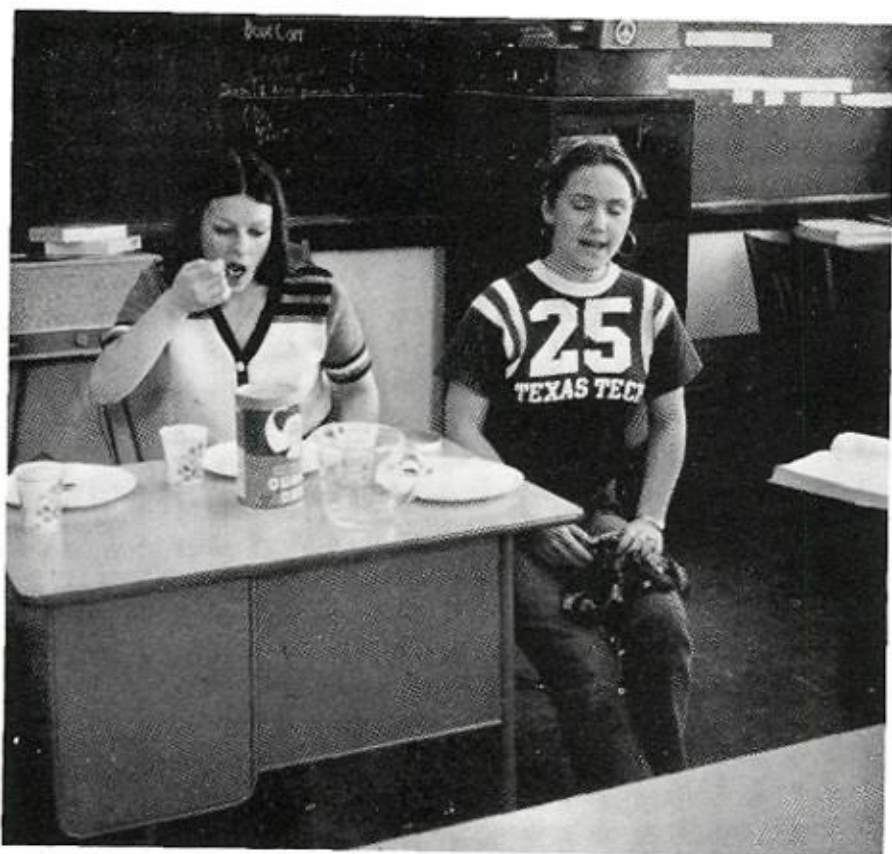

Maria Hronas shows her true feelings towards football — or perhaps it is the CRUSADER photographer.

Carolyn Powell believes that the right mouth expression is necessary to lace up her skates before joining the Ice Skating Club on the ice.

Seniors Make Their Classes Amusing

Sally Goodson eats her "petit déjeuner" as she and Patti Thurmond participate in a skit in Mr. Allen's French class.

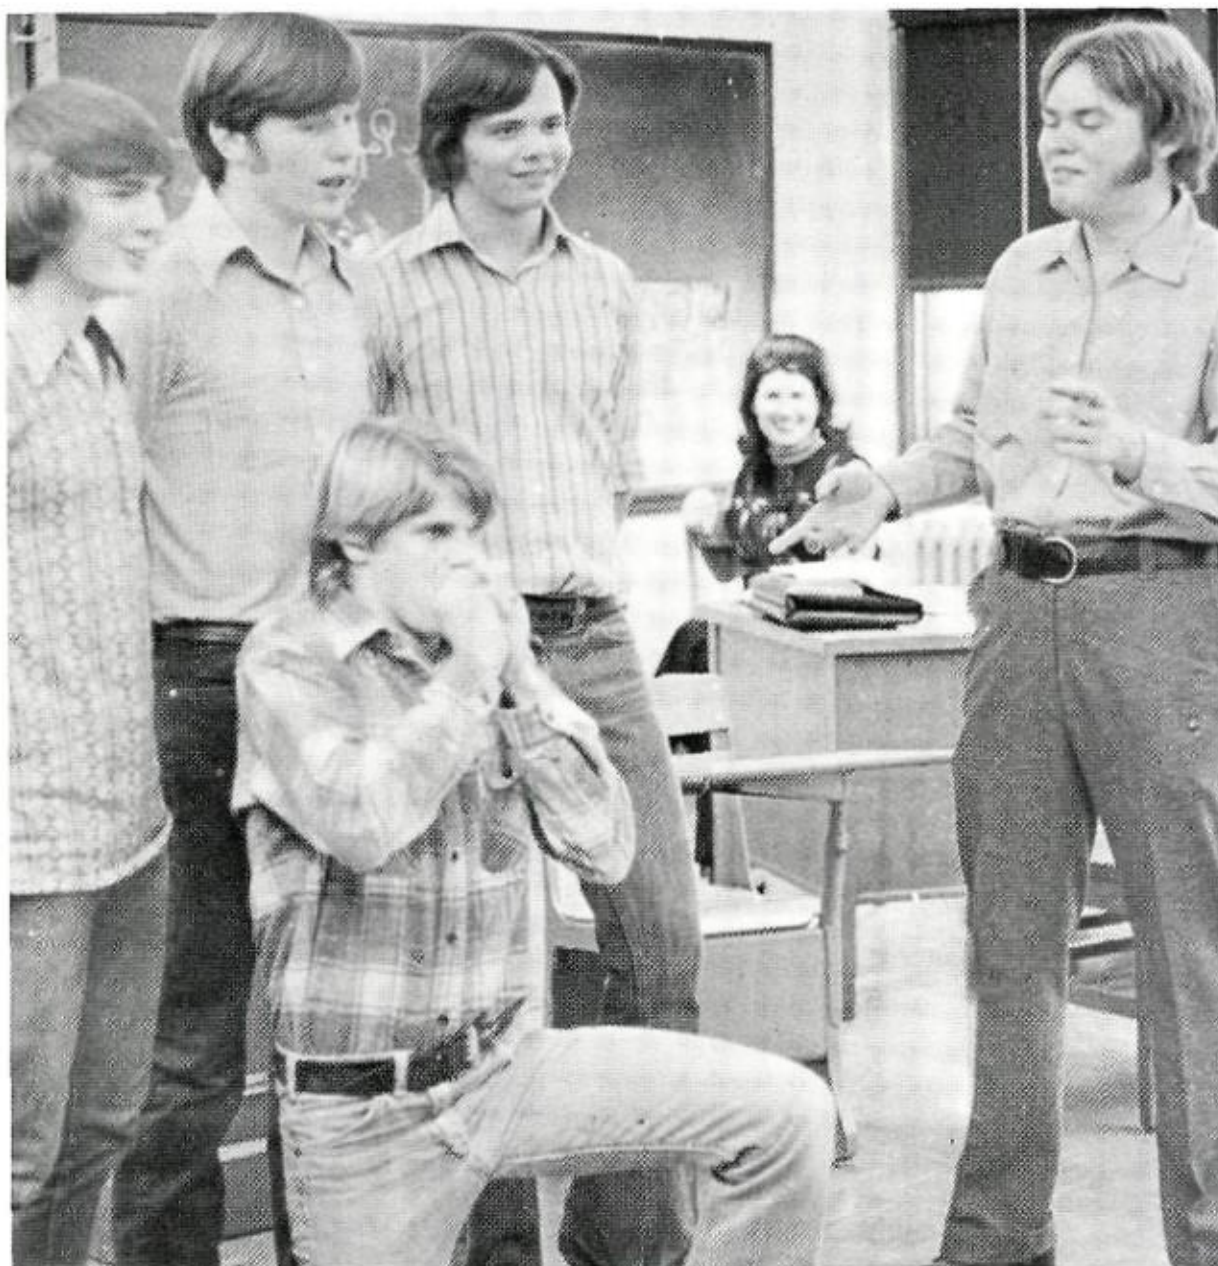

Seniors John Bradley and Mary Ann Stevenson play on the stairs with their slinky toys. Really, they are doing a physics experiment on "waves".

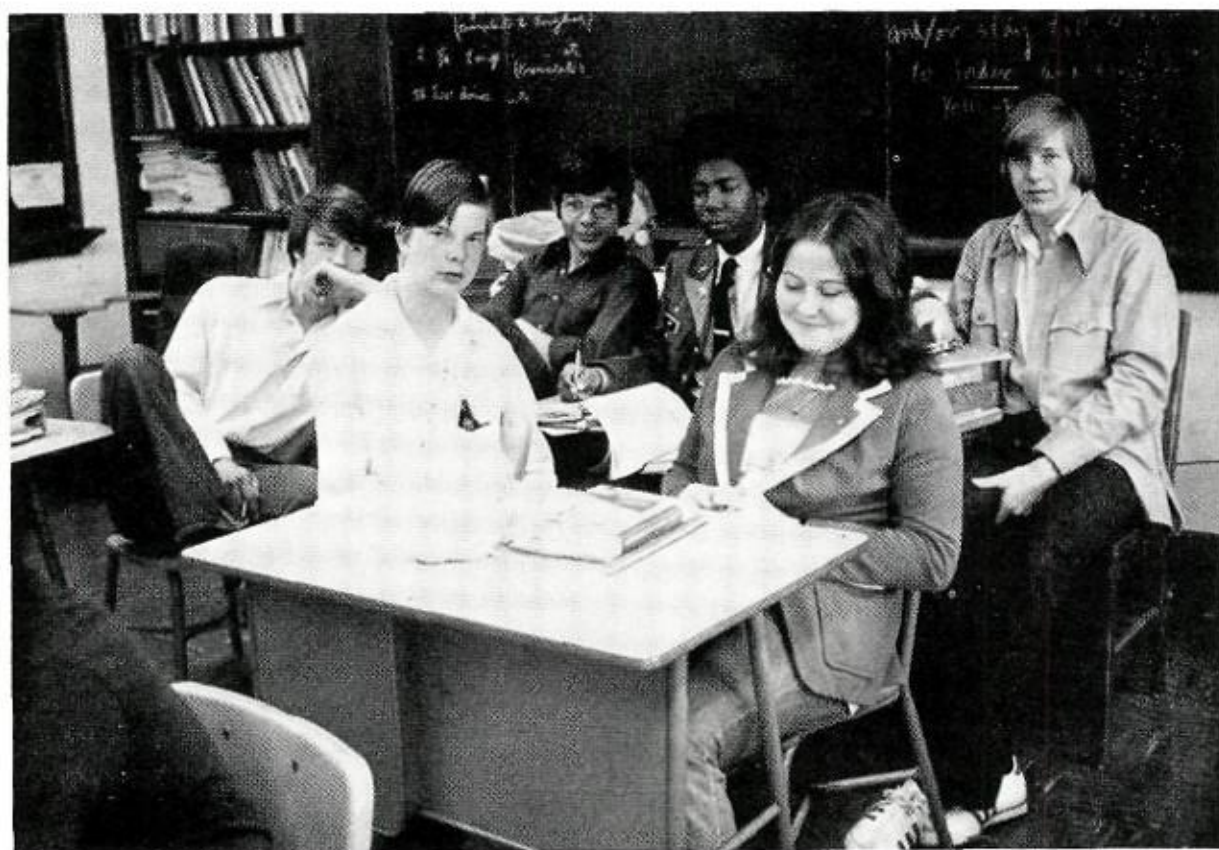

Nancy Lewis and Cathy Hough are ostensibly solving a civics problem; actually, they are discussing their latest romances.

Seniors Entertain Others

Bob Nance directs the live musical instruments of The Humming Homemakers: Mike Ballard, Ralph Jones, and Jimmy Jones, as Bill Mason solos. They performed for the students at Christmas time.

Vickie Dorazio enjoys being the only senior in her Spanish class.

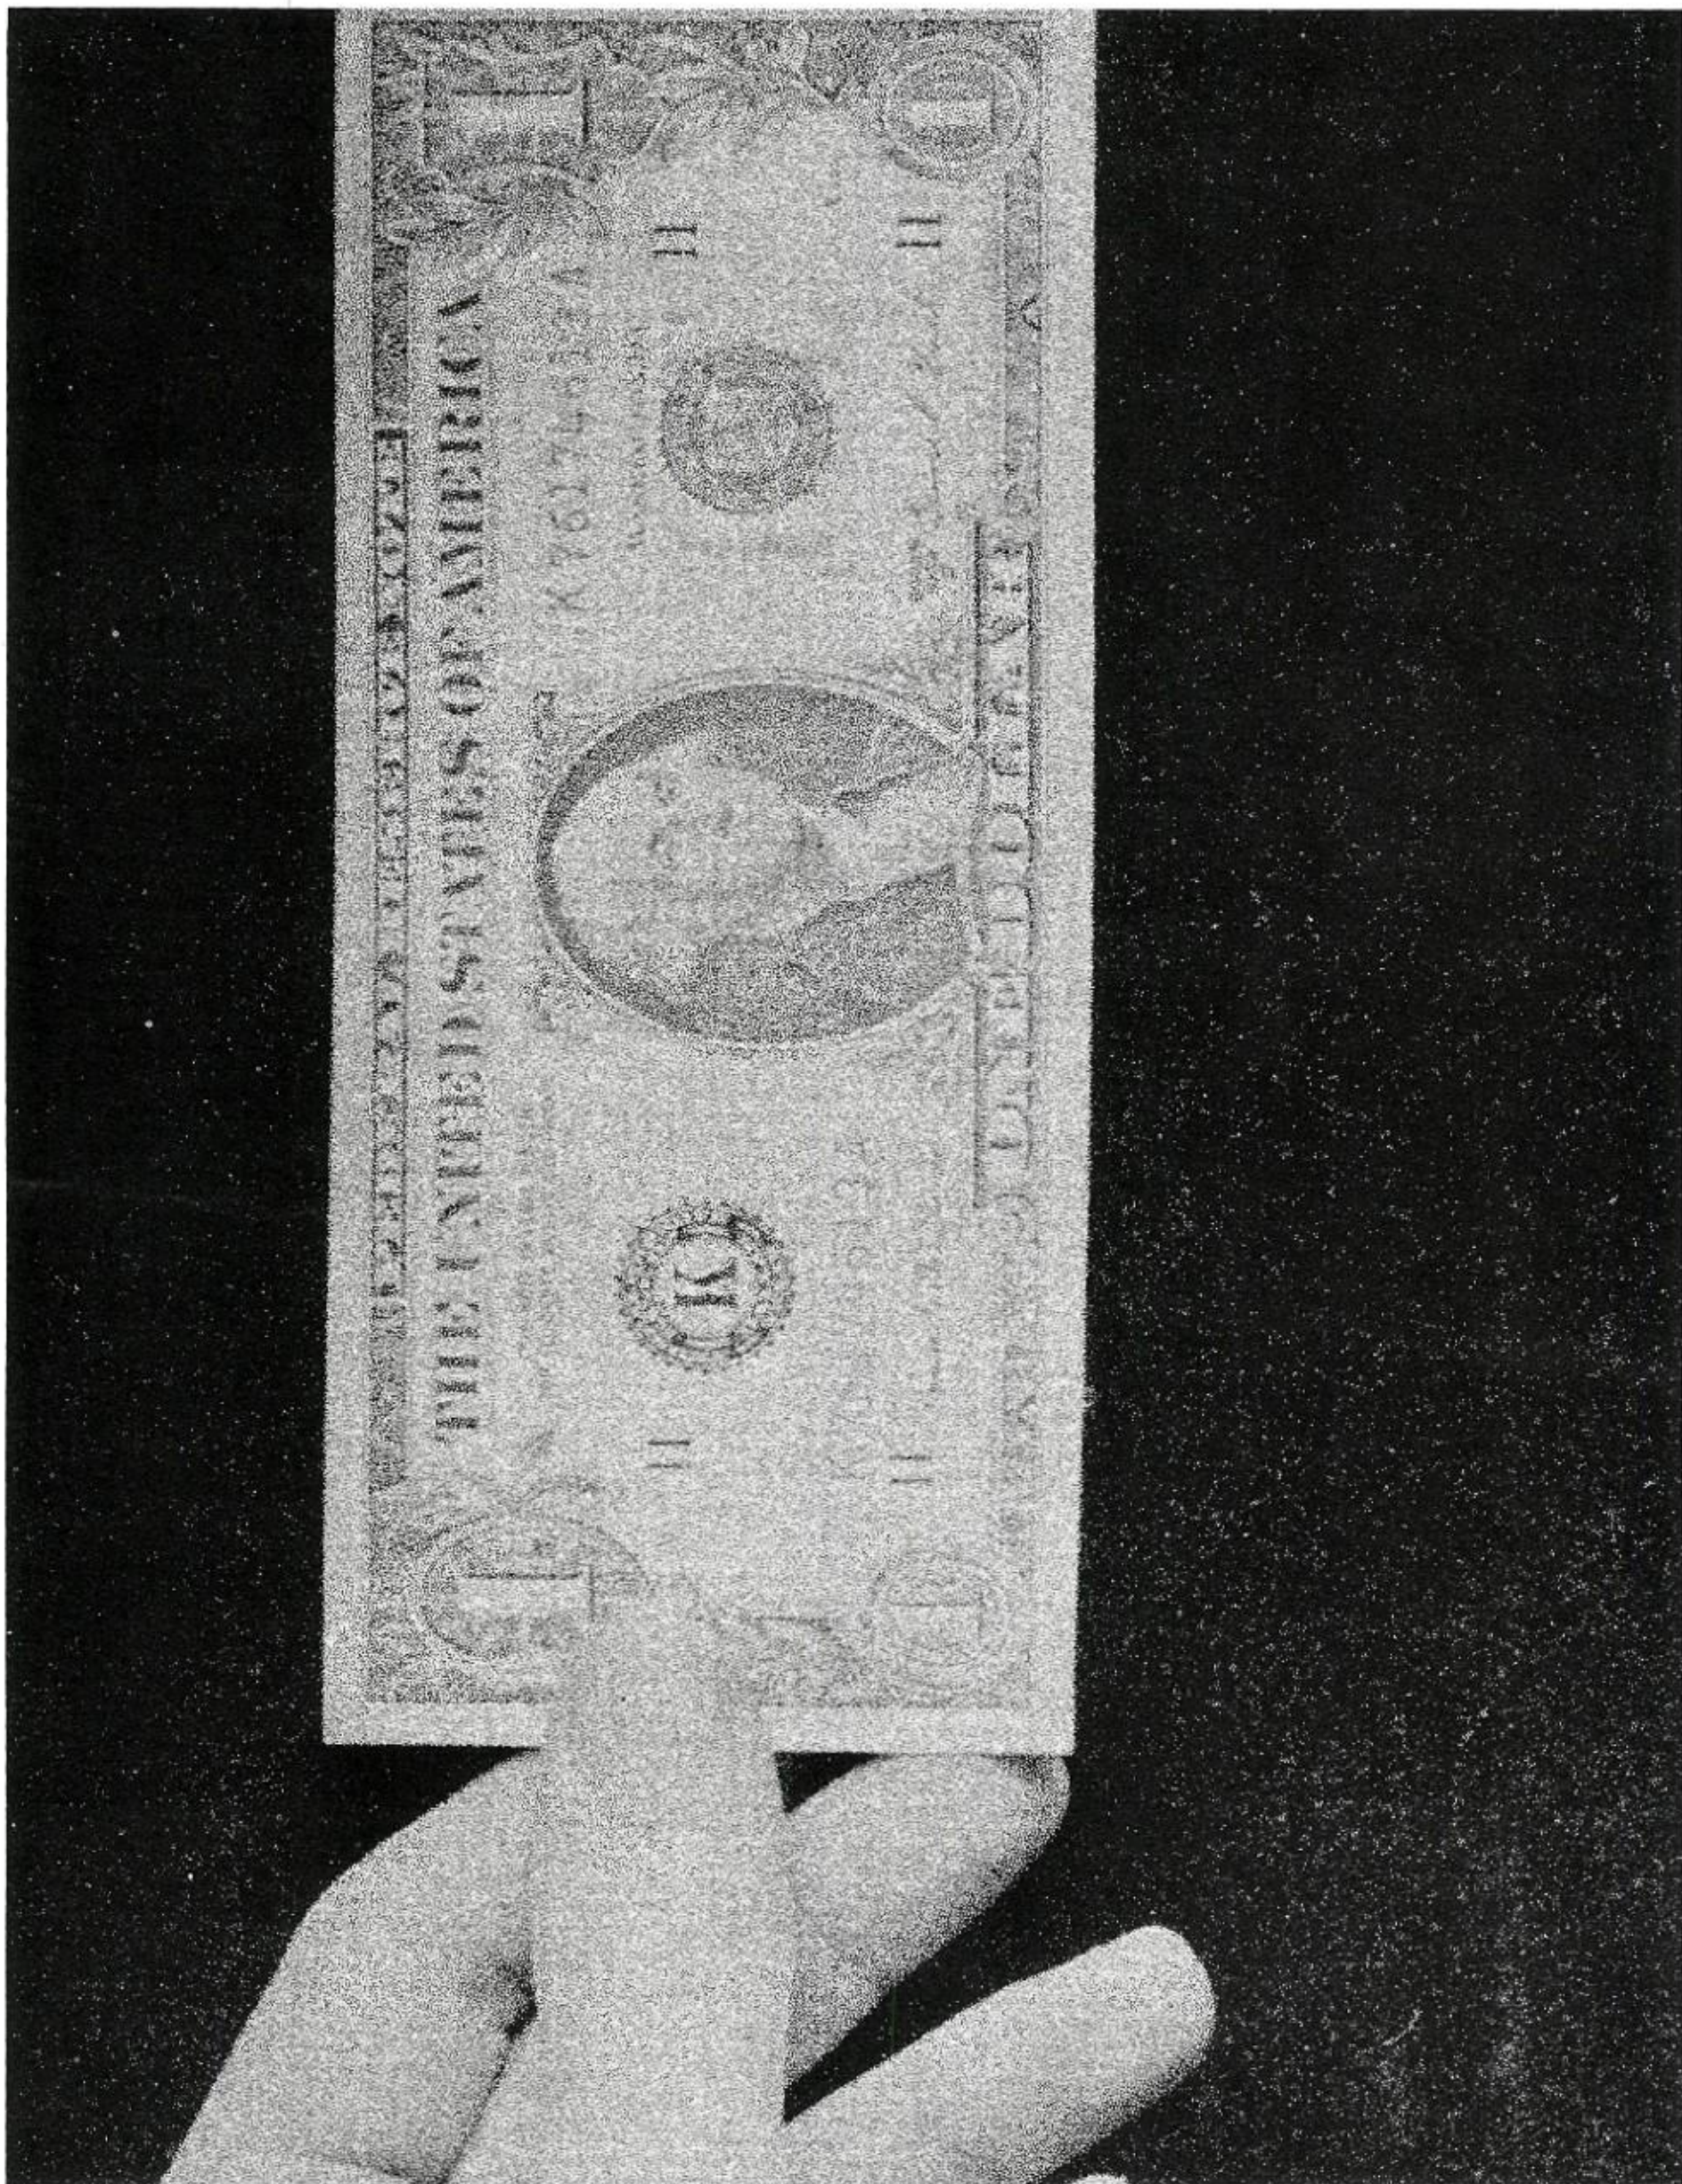

Eleanor Luecke warns the photographer not to take her picture as she waits outside the choir portable for class to start.

Preserve Your Memories

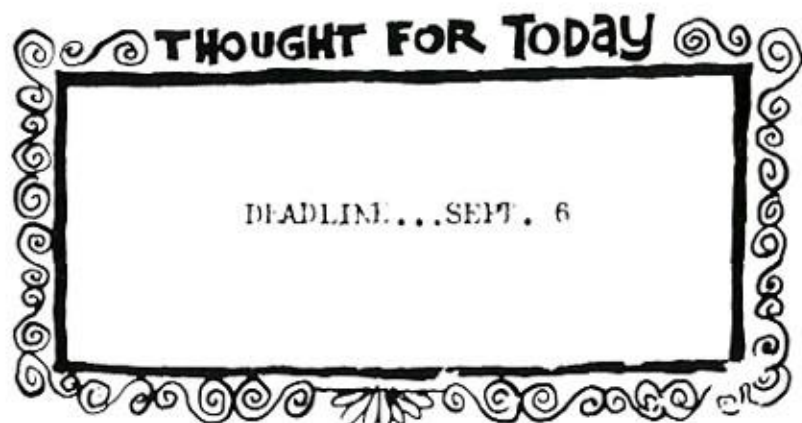

Dana Fullbright

Born September 5, 1950

Died January 4, 1974

Editor of Crusader, 1968

We publish the final "instructions" to the staff left by Dana as she left school in May, 1968.

It's so hard for me to finally leave this room. Behind I leave a lot of very happy memories. It was a hard year and there were times that I felt we'd never get through with all the work.... and yet, now as I look back on it all I'd give anything to be able to start all over again. You have no idea what it is to be able to make something that every person who leaves Woodrow will be able to take with them and treasure always. Your work will be in thousands of homes for years and years to come, so do it well. Turn out an annual that you'll love as much as I do mine.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I WOULD LIKE TO GIVE MY SINCERE THANKS TO THE 1973-74 ANNUAL STAFF FOR ALL THE TIME AND EFFORT THEY PUT INTO THIS EDITION OF THE CRUSADER. I GIVE A SPECIAL THANKS TO MY ASSISTANT EDITOR, NINA COOK, WHO WAS NOT ONLY A HELP TO ME PERSONALLY, BUT WAS IN CHARGE OF THE ADVERTISEMENT SECTION AND THE INDEXING. TO MR. PAUL ALLEN, WHOSE HELP AND KNOWLEDGE WERE INVALUABLE, I ALSO GIVE MY THANKS.

Chuck,

time for our first year to be over! I will probably have you in classes next year, so live up this summer while you have the chance.

Chuck

It's really been a fast-moving year - except for French!! I hope next year is as fun as this one has been! Good Luck with football

Love,
Fith Ann

Thank
Three years from now
it'll be our year!

Chuck
It's been nice year but next year will be better.
If I were you I wouldn't take French II (from experience), but you might make it.
I hope that by next year we will be better friends. I Good Luck.

Chuck,
you have caused a hell
ab alot ab trouble for me but it was a hell ab alot ab fun getting into it. You had better forget ~~it~~ ^{it} else I could on the next page or ~~the~~ ^{the} summer and say good luck over the summer and all that B.S. but since I'll be seeing you
I won't. Remember not to drink anything
I wouldn't and for Gods sake, ~~the~~ take the speakers out of the car before driving abt.

P.S Thanks alot
for your advise you kept me from getting into alot ab
trouble.

Good luck from you - know - who.

Chuck,

I really don't know what to say or where to begin! But I'll start off by saying I'm sorry - for judging you so harshly. You are a very nice guy and you know how I feel about blonde hair!!! You're a real nice looking guy and in about 2 years you will probably have to put locks on all the windows to keep all the girls out. By then, your "list" will probably be as long as a telephone directory! HA - HA

You seem very understanding, sympathetic and sincere. Whenever I have a real problem or have my "baby girl" tendencies to cry - I always feel like you are that strong - like - ^{hard} ~~rock~~ that can handle my weaknesses, and help me climb to the top again.

Be good and please try to stay out of trouble. You are too smart for all of that. And one favor; be Mike's "guardian angel" for whenever he acts like a little devil!

Well, I could go on and on but I'll stop here, leaving you luck, horse, best wishes & love....

Chuck,
I really don't know what to say. This has been a great year for me & you've helped to make it that way. But, next year is going to be even better. Chuck, you are really a "sweet". Stay the way you are & being around. Stay the way you are & Please don't ever change! Well have to get together sometime. Have a good summer.
Love ya,
Archie.

BE CAREFUL &
